PLENARY INDULGENCES

GRANTED TO THE FAITHFUL IN THE FOUR DISTRICTS OF ENGLAND.

I. Christmas-day, and the twelve days following, to the day of the Epiphany, inclusively.

II. The first Week of Lent, beginning with the first Sunday, and ending with the second Sunday, inclusively.

III. Easter ; that is, from Palm-Sunday, inclusively, to Low Sunday, inclusively.

IV. From Whit-Sunday, inclusively, to the end of the Octave of Corpus Christi.

V. The Feast of SS. Peter and Paul, and during the Octave.

VI. From the Sunday, inclusively, preceding the Festival of the Assumption of the B. V. Mary, to the 22nd day of August, inclusively. But, if the Festival of the Assumption fall on a Sunday, the Indulgence begins on that day.

VII. From the Sunday, inclusively, preceding the Festival of S. Michael, to the Sunday following, inclusively. But, if the Festival of S. Michael fall on a Sunday, the Indulgence begins on that day.

VIII. From the Sunday, inclusively, preceding the Festival of All-Saints, to the 8th day of November, inclusively. But, if the Feast of All-Saints fall on a Sunday, the Indulgence begins on that day.

The Conditions of II. IV. and VIII. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a Priest approved by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That if their state and condition allow it, they give some alms to the poor, either on the eve or on the day of their communion. 4. That on the day of their communion, they offer up some prayers to God, for the whole state of the Catholic Church throughout the world ; for bringing back all straying souls to the fold of Christ ; for the general peace of Christendom, and for the blessing of God upon this nation.

PLENARY INDULGENCES.

The Conditions of I. III. VI. and VII. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a Priest approved by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That they visit some Chapel or Oratory, where Mass is celebrated, and pray to God for the peace of his Church. 4. That they be in a readiness of mind to assist the poor with alms in proportion to their abilities ; or to frequent catechism and sermons as often as they can do it without great inconvenience ; or to afford their assistance to the sick, or to such as are near their end, out of the motive of Christian charity.

Note. It is not required, for gaining these four Indulgencies granted by Pope Benedict XIV. that these works of mercy, corporal or spiritual, or the assisting at catechism or sermons, be done on the same day with the communion ; but only that persons be then in a disposition or readiness of mind to do these things, or some of them at least, when they may have an opportunity.

The Conditions of V. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a Priest approved by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That, for some space of time, they pray to God, with a sincere heart, for the conversion of infidels and heretics, and for the free propagation of the Holy Faith.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

OF THE LATE

CARDINAL WELD.

This distinguished personage, who was born on the 22nd January, 1773, was the eldest son of Thomas Weld and Mary Stanley, a member of the Catholic and elder branch of the noble family of that name. "His family" to use the words of Dr. Wiseman, "required no title of dignity for establishing a claim to all the honours of true nobility. It is, in fact, only amongst us, that a name registered among the commonalty, may rival in length of attested descent, and in splendour of alliance, and in public celebrity, others which for generations have received the distinction of a higher title. To such a family the Cardinal belonged; as the possessors of Lulworth can trace their pedigree to the remotest period of our history.

"His education was entirely domestic, under the superintendence of the Rev. Charles Plowden, a man zealous and fearless in the defence of religion, and well known for his many learned works. Long before he could be called master of his own fortunes, he gave a magnificent proof of his generosity and disinterested zeal, by concurring with his father in bestowing upon the banished members of the suppressed Society of Jesus, the splendid mansion of Stonyhurst; allowing them to purchase as much land as they desired, on the most advantageous terms. This first act of liberality may be considered as the decisive step, which determined his character through the remainder of his life. I believe we may safely say, that in every career the first successful action has the strongest influence in our after course; the character and principles of the general receive a decisive impression from a brilliant result in his first command; the genius of the artist, or the man of letters, may be traced by a skilful eye, to the satisfaction which success in early efforts had produced. In like manner, the first great act of public virtue which a Christian exercises, and the peculiar consolation, which it must bestow, will often determine him towards that course of excellence, wherein he shall afterwards become remarkable. In fact, from that moment, the charity of the late Cardinal seems to have exerted itself with peculiar solicitude, in providing for the necessities of those religious communities, which the fury of the French Revolution drove into England.

“There are seasons when Providence seems especially to summon us to the practice of benevolence and charity, by throwing in our way, more than at other times, objects for their exercise. The close of the last century was one of these, and our country did its duty nobly towards the proscribed of a hostile and rival state. No branch of Christian charity, seems more commended in Scripture than this religious hospitality to the faithful cast upon a foreign land. ‘I give thanks to my God,’ says St. Paul, writing to Philemon, ‘always making a remembrance of thee in my prayers, hearing of thy charity, and faith which thou hast in the Lord Jesus, and towards all the saints. For I have had great joy and consolation in thy charity, because the bowels of the saints have been refreshed by thee, brother,’ (Philem. 4. 5. 6.) ‘Dearly beloved,’ says St. John to Gaius, ‘thou dost faithfully whatever thou dost for the brethren, and that for strangers, who have given testimony of thy charity in the sight of the Church, whom thou shalt do well to bring forward on their way in a manner worthy of God : Because for his name’s sake, they went forth taking nothing of the Gentiles. We, therefore, ought to receive such, that we may be fellow helpers of truth.’ (3. John 5. 8.)

“It is in perfect accordance with this recommendation, that the late Cardinal chose the objects of his early charity : it was to the brethren that were strangers, who had come forth for the truth’s sake from an unbelieving land, taking nothing therefrom, that he held out the hand of fellowship, over whom he stretched out the arm of protection. Not to one or two only who had fled before the storm did he afford shelter ; he cherished and supported entire communities, driven from their peaceful retreats.

“The Trappists may well consider him and his family as the saviour of their order. They found an asylum under the Cardinal’s father on the demesne of Lulworth ; and when their first protector died, continued to receive from the son countenance, assistance, and support. So complete and unreserved was his charitable conduct towards them, that on their return to France, he re-purchased from them all the buildings which they had erected entirely for their own convenience, although to him their value could not be equal to one-tenth of the large sum he paid.

“The community of Poor Clares, established at Gravelines, in the Low Countries, sought refuge from the same calamity, in the neighbourhood of Plymouth, and was another special object of his bounty and kindness. The same may be said of the order of the Visitation, at Shepton Mallet. Indeed, I believe I may safely say, that scarcely a religious establishment exists in the west of England, which has not some debt of gratitude recorded in his favour.

"It must not be supposed that this selection of a particular class of objects for the exercise of his charity, cramped and narrowed its benevolence, or cooled him towards the daily claimants upon Christian bounty. Never was he found backward in relieving distress under any form ; his name was upon every subscription-list for the alleviation of suffering ; nor was complaint ever made, that these extraordinary acts of splendid liberality made him fall below the measure of others' charity, in its more usual exercises. In the meantime, he had entered into the holy state of matrimony at the age of twenty-three, and both before and after his father's death, discharged with fidelity, and with universal esteem, all the duties which his station, connexions, and property imposed upon him. Ever devoted to the service of religion, he knew well how to observe its sacred laws, without trenching on domestic and social obligations.

It pleased God to deprive him of his excellent consort in the year 1815 ; a lady of the noble house of Clifford, whose distinguished virtues rendered her well worthy of his sincere and affectionate regrets. Their union had been blessed with an only daughter ; and by her marriage in 1818 with Lord Clifford, the Cardinal found himself released from all the ties of domestic duties, and at liberty to follow the impulse of his charitable zeal, in favour of religion and the poor. During the former period of his life, he had devoted the means which a bountiful Providence had placed at his disposal, to the cause of both ; it was now in his power to dedicate his person to their service, and he did not hesitate to make the sacrifices necessary for that purpose. He retired to Paris, and with exemplary docility submitted to the course of study and discipline which the Church imposes on all that aspire to the functions of her ministry. In this important work of preparation, he placed himself under the entire direction of the Abbe Carron, a man who had repaid the hospitality of our country by monuments of public charity which must perpetuate blessings on his memory. Under the direction of so able a guide, and so congenial a spirit, a long preparation was not necessary ; and hence, on the 3d of April, 1821, Mr. Weld received the order of priesthood from the Archbishop of Paris.

"Who will not acknowledge, that, on taking this step, a severe sacrifice of comfort and earthly happiness was made? Had his intention been merely to satisfy his devotion, by the more sanctifying, but less laborious duties of his new state, he might have lived as before, in the enjoyment of every advantage which his social position afforded. For, there had been nothing in his former life which the decorum of the ecclesiastical state would compel him to alter; there was no habit or principle in his secular conduct, which would not have become the clergyman. For this end, he resigned the bulk of his property to his second brother, reserving merely an annuity sufficient to enable him, after providing for his few personal wants, to indulge in his own luxury—that of relieving the distressed. Having thus divested himself of the greatest impediment to the unreserved and undisturbed discharge of spiritual duties, he entered upon the labours of his new life, at the chapel of Chelsea, in the company, and under the direction of Abbe Voyaux. Most of you are probably acquainted with the laborious occupations of the Catholic priest, in a populous district of England. He must really be the servant of all, ever to be found watching, whether called in the second or the third watch of the night, to minister to the spiritual wants of the meanest of Christ's brethren. He may not shrink from loathsome disease or foul contagion: he must not recoil from the death-bed of the most abandoned and unpenitent; he must put aside ease and repose, and even necessary nourishment to answer the summons of the most wretched outcasts from human sympathy. In such a place, these are not claims upon charity and zeal of rare occurrence! they are the daily duties of the state; and the only relief from them is to catechise the children, to prepare for the pulpit, to confer with those that seek instruction and information, and to pass hours in the confessional, listening to the recital of human frailty, and striving to reclaim the sinner, and to console the afflicted just. Add to these the large portion of the day required for the public worship, for the private devotions imposed upon the clergy, and for the administration of the other sacraments, and you have but an imperfect outline of the Catholic clergyman's life in England. All those various occupations which in other countries are divided between several ecclesiastics, he must there discharge alone. To those who have borne the yoke from their youth, it is heavy and often proves fatal; what must it have been to one whose previous habits and feelings till the age of forty-eight had been little calculated to inure him to such irksome fatigue? Yet cheerfully and diligently did he undertake it: nor did he ever refuse to perform any of these complicated offices. Rather, in fact, he went much beyond them; for, in addition to his own parochial duties, his charity brought him occupation from the more distant parts of the metropolis. Whoever was in want, sought relief from his bounty, and rarely did a brother clergyman meet him in the streets, without having to answer his prudent inquires respecting cases of distress noted in his memorandum book, which he was desirous to verify before assisting.

“Amidst these various and distracting cares, he did not forget his former practice, of more systematically supporting establishments devoted to religion and charity. The orphan house at Somerstown, established by his excellent and holy preceptor, Carron, was naturally an object of his special benevolence. The society for the relief of the aged poor, one most interesting and benevolent among our Catholic charities, has ever considered him among its most strenuous and liberal supporters. For about five years, he continued in this humble unpretending course: nor, after that period, did he change it for one more brilliant or less laborious. The Bishop, Vicar Apostolic of Upper Canada, solicited and procured his nomination as his coadjutor, and he consequently received the episcopal consecration on the sixth of August, 1826,

“In accepting this office, there could be certainly no room for ambition. It would lead him into a far country, where, for the rest of his days, an ocean would roll between him and all that was dear to him on earth. The field of his exertions would have been, in great measure, a district but lately colonized—very unsettled, and unprovided with many of those resources which long custom had rendered almost indispensable for his happiness. In fact, it was at the risk of life that he consented to accept his nomination: for already was his constitution enfeebled, and unequal to the unhealthy climate of so cold a latitude. The remonstrances of his domestic and medical advisers, and the business of his new district to be transacted in London, joined to other causes, detained him three years in England; but, though he delayed his departure from time to time, he never abandoned the intention of proceeding to America. In the mean time, he was not unemployed. He could no longer discharge the public duties of the ecclesiastical state; but he found means of compensation, by assuming a charge which enabled another to fill his place. He retired into the convent of Hammersmith, and devoted himself to the spiritual direction of edifying the community. But Providence now destined him for a higher dignity, and a more extensive circle of usefulness. The health of his beloved daughter required the experiment of a milder climate; and he took the opportunity of accompanying her, to visit, before leaving Europe, the tomb of the Apostles. He had not been long in Rome before he was invested by Pope

8 BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF CARDINAL WELD.

Pius VIII, with the dignity of Cardinal. His nomination took place on the fifteenth of March, 1830.

“When St. Ambrose, while governor of Milan, was unexpectedly chosen its archbishop, the Emperor Valentinian, being asked to approve of the election, replied, that it was a pleasure to find that those whom he had selected as civil magistrates, were thought by the church fit to be its pastors. In a similar manner, we may say that it was flattering and consoling to the Catholic gentry of England, to see how easily one of their number, who had but a few years before lived and felt with them, could take his place among the princes of the church, as though he had been from infancy trained to the preparation for so exalted a station.

“This important event in the Cardinal’s history may be considered in a two fold point of view, as a personal reward for the virtues of his own life, and as a public honour to his brethren in the faith. That the noble example which he had given of a generous devotion to the cause of religion, both in his secular and in his ecclesiastical state, deserved the highest rewards which the church could bestow, will easily be admitted. First his wealth, and then his person had been dedicated to the same cause; he had opened his arms to receive the faithful, banished for their religion; he had of his abundance given abundantly to the destitute at home; he had zealously discharged the duties of an humble clergyman in his own country, and had extended his charitable self-devotion to lands beyond the Atlantic.

“Thus he had proved the true Catholic form, the universality of his charity and zeal, and shown himself worthy to be placed in that centre, whence these virtues should ever radiate to the uttermost bounds of the earth. And let me ask you that knew him, whether he proved unworthy of this reward? Did not the qualities of his former life, his benevolence, his charity, his zeal, shine the brighter for being placed on a higher elevation? First, in the circle which more immediately surrounded him, he displayed more sensibly that kindness of disposition which formed the ground of his other virtues. Who of all his numerous establishment can remember a reproof made in anger, or a peevish command, or a bitter word in scorn? Who, of the friends that sought his opinion or counsel, found him morose or impatient? Who that conferred with him on business, public or private, was ever refused an attentive and a cheerful hearing? The stranger who was recommended to his kindness, or even sought his acquaintance, ever met with a warmth of reception, and a flattering assiduity of attention, which made him seem to himself peculiarly favoured. The associate of former days found no diminution of ancient affection, and soon recognized in the dignified prelate, all the cheerful and amiable cordiality of his early friend. But from this more domestic manifestation of kindness, his virtuous feelings went abroad into a wider and more important sphere, and took the form of that virtue which has ever been of God most favoured. If in his own country he had been generous in his charity, in Rome he might be called profuse. From the single mendicant to the entire family, from an occasional relief to steady long continued support, from the disguised application to the secret tale of distress, from the mere bestowal of alms to the procuring of honourable occupation, from the wants of the body to the anxiety of the spirit, from the most degraded form of the poorest condition to the noblest establishments, such as this, for its moral improvement, and there was no class of wretchedness, no species of relief, but formed an object of his solicitude. And having mentioned this house of education for orphan children, I am justified in saying, that his liberality and kindness towards it knew no bounds, and would almost entitle him to be considered its second founder. Whatever could conduce to the comfort or advantage of its inmates he generously undertook: the superiors always found him ready to second their plans for improvement; and he contrived so completely to win the affections of all, that his death has been deplored by them as though each had suffered an individual loss.

“But while this country of his adoption had become the central point of his charitable benevolence, he forgot not those ties which bound him to his native land. His name continued to stand upon the subscription list of charitable institutions there; and never was application made to him in vain in favour of any religious establishment, or any case of real distress. Occasion was, in fact, afforded him of gratifying his national feelings when he accepted the Protection of the English College in this city, an office in the discharge of which I willingly and gratefully attest that he ever exhibited the utmost interest, kindness, and zeal.

“His elevation, however, becomes more important when considered, not merely in reference to the opportunities it gave for displaying those virtues which it was intended to reward, but as a new and public attention of favour of the Holy See towards the English Catholics and our nation. The barrier which a penal code had placed between England and Rome, in all social relations, might justly be considered as broken down by this event. The names of most who had worn the purple since the reformation had been literally enrolled among the enemies of their country. Pole and Allen drew upon them all the vengeance of party animosity; and if the Howards and Erskines escaped similar obloquy, it was not so much that their amiable virtues shielded them from censure, as that they had previously stood in comparatively slight connexion with their own country. But on the elevation of Cardinal Weld, I believe that not a British subject then at Rome refused to partake in the public joy, or to consider it a national event: the halls of his palace were crowded by his countrymen, when opened for the congratulation of his friends: and the more sorrowful but not less numerous meeting of this day, proves that time has tested the feeling, and shown it to have been no passing outburst of enthusiasm, but a sincere conviction that his elevation was deemed a public benefit, as his removal by death is now considered a public loss. He received assurances from persons of high influence and dignity, that his nomination had excited no jealousy, as of old, but on the contrary, afforded satisfaction to those whom every Englishman esteems and reveres; individuals, who, at home, are known to indulge in expressions of decided hostility to Rome and to our holy religion, recognised in him a representative of both, whom they venerated and gladly approached; and when his hospitable mansion was thrown open to his countrymen, I believe that never was the sternest professor of a different creed known to decline the honour, which the invitation of the English Cardinal was acknowledged to confer.

“It is certainly no small praise to him thus in Rome the very blank and aim of religious partizanship in our country, to have softened the asperity of such unjust and unkind feeling; to have gained honour in his person, for a dignity essentially and most intimately connected with her religious empire, and to have established one neutral spot on earth, and that the very heart of the supposed hostile country, where the jarring feelings of contending religions were blended, as God grant they soon may be at home, in the kindly intercourse of fellow subjects. And I think we may safely assert, that, if at a future period, the last remnant of old intolerance be swept away, and a public intercourse between our country and the Holy See be resumed, this will be due, in no small measure, to the spirit of conciliation, which the amiable disposition of Cardinal Weld enabled him, through the influence of his rank, to infuse into the minds of many who have visited Rome.

“But, a still higher order of good has been worked, in the beneficial attention paid by him to the welfare of religion, especially in our colonies and distant dependencies. No affair connected with the interests of religion was ever commended to him, to which he did not give his mind with unreserved assiduity. When contention and strife had arisen, he always assumed the office of a peace-maker, and endeavoured to soothe the asperity of either party; where scantiness of information put in peril an accurate judgment, he exerted himself to procure a better knowledge; and when he declared in favour of a particular and decided view, no one ever ventured to doubt the upright and conscientious character of his determination.

"By these means, he gradually became the centre of a most extensive correspondence upon matters of weighty importance. The religious affairs of America, India, and Australia might be considered as almost entrusted to his special guardianship: and his death will be bewailed many months hence, with fresh sorrow, in countries that will only then receive the melancholy news.

"No one who was acquainted with the Cardinal's personal character, devoid as it was of all pride and ostentation, will for a moment imagine that the burden thus placed upon his shoulders was compensated by the splendour of his rank. With him all this was a labour of love, from which he might have shrunk to enjoy, in comparative ease, the honours of his station. But instead of this, he deprived himself of even necessary relaxation and toiled in the cause of religion, with all the unremitting assiduity of an interested party. Years probably were cut off from his life by the confinement and application to which he condemned himself with a prodigal zeal; his health had for several years become a source of uneasiness to his friends; and the calamity which has lately afflicted him, had long been feared by all but himself.

"For amidst the variety of his occupations, the thought of death, and the duty of preparation for it, had never been absent from his mind. His religious duties were on no occasion, sacrificed to other employments however useful; and the habitual piety of his life had become more intense, and more fervent, in proportion as he drew near his end.

"Well might he then have exclaimed with Job, 'The ear that hath heard me hath blessed me, and the eye that saw me hath given witness to me, because I delivered the poor man that cried out and the fatherless that had no helper.' 'The blessing of him that was ready to perish came down upon me, and I comforted the heart of the widow.' 'I was the father of the poor; and the cause which I knew not, I searched out most diligently.' And rightly might he hope for the same reward as the holy Patriarch. 'And I said I shall die in my nest.' (Job, xxix. 11, 18.) that is, amidst the affections of those most dear to me. And so, in fact, it proved to be. For, having renounced the comforts of home in his own country, Divine Providence sent them abroad to support and to cheer him in the last solitary hours. Different causes and motives, unconnected one with the other, had brought around him a larger number of his relations and friends, than perhaps had on any other occasion met here. He had been blessed with better health than usual. while he enjoyed their society; and when the moment of separation had come, he was spared the pain it must have inflicted, and they were left to the melancholy consolation of having bid him farewell upon the brink of the tomb. His last act of perfect consciousness was to give his blessing to his children's children that knelt by his bed of death; his last breath was drawn, and his soul arose heavenward amidst the prayers of his dearest ones: and thus did he receive and enjoy to the full, the patriarchal consummation of happiness, a serene close to days, crowned with honour, dignity, and virtue."

This distinguished ecclesiastic and most worthy man died at his Palazzo in Rome, on the 10th of April last. His death is deeply regretted, not by the Catholics of this country only, but by the British and Irish of every creed, who have visited the Eternal City since the Cardinal fixed his residence there. A solemn dirge was sung for the repose of his soul, in Moorfield's Chapel, on the 10th of May, and another in the Chelsea Chapel, to which he was at one time attached. The funeral obsequies of his Eminence were performed with great pomp at Rome, in the church of St. Maria in Aquiro, on 23d April, on which occasion, a Funeral Oration was delivered by the Very Rev. Dr. Wiseman. This oration, from which the foregoing extracts are taken, was published at Rome, with an Italian Translation, and dedicated to The Right Hon. Lord Clifford, the Cardinal's son-in-law, and has since been reprinted by Booker and Dolman, of New Bond-street.

R. I. P.

TO ALL THE CLERGY AND FAITHFUL IN THE LONDON DISTRICT.

Dearly beloved Brethren in Jesus Christ,

We feel it our duty to inform you, as our predecessors have done, that only those French Clergymen are permitted to administer any Sacrament, or to say Mass, or to perform any ecclesiastical function in the London District, who have subscribed the Form of Declaration of Catholic Communion which we have required, and which his Holiness has commanded them all to sign, declaring, that if they refuse to do what he commands in this respect, they contract the heinous guilt of schism. We, therefore, charge our Clergy, not to allow any French Clergyman, who has not subscribed this Form of Declaration of Catholic Communion, to officiate in any public Chapel; and we require that the Faithful of this District, to whom we have respectively granted the privilege of having Mass celebrated privately at their houses, do not permit any French Clergyman who has not signed the said Form of Declaration of Catholic Communion, to say Mass within their dwellings. We subjoin the names of those Gentlemen among the French Clergy in the London District, who have subscribed the Form of Declaration of Catholic Communion.

LONDON MISSION FUND.

This Institution was established November 13th, 1815, with the approbation of the R. R. the Vicar Apostolic of the district, for the purpose of providing funds for the education of Pastors for the Mission; and also to assist in the erection of Chapels, or any work that might promote the interests of religion. It provides against the danger of leaving the flock without Pastors, a circumstance that has already often occurred—and secures to the present and rising generations all the invaluable blessings of religion in life, and the comforts of the minister of Christ at the hour of death. Each person becoming a member participates in the benefit of four Masses, that are celebrated every week in the Bishops' College for its members and benefactors.—Such is the advantage, and such the objects that are aimed at by this Institution: objects that should induce every Catholic who is sincerely attached to the faith of his ancestors, to seize with gladness this opportunity of propitiating the favour of the Almighty, and laying up for himself immortal treasures in heaven.—Subscriptions are received by the Rev. F. Tuite, 35, Golden-square, London.

SECULAR CLERGY COMMON FUND.

In compliance with a Resolution passed at the General Meeting of the Secular Clergy of the London District, held on the 26th of April, 1836, We, the undersigned, beg leave to call your attention to the following statement.

Few are sufficiently aware of the difficulties and privations with which the Secular Clergy of the London District have in general to contend. Bound to serve in this district, doomed to settle wherever their superiors direct, and restricted to the means, however slender, which their mission affords, they generally can command few of the comforts, and sometimes, scarcely the common necessities of life. In such a situation the wants of the day leave little room to provide for the morrow. And thus when sickness or infirmity falls upon them, or old age at last overtakes them, they have no resource but to pine in want, or to live dependant on the precarious charity of their friends.

For the Secular Clergy have no establishment to which they may retire in the evening of their days; and where, free from worldly solicitudes, they may quietly prepare for eternity. The consequences of this are most lamentable. The pastor, through fear of destitution, still lingers in a post, to the duties of which he has become unequal; and the flock is left to the care of a shepherd who can no longer “visit what is forsaken, nor seek what is scattered, nor heal what is broken, nor nourish that which standeth,” and his sheep become as a spoil to the enemy.

It was with a view to obviate these evils, that, in the year 1701, “The Secular Clergy Common Fund” was instituted. A few priests, commiserating the distresses of their decayed brethren, bound themselves to pay one pound per annum each to a “Common Fund” destined to relieve them. To place this Fund on a permanent footing, they formed a Society, the Members of which engaged either to give to it a certain sum of money, or to bequeath to it a certain portion of property, if they died possessed of any. This Society soon comprehended all the Secular Clergy of the London District. It has now existed above 130 years: and of all the priests successively on the mission, there has scarcely been one who has not, by dint of economy, perhaps to the length of self-privation, contributed his mite to augment its resources. Some gave money, some bequeathed their furniture and effects, and some transferred to it the profits of their pious and learned publications. Some few also of the Nobility and Gentry, when made acquainted with its object, have endeavoured to promote it by liberal bequests and benefactions. Still, however, even at the present hour, the great design of the Secular Clergy Common Fund remains to be accomplished;—still there is no adequate provision for the old age of the worn out and venerable missionary.

The fault rests, perhaps, with the Clergy themselves. For though their voice is often heard advocating the necessities of others, they have been diffident in urging their own. For years you have heard nothing of the claims of the "Secular Clergy Common Fund" on your support. Many are perhaps even ignorant of its existence; many know not that the whole body of the Clergy look to it for support when past labour; and many must be ignorant how very little they have then to depend upon—how very dreary is the prospect that lowers over them, as the evening of existence approaches. The manner in which they have been hitherto provided for was this:—there were three sources, each of which contributed £25. per annum towards their support.

1st. They received £25. per annum from some Missionary Funds, under the management of their ecclesiastical superiors.

2ndly. They received £25. per annum from this Society "The Secular Clergy Common Fund."

3rdly. In some cases £25. per annum from an Auxiliary Society, more recently instituted; making together £75. per annum: a very inadequate provision for the many wants and growing infirmities of declining age.

But, unfortunately, the first source has, within these few years, been dried up, or now flows in some other channel. The third is merely a contingency, to be secured only by an outlay which, however moderate, is often inconvenient, and sometimes impracticable; so that now £50. per annum, under the most favourable circumstances, and in some cases £25. per annum from the "Common Fund," is all that the worn out and enfeebled minister of religion can depend upon to solace the sorrows and supply the wants of decrepit old age.

We cannot, and, we trust, you will not be satisfied to leave things in this state. In our own names then, and in the names of the 94 Secular Clergymen belonging to the district, we call upon you to dispel this dreary cloud that hangs over the close of our lives, and of our not, we hope, unprofitable labours ; we entreat you to aid us in at length effecting the great object of "The Secular Clergy Common Fund," viz : in securing a more adequate provision for your pastors in their old age, when increasing infirmities bring increasing wants, and need increasing comforts.

Of the mode by which you will best accomplish this, it scarcely becomes us to speak. We may, however, venture to remind you, that the law which, in these matters, has placed us on an equality with Protestant Dissenters, allows us to receive bequests for all the purposes of charity, education, and the support of our religious worship. Among these, relief to your Clergy is legitimately included ; and it may probably happen, that benefaction by legacy will prove less inconvenient than an immediate pecuniary donation. Either, however, will be thankfully accepted, and any obligations attached thereto will be faithfully discharged.

We may indeed here be allowed to suggest, that the "Secular Clergy Common Fund" affords, by its very constitution, the fullest security for the exact performance of any trust confided to it. It is a permanent society, comprising, at all times, the whole body of the Secular Clergy of the district. Its business is conducted by an Administrator and Assistants, triennially elected, who form the acting executive of the society. Its property is guarded by effective regulations, and vested in the names of trustees, selected from the Clergy. Its records are regularly kept, containing minutes of every benefaction received and every obligation incurred ; and its accounts are not only audited annually, but are at all times open to revision by the general body of the Clergy. Thus every care is taken to ensure responsibility and publicity—the most effectual safeguards against error or misappropriation on the one hand, and against dissatisfaction or distrust on the other. If then the benevolence of individuals should prompt the wish to continue, even after death, benefactors to the cause of charity or religion, they cannot select a safer medium than this society for ensuring the fulfilment of their pious purpose. In this case it will be requisite to communicate to the Administrator the specific object of the intended bequest, but the form of legacy may be very simple. The following might suffice.

" I bequeath to the Rev. WILLIAM WILDS, the Administrator of the Society called "The Secular Clergy Common Fund," or to the Administrator of the same for the time being, the sum of pounds, for the benefit of that Fund."

An annual statement will be published of all benefactions received, the objects for which they were intended, and the manner in which they have been applied. We will only add, that all the Members of the Fund are bound to say four masses each, every year, for members and benefactors living and dead.

We have the honour to remain,

Your humble and devoted Servants in Christ,

WILLIAM WILDS, Bavarian Chapel, Administrator.

N. B. There are SPACIOUS VAULTS under the chapel, and a BURYING GROUND adjoining it, and annual masses are said for those interred therein, and for benefactors.

The district attached to this Chapel is by far the most extensive and populous in London, and contains a Catholic population estimated at nearly 30,000. It includes, with a trifling exception, all the city; also Saffron-hill, Clerkenwell, Shoreditch, Bethnal-green, Mile-end, Whitechapel, and Spital-fields, besides Islington, Holloway, Stoke-Newington, Kingsland, Hackney, and Homerton. It has 4 large Charity Schools, 2 connected with the Associated Charities, and 2 in Spitalfields, entirely supported by private contributions. Its pastors have also to attend the Newgate, Giltspur-street, and New Clerkenwell Prisons for felons—the Fleet and Whitecross-street Prisons for confined debtors—the S. Luke's, Lying-in and Great Bartholomew Hospitals—and, besides numerous receptacles for the insane, no fewer than 24 different Workhouses, many of them containing hundreds of poor, principally Catholics.

The contributions of the Public are most respectfully but earnestly solicited towards this Chapel. Subscriptions will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden Square, by the Rev. Chaplains, and by Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers, who have an account opened for this purpose.

* † VIRGINIA-STREET, Ratcliff-highway.—Mass every day at 10 o'clock; on festivals of obligation at 8, 10, and 11 o'clock ; on Sundays at 8, 9, 10, and 11 o'clock. A discourse after the Gospel at High Mass. Vespers at 3 o'clock on Sundays only.—Chaplains, Rev. Messrs. Richard Horrabin, James Foley, and Matthew Ryan.

The Chaplains of Virginia-street Chapel, are the spiritual directors of the East London Catholic Charity Schools, and have daily to attend the London Hospital, Mile-end-road, the receptacle of all accidents in the docks, wharfs, and ships from Black-wall to London Bridge, as well as fifteen workhouses ; the chief of which are St. George's in the East, Wapping, Shadwell, Ratcliff, Stepney-green, Aldgate, Crutched-friars, Barking, St. Dunstan's, and St. Olave's.

* GERMAN, Great St. Thomas Apostle, Bow-lane, Cheap-side.—Mass every day at 9 o'clock, on festivals of obligation and Sundays, at 9 and 11. On Sundays a discourse after the Gospel, and Vespers at 4 o'clock. At 7 o'clock the Rosary with a short instruction, and the usual night prayers. Complin on Thursdays in Lent at half-past 6 o'clock. Chaplain the Rev. G. Stasiewicz. This Chapel deserves, in an especial manner, the support of the friends of religion, as the congregation consists of poor foreigners, who are unable to contribute to its support. To a Catholic stranger in this great metropolis, nothing can be more gratifying than to have it in his power to attend the services of his religion, and to receive its consolations under the ministration of a pastor of his native country ; and it is fortunate that in London peculiar facilities are afforded to foreigners, who, but for the means they there enjoy, might either wholly forget their religion, or fall a prey to the arts of sectarian seduction. The charity of the faithful is therefore earnestly entreated in behalf of this establishment.

CENTRAL.

* † SARDINIAN, Duke-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields.—After the Gospel at High Mass on Sundays, a discourse in English ; Vespers at 3 o'clock ; evening prayers and catechetical instruction at 6. Complin with a discourse on Fridays in Lent, at 6 o'clock.—Chaplains, the Rev. Dr. Baldacconi, and the Rev. Messrs. Ch.D'Arcy, Wm. O'Connor, and James Hearne.

The Chaplains of the Sardinian Chapel, have the spiritual direction of the central division of the Associated Catholic Charity Schools in Gate-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields, and have also to attend Cold-bath-fields prison, several workhouses, and the Charing Cross Hospital.

* † ST. PATRICK's, Sutton-street, Soho.—On Sundays Low Mass at 8 with an instruction, and at 10 o'clk. High Mass, and a Sermon at 11 o'clk.; Vespers at 3. Compl. and a discourse on the Tuesdays in Lent at 6 o'clock. The festival of St. Patrick is observed in this chapel as a double of the first class, when High Mass is solemnly celebrated, with a discourse suitable to the occasion. A collection is then made for the support of the chapel. Subscriptions received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths, or at Messrs. Wright and Co's. Henrietta-street, Covent-garden.—Chaplains, the Rev. Messrs. Edward Norris, Thomas Long, and R. Chumley.

The Chaplains of St. Patrick's Chapel have the spiritual direction of St. Patrick's Charity Schools, and have also to attend the workhouses and hospitals in their district.

WESTWARD.

* † BAVARIAN, Warwick-street, Golden-square.—Mass every day at 8, 10, and 11, and also at 9, on Sundays, Holidays, and during the Indulgences. Vespers on Sundays and holidays at half-past 3; Complin with a discourse in Lent on Thursdays at 6 o'clock. Chaplains, the Rev. Messrs. Wm. Wilds. John Lee, George Spain, and H. Lea.—Honorary Chaplain, Rev. J. Jones.

* † SPANISH, Spanish-place, Manchester-square.—A discourse at High Mass on Sundays; Vespers at 3 in the afternoon; Complin on Fridays in Lent at 6, with a discourse.—Chaplains, the Rev. Messrs. Julius Picquot, Timothy Reardon, and Francis Jarrett.

The Chaplains of the Spanish Chapel, have the spiritual direction of the Western division of the Associated Catholic Charity Schools in North-street, Manchester-square; and to attend the workhouses and hospitals in their district.

* † FRENCH, Little George-street, King-street, Portman-sq. On Sundays and holidays of obligation, High Mass at 11; after the Gospel, an instruction or discourse in French, and Vespers at 3.—The Rev. M. M. De la Porte and Beaumont, Chaplains.

The Catholic Nobility, Gentry, and the Catholics in general, are respectfully informed, that in consequence of the events of July, 1830, this chapel is no longer protected or supported by the French government; its entire dependence for support, must therefore rest, under Providence, on the proceeds of rents for seats, and on their pious liberality. Grateful for the sympathy they have experienced, the Chaplains earnestly solicit a continuance of the means to keep open the Chapel, and of being enabled to celebrate the Divine mysteries in a suitable manner as heretofore. Tickets for seats may be had at the Sacristy of the Chapel; where also a book is open for voluntary subscriptions and benefactions, which are also received by Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden.

* * The divine service will be celebrated annually, within the Octave of All Souls, for the repose of the souls of the deceased subscribers and benefactors of the chapel. (At the French Chapel, there is a Charitable Association for the spiritual, and temporal relief of the Sick and Poor.)

*†WESTMINSTER, ST. MARY'S Romney Terrace, Marsham-st. Chaplain, Rev. A. Magee, 28, Medway-st.—Mass on Sundays at 9 and 11, and on holidays of obligation, at 10 o'clock. The Rosary and spiritual instruction at 6 o'clock. The regular receipts of this chapel have been found scarcely sufficient to pay the rent and other indispensable charges, leaving wholly the maintainance of the chaplain, whose duties are indeed arduous, out of the question.

The Chaplain has to attend the Millbank Penitentiary, Tothill-fields prison, the workhouses, the infirmary, and other hospitals in this poor and populous district.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; the Rev. Gentlemen of the Bavarian Chapel; at Messrs. Wright and Co.'s, Bankers; by Booker and Dolman, No. 61, New Bond-street; and by Keating and Brown, 38, Duke-street, Grosvenor-square.

WESTERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

* CHELSEA CHAPEL, Cadogan-terrace, Sloane-st. Chaplains, Abbe J. N. Voyaux de Franous, D. D. Rev. T. Sisk, and Dr Cox. Mass every morn. at 8 and 9 o'clk. Sundays and holidays of obligation, two Masses, the 1st at 9 o'clock, the 2nd High Mass at 11, with a discourse. Vespers with benediction, at 3; after which the catechism explained; complin, every Wednesday in Lent, at 6 o'clock. This chapel, erected to afford the comforts of religion to a highly deserving class of men, viz., the aged, disabled, and veteran Catholic soldiers, residing in the hospital and parish of Chelsea, and others in the Barracks at Knights-bridge, seems to have a particular claim on the benevolent assistance of the Nobility, Gentry, &c. By the blessing of Divine Providence, the congregation is increased to nearly 6000 persons; yet as most of these are poor, and reduced to petition their pastors for aid, rather than being able to contribute any thing to their support, it is hoped, that a charitable public will supply the deficiency by their donations, and thus enable the chaplains to keep up the chapel as heretofore, which they could never do, ever since its opening, by the annual contributions and Sundays collections. The Chapel has lately been repaired and greatly improved in its interior. Subscriptions will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths; the Chaplains; and Messrs. Wright and Co. Henrietta-street.

N. B. A School for the Clothing and Education of poor Catholic Boys and Girls, which consisted of a few when first established, has now so much increased, as to amount in the course of the year to about 250; and it is found necessary, for the prevention of parents sending their children to anti-catholic places of worship, to appeal to the further benevolence of the Public, as the few present Subscriptions amount to very little, and there is no annual public dinner for their support, as there is for most of the other charity schools.

*† KENSINGTON, Holland-street. Sundays and holidays, morning service 9 and 11, with complin at 3 in winter, and half past 3 in summer; the Rosary, with a discourse and the usual night prayers, at half past 6, in winter, and at 7, in summer.—Rev. Messrs. D. le Houx, and Wm. Bugden.

A charity school is connected with this chapel.

HAMMERSMITH, No. 5, King-street, Rev. F. Bellissent.—Mass on Sundays and holidays at 10 o'clock; Vespers at 3.

HAMMERSMITH, Brook Green House, Dr. Baldacconi.

ACTON, Rev. Thos. Heptonstall.

ISLEWORTH, Shrewsbury-place, Rev. Anthony Wareing.

*† THE CHURCH OF OUR BLESSED LADY, St. John's Wood, Grove-road.—Chaplains, the Rev. James O'Neal, and the Rev. Mark Mc. Neal. On Sundays, Low Masses are at 8 and 10 o'clock, and High Mass at 11 o'clock. Vespers at 3 o'clock, with the benediction and catechism; complin in Lent on Wednesdays at 3 o'clock.

This splendid edifice bears honourable testimony to the pious zeal of the generous foundresses. Generations yet unborn will invoke the benedictions of heaven upon their departed spirits. But though much has been done by the Misses Gallini, the good work is not yet perfect. The church is finished—it is an ornament to our holy religion ; but in completion, the charitable funds of the foundresses are exhausted, and there is yet no school for the poor children of the district. May their holy example inspire those who are blessed with the means, to enable the chaplains to establish schools, where these poor children, already amounting to about 100, may be taught their duty to God, and the importance of their own salvation.

*† SOMERSTOWN, St. ALOYSIUS', Clarendon-square, Rev. Messrs. J. Nerinckx, J. Holdstock, and J. B. Hearn.—High Mass at 11 o'clock, with a discourse ; on Sundays, Vespers at 3, with the benediction. At 6, catechism followed by the benediction of the B. Sacrament. Benediction of the B. Sacrament on Wednesdays at 6. In Lent, complin on Wednesdays at 6, with a discourse.

This Chapel has been lately repaired and enlarged considerably : but as the greater part of the numerous and daily increasing congregation is of the poorer class, the chaplains with great confidence appeal to the public for assistance to pay off the expenses.

St. Aloysius' Charity Schools are adjacent to this Chapel, and under the spiritual direction of the chaplains, who have also to attend the London Fever Hospital, the Small Pox Hospital, and St. Pancras Workhouse.

* HAMPSTEAD, St. Mary's, Holly-place.—On Sundays Mass at 11, with a discourse ; Vespers at 6, and catechism immediately after. On holidays of obligation, Mass and Vespers at the same hours as on Sundays. Chaplain, the Rev. J. J. Morel. This chapel was solemnly blessed under the invocation and in honour of the blessed Virgin Mary, who is known to have been, in ancient times, the patroness of this place.

EASTERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

*† POPLAR, Wade-street. Chaplain, Rev. A. B. Barber.—Mass on Sundays at 9 and 11 o'clock, and on holidays at 10. Rosary and catechism on Sundays at 3 in the afternoon. It having been found necessary to repair and even enlarge the schools as well as the chapel belonging to this congregation, the debt has unavoidably increased to near £600. By the liberality of many charitable individuals, £500 has already been paid off. May the pastor of this poor district hope, by the continued support of his kind friends, and of the friends of education and morality, to effect, in the course of the ensuing year, a total extinction of the debt !

Donations, to any amount, will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths, V. A. ; by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden ; by the Rev. A. B. Barber, at the Chapel house ; and by Keating & Brown.

N. B. Monthly Masses are said for the benefactors. Mass is also said every quarter for those who are interred in the burial ground.

CHURCH OF THE MOST HOLY TRINITY.

*† BERMONDSEY, Parker's-row.—Rev. Messrs. P. Butler, P. Collingridge, and—Harsneap.—On Sundays, Low Mass at 8 and 9 o'clock, and High Mass at 11. Vespers at 3, and at 7 o'clock the Rosary with an instruction, and the usual night prayers. On holidays, both of obligation and devotion, the Rosary at half past 7; Complin at Lent at half past 6 on Wednesday evening.

The Catholic population attached to this chapel is beyond 9000: it consists entirely of labouring people, whose poverty renders them incapable of defraying the necessary expenses of the chapel. In this poor congregation the Chaplains are charged with the duty of attending four extensive workhouses, the distressed objects of which look up to them not only for spiritual assistance, but also for pecuniary aid. To this chapel are also attached two numerous schools, now almost destitute of the means of keeping them open any longer. Their pastors therefore call earnestly for the aid of a generous public, and of all who have at heart the support and advancement of true religion. Any assistance for the poor, or the schools, will be gratefully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, and by the Rev. Chaplains.

Subscriptions will be gratefully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square ; Messrs. Wright and Co., 5, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden ; Keating & Brown, 38, Duke-street, Grosvenor-square ; and by the Rev. Chaplains, No. 1, Parker's-row, Bermondsey.

The Catholic public are respectfully informed, that there are under the new church, spacious and airy vaults, ready to receive the mortal remains of their departed friends.

*† STRATFORD, Essex, SS. Patrick and Vincent de Paul. Chaplain, Rev. Edmund Norris.—Mass every day at 9 ; on Sundays Mass at 9 and 11. Immediately after the Gospel at 11, a sermon is preached. On days of obligation, Mass at 9, with a discourse.—Rosary and devotions on Sunday evenings at 4 o'clock.—To this chapel there are two large schools attached, in which the children of the congregation, that is, of 3000 poor

Irish, receive education. The pastor states with regret, that the funds of these schools have not, as yet, enabled him to perform towards these children, that corporal work of mercy so much called for, viz., to clothe the naked. The smallest donation or subscription will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths, and the Rev. F. Tuite, 35, Golden-square; the Rev. Chaplain, and Keating and Brown.

* TOTTENHAM, Chapel-place, White-hart-lane, St. Francis de Sales' Chapel. Pastor, the Rev. Thomas Henry Ewart. Mass on Sundays at 11 o'clock; and on days of obligation, at 10. Afternoon service at 3 o'clock.—The pastor of this chapel most earnestly solicits the charitable assistance of the faithful for the support of his mission. His flock, consisting of between 300 and 400 persons, is poor and destitute; and, in order to keep open the chapel and the school, and to provide for his own support, he is obliged to make his situation known to all, and therefore, when he asks for pecuniary assistance, as he does at his Annual Sermon for the support of his chapel and school, he hopes he will not be refused. Any one wishing to give this assistance, is humbly requested to leave it to the care of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; or the Rev. Randal Lythgoe, 14, York-place, Baker-street; or Keating and Brown.

All benefactors of this chapel and school have one Mass said for them every week, besides being remembered in every other Mass.

SOUTHERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

* † BELGIAN, London-road, St. George's Fields.—On Sundays, Low Mass with an exhortation at 8; Mass also at 9 and 10; High Mass with a sermon at 11 o'clock. Vespers in summer at half past 3, in winter at 3 o'clock; and after Vespers the catechism explained. On Mondays at 12 o'clock, catechism for the children of the Benevolent Society of St. Patrick; on Tuesdays, the same for the children of our own school. In Lent, on Thursday evening, English prayers with a sermon and benediction at 7 o'clock.—Chaplains, Rev. Messrs. T. Doyle, J. Radford, J. White, and Bernard Jarrett.

The Southwark Catholic Charity Schools are under the spiritual direction of the Chaplains of this chapel, who have also to attend Guy's and St. Thomas's hospitals, the Queen's Bench, Surrey, Marshalsea, and the Clink prisons, and many large workhouses in their poor and populous district.

* † GREENWICH, Clarke's-buildings, Maize-hill, Rev. Rich. North.—Mass on Sundays at 11, on week days at half past 9. Evening prayers on Sundays at 3.

This Chapel, the first stone of which was laid upon the 23rd of August, 1836, was opened for divine worship on the 26th of October last, 1837.—The following account of the dedication, and opening appeared in the Orthodox Journal: "Thursday (the 26th ult.) being the day fixed for the opening, this most impressive ceremony commenced at eight o'clock in the morning, by the Rev. Mr. Last, of Ingalstone Hall, who was deputed by the Bishop, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Bugden, of Kensington, to perform the previous ceremony of the blessing of the ground. At eleven o'clock the mass used on such occasions was performed in pontificalibus by the Bishop, the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, D. D., V. A. L., assisted by the Rev. Dr.

Newell, President of the College of Old Hall Green, as attendant Priest ; Deacon, the Rev. Mr. Last ; Subdeacon, the Rev. Mr. Bugden ; Masters of the ceremonies, the Rev. Mr. Sid- den, of Thorndon Hall, and the Rev. Mr. Savage, the chap- lain of the new foundation. We observed, in the chancel, the Rev. Dr. Maguire, Professor at Old Hall Green ; Abbe De Couffons, of Suffolk ; Rev. Messrs. Lythgoe, of Stonylhurst ; Trowvell, of Nayland ; Fryer ; O'Neil, of St. John's Wood ; Tristram, of New Hall ; and Hearne, of Lincoln's Inn.

"The sermon, on the occasion, was a most brilliant and argu- mentatively convincing performance by the Rev. Mr. Hearne, whose exertions (though, we regretted to observe, apparently painful to himself from ill health) seemed to produce a most lively effect on the audience, particularly on many Protestants, whose countenances betokened assent and surprise at the truths they heard, delivered in a most masterly, impressive, and feeling manner. The exordium was followed by a powerful illustration of the marks of the true church, from whence the preacher, by a clever antithesis, passed to the proofs of the all-imposing mystery of the Real Presence. As the rev. gentleman pro- ceeded, he appeared to gain strength and vigour, and concluded a peroration as feeling and as impressive as we ever heard. In replying to the various calumnies indulged in by Protestants against the religious doctrines and principles professed by Ca- tholics, and, amongst others, that the laity were denied the use of the Bible, the preacher took occasion most emphatically to assure them of the contrary, for that he and his clerical brethren—and he appealed to the worthy prelate near him—would be glad to assist at any time in circulating the authorised version of the sacred word. A reporter having taken notes in short hand, it is to be hoped that the discourse will soon be laid before the public.

"The scene was rendered particularly interesting by the pre- sence of the Right Honourable Lord Petre—a nobleman as humble as he is dignified—with his amiable lady and beautiful daughters,—models of the true Catholic and perfect Christian,—who were in a side tribune. With the same well merited encomiums we must also mention the presence of the families the Leschers, the Walmsleys, the Manbeys, the Havers, and other distinguished Catholics of the county, to whose ex- ertions this pretty structure owes its existence—Lord Petre giving the land, with a subscription of 500*l.*—a like sum con- tributed by Mr. Lescher. Messrs. Pitchford, Dias Santos, W. Lescher, and a number of other Catholic friends from London also attended. We must also mention several Protestant fa-

Mount St. Bernard, near Ashby de la Zouch. The Rev. Father Prior of the Trappist Monks.

This Church was consecrated on Wednesday 11th October, last. At an early hour the bishop with his clergy, accompanied by Sir Charles Wolsely, in a court dress, and Mr. Ambrose Phillips, who wore his uniform as deputy-leutenant of the county, walked up by a beautiful private road from Grace Dieu to the entrance of the monastery land, a distance of above two miles. From this spot to the monastery there is a space of above a quarter of a mile; and over this, as being the private grounds of the monks, the bishop and clergy were to walk in solemn procession. It is difficult to picture to oneself a more romantic style of scenery than that which surrounds the Trappist monastery of Our Lady of Mount St. Bernard. The stillness and retirement of the place are admirably adapted for the cell of a contemplative and a recluse. Not a human habitation is to be seen in any direction, nor any sign of the industry of man, save where the laborious hand of the silent monk has broken the virgin soil. The monastery itself is a plain quadrangular building in the gothic styles, and still unfinished. The south side of the square is formed by the church, which, though simple, is certainly one of the most beautiful specimens of modern gothic churches in the kingdom. It rises considerably higher than the rest of the monastery, and it gives a grave and ecclesiastical character to the whole edifice. But to return to the bishop and clergy. His lordship and his reverend brethren vested themselves in the ruined hut; and never shall I forget (says an eyewitness) the impression produced on my mind when I beheld this venerable train of men ascend in their sacred vestments the steep hill at the entrance of the monastery land. At the head of the procession, the cross was solemnly borne by the cross bearer, between two acolythes in surplices, holding candlesticks with lighted tapers; after these came six other acolythes, two and two, in surplices; then a splendid banner of yellow satin damask, embroidered with silver, and the holy name of Jesus emblazoned in the centre, borne by Ambrose Lisle Phillips, Esq., in the uniform of deputy-lieutenant of the county; then four ecclesiastics in cassocks and surplices, two and two; after whom Sir Charles Wolseley, bart., in a court dress, carried the banner of the blessed Virgin Mary, which in appearance resembled the other banner; after that the rest of the clergy in cassocks and surplices, two and two, to the number of above thirty; then the sub-deacon, deacon, and priest, and the Rev. Edward Huddleston, as archdeacon, in a splendid cope; and finally, his lordship the bishop, vested in full pontificals, with his mitre and crozier, and his train borne by an acolythe in a white surplice.

On the summit of the hill a most affecting scene occurred. The prior of the monastery, with his monks to the number of sixteen, had come in procession to meet the bishop. Before them was borne the banner of the Passion of Christ by a lay brother, between four acolythe boys in little brown habits. The choir monks were dressed in white habits and cowls, and the lay brothers in brown habits, according to the rule of the Cistercian order. The monks here joined the procession, and immediately the whole train commenced singing the Litany of the Sacred Heart of Jesus until they reached the door of the monastery church, where the bishop performed the same ceremonies as at the consecration of the Grace Dieu chapel. The procession then entered the church. The length of the building is 86 feet, its width 25 feet, and its height 36 feet. The choir of the monks is separated from the nave by a beautiful massive oak screen, within which, on each side, are ranged the stalls, which are handsomely carved and painted oak. There are three altars; and the high altar (the altar table of which is very lofty and richly ornamented with splendid carving, adorned with a costly tabernacle, superbly gilded and covered in part with crimson velvet richly embroidered with gold,) is magnificent. Six massive gilt candle-sticks are placed upon it. The roof of the church is of oak, beautifully adorned with Gothic tracery.

Grace Dieu, near Ashby de la Zouch, Rev. O. Woolfrey.

This Church was consecrated on Tuesday 10th October last, by the Right Rev. Dr. Walsh. At an early hour in the morning, the bishop and his clergy went in procession from the hall door of the manor house, preceded by the cross-bearer and six acolythes in cassocks and surplices, to the western door of the church, at which his lordship, vested in a cope, with his mitre and crozier, chaunted a prayer; after which he walked round the exterior of the church, preceded by his clergy to the number of twenty, who chaunted the psalm Miserere, while he sprinkled the outer walls of the building with holy water. Returning to the western entrance, the gates were thrown open, and his lordship, with the clergy, entered the church in solemn procession, singing the litanies, the effect of which was most imposing. At the conclusion of the litanies, the bishop and clergy walked round the interior of the building, sprinkling the walls, both above and below, with holy water, during which time the clergy chaunted three beautiful psalms, the 119th, 120th, and 121st; after which the bishop concluded the consecration service with a short collect. The high Mass followed next. Thanks to the increased spirit of true liberality, which has now for some time actuated the government of this country, the sacred ceremonies of the mass are no longer confined to vaults and garrets, but the eyes of our countrymen are again accustomed to behold that which heretofore formed the delight and consolation of our noble and pious ancestors.

The chapel at Grace Dieu is built in the gothic style; it is 96 feet in length, and consists of a nave and a chancel, to which you ascend by a flight of steps, at the top of which an elegant oak screen divides it from the rest of the church. On each side of the screen is placed an altar, one of which is dedicated to St. Joseph, the other to St. Philomena, each surmounted with a beautiful picture painted on a gold ground and set in a massive gilded Gothic altar table. At the end of the chancel is placed the high altar, in the altar table of which is set an ancient picture of the blessed Virgin and Child: the massive gilded candlesticks and the profusion of artificial flowers on the high altar gave it a most beautiful and striking appearance. The roof of Melton Mowbray. No chapel has yet been erected here; but there will now speedily one be built, as a piece of land has lately been purchased at the most respectable end of this town, for the site of a Catholic chapel and house; and it is most confidently expected that the building will be commenced very early in the spring. It is worthy of remark, that the field, in which the Chapel will stand, formerly belonged to some religious establishment, was confiscated by the crown, in the reign of the queen, of most odious memory to Catholics, and given to a favourite. Some time after it was left to the poor, and could not be sold or alienated in any way, without an act of parliament, which was obtained, a few years back, for the sale of that and other property, of the same description; in order to make a more desirable investment. To this day it is called chapel field, and the foundations of the ancient building, supposed to have been the monastery, can be clearly traced on the identical spot upon which the chapel is to be built.

It will be a subject of great joy to the true Catholic to be able again to adore his God, according to the faith, and worship of his forefathers, on the spot where the midnight matins, and the vesper chaunt, have been wont to tell the glory of his Maker, and sing praises to his God—where the devout recluse has offered up many a fervent prayer for his beloved country, and for the salvation of the whole world; where the ashes of the Saints and servants of Christ are now mingled with the dust, and silently admonish him to remember why his God created him, and with them to despise this cheating world with all its follies and vain amusements, that he may lay hold on the true life. A speaker, at a late reformation-meeting, held in this town, told his hearers, that there should not be a Catholic chapel in their town; but the Catholics here, and in the neighbourhood, appear determined to make him turn out a false prophet, and humbly petition a generous public, to enable them by charitable donations, to erect a place of worship, in which it may be proved to their neighbours, that their religion differs essentially from the character given it by these hireling defamers, and that whilst it abhors their calumny and misrepresentation, it breathes charity and good fellowship,—“ peace on earth to men of good will.”

Subscriptions will be most thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Walsh, Rev. Joseph Bick, Eastwell, Rev. Thomas Tempest, Grantham, and Messrs Wright & Co. London.

Whitwick. Rev. O. Woolfrey. This Church and its burial ground were consecrated on Thursday, 12th October, with the same ceremonies as those observed at Grace Dieu and Mount St Bernard. In the centre of the burial ground, a large handsome cross, 24 feet high, has been planted which was solemnly blessed by the bishop.

There is in this town a fast increasing congregation, the members of which are too poor to provide for the maintenance of a Pastor. They have, however, now the happiness to enjoy the gratuitous attendance of one of the Rev. Gentlemen from Hinckley, but have not a decent place wherein to assemble, and are totally destitute of the means of procuring one. Their only resource, therefore, is to appeal to the pious charity of their more opulent brethren for the means of erecting a plain decent chapel. To their benefactors they will make the only return in their power, by constantly praying that God may heap upon them the blessings promised to those who promote his honour and glory by contributing to the instruction of others unto justice.

N. B. The town of Nuneaton and its neighbourhood contain about 16,000 inhabitants.

Donations for the above object, either placed to the account of Rt. Rev. Dr. Walsh, at Messrs. Wright and Co.'s, London, or sent to Rev. W. T. Nicholds, Hinckley, will be thankfully received and economically expended.

There has been an eligible site taken for the erection of a chapel, a chapel-house, and school-house, at Dudley; with sufficient space for a cemetery. A considerable sum of money has been granted towards the undertaking, but not sufficient for its completion; and, as the mission is heavily burdened with the debt of the ground purchase, as well as saddled with a large rent for the present chapel, together with other expenses incident to a new mission, the congregation presume they have no ordinary claim to public charity and support, and which they therefore most earnestly and humbly solicit. Contributions will be thankfully received by the incumbent the Rev. James O'Neill.

Halifax, Rev. Joseph W. Fairclough.—The present incumbent earnestly appeals to the charity of the Nobility and Gentry of England for assistance to enable him to procure a suitable place of worship for the poor Catholics of Halifax. The situation of the poor Catholics in this town is at present truly afflicting. They have only a temporary room in which they hear Mass on Sundays, which on week days is used for every profane purpose. But they entertain a fond hope that their forlorn destitute condition being made known to the wealthy Catholics of England, they will soon obtain assistance.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Briggs, V. A. ; the Very Rev. B. Rayment ; Rev. J. W. Fairclough, and Keating and Brown.

HEREFORD, (Chapel building) Rev Richard Boyle

The ceremony of laying the foundation-stone of this chapel took place on Tuesday, 19th September, last, before a highly respectable assemblage of about two thousand persons. Among many other distinguished persons, were Thomas Monington, Esq. of Sarnesfield-court, high sheriff of the county of Hereford, and his lady; Rev. Richard Norris, Provincial of the Society of Jesus, in England; Rev John Bird, Socius to the said Provincial; Charles Bodenham, Esq. of Rotherwas, and his lady; Wm Salvin, Esq, Croxdale Hall; and many of the Protestant gentry of the city and county, including the Mayor, and his family, and several members of the Town Council. The Herefordshire militia-band played the grand Hallelujah chorus of Handel; after which the Catholic clergy and laity walked in solemn procession upon the exterior walls of the chapel.

While the line of procession was marching upon the walls, the band played in excellent style, the Sicilian hymn. The procession ascending to the site of the future altar, where a large temporary wooden cross was erected, the High Priest began to read prayers appointed to be recited by the Roman ritual. Having blessed the cross, the clergy proceeded to the north-east corner of the chapel, where the foundation-stone had been previously suspended. Reciting the litanies and other prayers, the architect presented the silver trowell to the officiating priest, who, marking the stone with three crosses, presented it to the high sheriff. The high sheriff spreading the mortar, both he and the officiating priest laid their hands upon the stone while it was being lowered to its proper destination, and performed the other ceremonies usual on these occasions. The clergy, unattended, then walked in slow order round the walls, repeating the beautiful 86th psalm, "How lovely are thy tabernacles, O Lord of Hosts." The high priest, at the same time, sprinkling with holy water the foundations of the whole building.

This completing the ceremony, the band played the beautiful Portuguese air, "Adeste fideles," while preparations were being made for a discourse delivered by the Rev Richard Boyle.

After the completion of the ceremony, a square copper box was inserted in the stone, containing coins of the realm, and a parchment with the following inscription:—

"A. M. D. G.

"The first stone of this Catholic chapel, dedicated to St. Francis Xavier, and erected at the expense of the members of the Society of Jesus, established at Stonyhurst, in Lancashire, was laid with due solemnity and according to the rites of the holy Catholic church, by Thomas Monington, Esq, of Sarnesfield-court, high sheriff of the county of Hereford, in the presence of a numerous and a highly respectable body of the citizens of Hereford, and inhabitants of the county of Hereford, on Tuesday, the 19th day of September, 1837, in the 1st year of the reign of her most gracious Majesty Victoria, Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland."

The new chapel will be very spacious, and faced by a very handsome Grecian portico, and will project in a line with the street. The altar part will be covered in with an exceedingly tasteful dome, surmounted by a gilded cross, seven feet high. The extreme length of the chapel will be 115 feet, the breadth 47. The height of the chapel from the ground to the top of the cross of the dome is 63 feet. The interior dimensions of the chapel, in the clear, are 94 feet by 42. The whole inside of the chapel will be lighted from the dome, which will be glazed with ground and stained glass,

This delightful little town now offers to the Catholic tourist what until this year he looked for there in vain—a Catholic chapel. On a beautiful eminence on the north side of the town, about three hundred yards from the castle walls, and commanding a pleasing view of the river below, of the valley around, and of the distant hills of Perthshire, stands a neat little Gothic structure, which one at once recognizes as a temple of the ancient faith. The building however is new, and with much difficulty did the pastor of this infant congregation collect funds for this chapel. In seeking them he visited nearly every corner of the three kingdoms. We understand from himself, and we are happy to hear it, that he has not been unsuccessful. Still he does not flatter himself that his difficulties are at an end: he is well aware that his congregation, however well inclined, are too few and too poor to support a clergyman, and that for years he will have to struggle with poverty; this will be more apparent in a short time hence, as his principal station, lying 21 miles from Stirling, is to be formed into a new and separate congregation, and placed under the care of another pastor. Donations for finishing and supporting the Stirling chapel will be thankfully received by Philip Jones, Esq., Llanarth-court, Monmouthshire, its first and one of its principal benefactors; Messrs. ALMS HOUSE FUND.

"So we being many, are one body in Christ, and each one members one of another: loving one another with a brotherly love; communicating to the necessities of the Saints: pursuing hospitality."—ROM. xii.

THE managers of the Aged Poor Society beg to inform the Catholic public, that the money subscribed some years since, for the purpose of building Alms-houses, and lately transferred to them by the deceased Right Rev. Dr. Bramston, has been invested in the funds; and the same will, with the interest arising, (which interest will be also promptly invested,) form an accumulating fund for one of the most desirable purposes Catholic benevolence could contemplate, while to alleviate the severities of the present rigid discipline, in the administration of parochial relief, renders the completion of this holy design more particularly requisite; and the Committee cherish the most sanguine expectations of this appeal eliciting extensive support.

"Stretch out thy hand to the poor, that thy expiation and thy blessing may be perfected."—ECCLES. vii.

ST. PATRICK'S CHARITY SCHOOLS,
AND
ASYLUM FOR FEMALE ORPHANS,
TUDOR PLACE, TOTTENHAM COURT ROAD.

President, the Right Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury and Waterford; Vice-Presidents, Earl of Fingall, the Rev. Dr. Collins, Daniel O'Connell, Esq. M. P., G. B. Kelly, Esq., Andrew Loughnan, Esq., and Alexander Raphael, Esq.; Treasurer, Henry Barnewall, Esq.; Bankers, Messrs. Wright and Co.; Secretary, Mr. M. T. Harley.

Patroness of the Female Orphan Asylum, the Countess of Shrewsbury.

Since the establishment of St. Patrick's Charity in 1803, it has been extensively beneficial in all its branches.—It has shed its influence over a destitute and unfortunate people, thousands of whom have become useful members of society, who might otherwise have become the victims of ignorance and depravity. The improved aspect of St. Giles's bears testimony to its utility. Order has to an important degree succeeded to riot, industry to idleness, respect for the laws to unbridled licentiousness, and a thirst for knowledge to gross ignorance; thus exemplifying the words of an address in behalf of St. Patrick's Charity, by a man who will ever rank high among the most gifted sons of Ireland, and to whose zeal, patriotism, and eloquence, it principally owes its origin (the late Father O'Leary) "that it is religion alone that makes a man virtuous in the dark, and honest without a witness." Under one roof St. Patrick's Charity now possesses three spacious schools, capable of accommodating collectively nearly 500, and separately about 160 children each. Two of them for the boys are approached through an entrance at the opposite part of the building to that which forms the access to the girls' school, and the construction of the schools as well as the approaches preclude all communication. An angle of the structure forms a small residence, which has been converted into an ASYLUM FOR DESTITUTE FEMALE ORPHANS, in which these forlorn and interesting objects are wholly provided for, being clothed, maintained, and educated. This branch of the charity is honoured by the distinguished patronage of the Countess of Shrewsbury, and the orphans are maintained exclusively by the annual subscriptions and donations of ladies. To their benevolence is destitute orphanage indebted for the re-establishment of an asylum, which the poverty of St. Patrick's Charity had previously compelled it to abandon.

To afford a shelter for female innocence, and guard its purity unsullied, by deep and solid impressions of virtue, are objects so interesting, that they can scarcely fail to excite the benevolence of all, who, sensible of the blessings extended to them by an all merciful God, are taught by religion to exemplify their gratitude by ministering to the wants of the children of misfortune.

The extensive benefits which have been and are daily conferred on society by St. Patrick's Charity, eminently entitle it to public support.—Its objects are to preserve innocence, inculcate principles of morality, encourage industry, promote order, and by a well organized system of early education, to secure the foundation of public and private happiness, but without a liberal protection and extensive generosity, the existence of the Institution must be compromised. The Governors therefore appeal confidently to that benevolence which has hitherto upheld the Charity, and solicit its continuance and extension as the only means of insuring to the poor the advantages they have hitherto derived.

Subscriptions and donations are received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; by Henry Barnewall, Esq. of Hampstead, and Copthall-court, Throckmorton-street; by G. B. Kelly, Esq., Acton; by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; by Mr. M. T. Harley, Secretary; and by Keating and Brown.

(St. Patrick's Charity schools are under the spiritual direction of the Chaplains of St. Patrick's Chapel.)

ASSOCIATED CATHOLIC CHARITIES,

For educating, clothing, and apprenticing, the children of poor Catholics, and providing an Asylum for destitute Male Orphans.

Subscriptions and donations are received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths; Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; the Rev. Gentlemen of the committee; the Treasurer; by the Secretaries, Mr. Leek, Junior, 37, Coleman-street; Mr. James Scoles, Junior, Coal Wharf, Regent's-park-basin; and Mr. Summersgill, 65, Lamb's Conduit-street; and by Mr. A. W. Harrison, General Secretary, 62, Farringdon-street, City.

Besides the Orphan and Apprenticing branches, the Associated Charities have Six great schools; two near Moorfields; two near Lincoln's-inn-fields, and two in Marylebone, in which above 900 children of both sexes are educated.

(Each of these schools are under the spiritual direction of the chaplains of the chapels nearest to them.)

SPITALFIELDS FREE SCHOOLS,

Spicer-street, Brick-lane, Spitalfields. Patron, Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths. Situated in one of the most depraved parts of the metropolis, this Institution claims particularly the charitable support of the Catholic public. Its grand object is to instil into the minds of infants the sound principles of a moral and religious education, that they may be preserved from the corrupting influence of the bad example by which they are surrounded. The 200 children who are under its fostering care, are for the most part the children of parents of the poorest order, whom poverty compels to live in those wretched alleys, courts and corners, which are the usual haunts of the lewd, vicious, and abandoned. The support of these schools has been greatly curtailed of late by the depression in the silk business, and the want of employment to the labouring classes, who were weekly contributors. Thanks to our good God, liberal support has been bestowed from other sources, for which the managers return their sincerest acknowledgments; it has enabled them to erect two spacious school-rooms, and left but a small debt remaining: they trust that the bounty of the Catholic public will soon enable them to defray it, as also to clothe the poor naked child.

Left-off wearing apparel will be thankfully received, and by notice given to the Rev. Wm. Woods, Moorfields, or Mr. Janes Sweeney, of Elder-street, Spitalfields, will be sent for to any part of the town.

Subscriptions are received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V. A. Mr. James Sweeney, Treasurer, 7, Elder-street, Spitalfields; by the Trustees, the Rev. Wm. Woods, of Moorfields' Chapel, and Mr. W. J. Lescher, Thomas-street, Whitechapel, and at Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers.

SOUTHWARK CHARITY SCHOOLS,

For Poor Boys and Girls, attached to the Catholic Chapel, London-road, St. George's-fields.

The Rev. Thos. Doyle, President; the Rev. J. Radford, and Rev. John White, Vice-Presidents; Mr. Michael Forrestal, Treasurer and Secretary, 7, Charlotte-row, Walworth. These schools are supported by subscriptions and donations, which will be gratefully received by the President, Vice-Presidents, or Treasurer, or at the chapel-house, London-road, Southwark. There are now educating at these schools upwards of 100 poor children.

EAST LONDON CATHOLIC INSTITUTION,

For educating and clothing poor Catholic children. Schools for 200 boys and 150 girls, 14, Red Lion-street, Wapping.

In this quarter youthful depravity lamentably prevails; a very great portion of the children are unavoidably left to receive their first impressions from street companions, often wicked themselves, and artful in perverting others. Owing to this, bands of juvenile depredators have alarmingly increased: and many youthful criminals have pined in a prison, or suffered on a scaffold, who by a good education might have been made pious christians, and respectable members of society. Deign then, ye patrons of education; ye advocates of loyalty; ye zealous promoters of virtue and religion, deign to take under your protection so many hundreds of poor infants so deserving of pity, and so solicitous for your patronage.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. Patron; Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers; A. Loughnan, Esq. Coleman-street; the Treasurers, G. Gibson, Esq. Ratcliff-highway, and W. Lescher, Esq. Thomas-street, Whitechapel; by the chaplains of Virginia-street chapel, or any of the gentlemen of the committee.

ST. FRANCIS' CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOL,

19, George-street, St. Giles's.

The committee are only discharging a duty, in appealing to the more wealthy of their communion in behalf of this struggling institution—they ask you to rescue these children from the vice of the streets, intreating your contribution, however small. Do this, and the lustre of your benevolence will shine forth in the future lives of these little ones. Do this, and your reward will be exceeding great in heaven.

The school is open for inspection every day from 9 till 4; the children are under the spiritual instructions of the Rev. gentlemen of St. Patrick's chapel. The Holy Sacrifice will be offered up for the benefactors, on the Feast of St. Francis Xavier, at which the children will attend.

Donations will be received by the Rev. Mr. Norris, Little Russell-street, Bloomsbury; and by Mr. Corvan, Treasurer, Buckridge-street, Bloomsbury, Coal-merchant.

ST. ALOYSIUS'S CHARITY SCHOOLS,

Somers' Town.

The public are already well informed of the nature of these schools, in which about 36 girls are gratuitously supported, the remainder paying from £8 to £12 per annum. There is a separate school for Female day scholars, about 50 of whom are gratuitously fed, and partially clothed. The third division of this establishment comprises more than 130 boys; 32 of whom are boarded and lodged for the annual sum of £13 each. Needle-work is taken in and done by the elder girls in the best manner.

The Rev. J. Nerinckx has definitively taken a house at Tottenham, to extend the good accomplished by these schools, in which "there are upwards of 40 children, who are educated on the same plan, and by the same religious Ladies who direct the schools at Somers' Town. They have also opened there a separate school for Female day scholars. The Rev. J. Nerinckx confidently trusts that the friends of religion and humanity will, by their charitable assistance, enable him not only to continue, but to increase his endeavours to promote the glory of God and the salvation of souls."

POPLAR, BLACKWALL, AND LIMEHOUSE
CHARITY SCHOOLS.

To secure a continuance of the invaluable blessing of education to between 200 and 300 poor children, the charity of the Public is most respectfully, but earnestly solicited; the contributions of the congregation being quite inadequate.

The Sectarians in this neighbourhood are exerting themselves to the utmost to draw the children from their religion; and the Catholics of this congregation are too poor to support these schools by themselves. The contributions therefore of those benevolent individuals who are looking out for objects of real charity are most humbly but earnestly requested. The Rev. A. B. Barber will thankfully receive the contributions of the faithful.

GREENWICH AND DEPTFORD SCHOOLS.

Established in 1823, for the children of the Catholic Pensioners of Greenwich Hospital, and the poor Catholic children of Deptford. The annual public breakfast, which at their commencement was the chief support of these schools, has been discontinued, having proved a source of much anxiety and little profit. They are at present kept in existence by the hard-earned weekly pence of a very poor congregation.

CHARITABLE INSTITUT. IN AND NEAR LONDON. 67

Subscriptions and donations received by the Patron, Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths; Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers; and by the spiritual director of the school, the Rev. Richard North, Greenwich.

HAMMERSMITH.

Two schools having been opened for the instruction of the poor Catholic children of Hammersmith and vicinity, and for clothing them, the assistance of the benevolent is humbly solicited.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, and the Rev. F. Bellissent, spiritual director of the schools, Convent, Hammersmith.

TOTTENHAM.

These schools were lately opened to give religious education to the poor Catholic children in and about Tottenham, Edmonton, and vicinity. Without them the children would be either decoyed into the numerous sectarian schools in the neighbourhood, or suffered to wander about the streets, exposed to every kind of wickedness: they are, therefore, an asylum for these poor children; but to continue them open, pecuniary assistance is indispensable, for the pastor has no funds at his disposal.

Subscriptions will be most thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; by the Rev. Randall Lythgoe, 14, York-place, Baker-street; by the Rev. Chaplains, at Moorfields' Chapel; and by the Rev. Thomas Ewart, Chapel-place, White Hart-lane, Tottenham.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

For the Relief of the Aged and Infirm Poor, Instituted, 1761.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V. A. L. Patron and President; the Rev. John Rolfe, of Moorfields Chapel, Henry Barnewall, Esq. Thomas Barnewall, Esq. and Alexander Raphael, Esq. Vice Presidents; Henry Barnewall, Esq. Copthall-court, Treasurer.—The great numbers, the advanced age, and the destitute condition of the poor objects depending on this Institution for relief, give them a powerful, and it is hoped an irresistible, claim on the liberal charity of the public. From it, 80 of the most destitute of the aged and infirm Poor are receiving a weekly pittance, barely sufficient to support existence. Except in cases of aggravated distress, none are admitted under the age of 60 ; but a great proportion of them are between 70 and 90 years old ; and several are bearing the burthen of almost 100 years' accumulated infirmities : one who has been a pensioner more than 30 years, has attained the almost patriarchal age of 108 ; and another has lately been added to the list who is 111 years old.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. the Patron and President of the Society ; the Rev. Chaplains of Moorfields, St. George's-fields, and Virginia-street Chapels ; the Treasurer, Copthall-court ; Mr. Leek, Coleman-street ; and by Messrs. Wright, & Co. Bankers.

* * For the information of Subscribers, the following Regulations are extracted from the Rules of the Society.—Each Subscriber of one guinea per annum for three years, has the right of recommending one poor object as a weekly pensioner. Four masses in each month are regularly offered for the Benefactors, living and dead.

SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF THE AGED POOR.

Established near 200 years.—Patron and President, the Right. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V. A. L. Vice-Presidents, Rt. Rev. Wm. Morris, Hon. M. Stourton, Hon. Mr. Jerningham, Right Hon. Lord Clifford, Hon. Edward Petre, Rev. Dr. Baldacconi, Rev. T. Doyle, Rev. J. J. Morel, Rev. J. Silveira, Rev. Dr. Voyaux de Franous, and Rev. Randal Lythgoe.

The directors of this valuable Institution respectfully invite the attention of the Catholic Public to its beneficial operations, and at the same time gratefully acknowledge the distinguished support it continues to receive. The allowance granted protects the aged Catholic from a Workhouse, which to the benevolent and pious must of itself be a powerful appeal. Between 60 and 70 are in possession of the pension, and nearly as many more are anxiously waiting for admission, most of whom are upwards of 70, and many 80, and one 105, years of age. With this short description, and communicating the practice of distributing at Christmas the usual gifts, the Committee will content themselves.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. the Patron and President ; the Vice-Presidents ;

Messrs. Wright, & Co. Bankers ; Mr. Robinson, Treasurer, 6, Henrietta-street. Covent-garden ; and Mr. Summersgill, Secretary, No. 65, Lambsconduit-street.

SOCIETY OF CHARITABLE SISTERS.

(Established January, 1814.)

Among the various charitable Institutions of the metropolis, this old established Association presents strong claims to the notice and support of a generous Public. The class of persons to whose relief it has been principally devoted, are poor lying-in women of good character. The Charitable Sisters do not undertake the impossible task of supplying the necessities of the poor which may be occasioned by the want of employment, changes of season, or any other cause apart from the important and interesting period of childbirth. Besides the temporary relief, in supplying additional clothing, &c., which is at that time so much required, this Society endeavours to confer blessings of a permanent nature, by religious and pious instructions ; these exertions are the more called for, from the active and unceasing efforts made by the enemies of our faith, by refusals of relief and by bounties on apostacy, to withdraw distressed families from the pale of our holy religion.

The Committee gratefully acknowledge the kind and generous support they have met with, and respectfully and earnestly implore the co-operation of the charitably disposed, particularly of the gentler sex, to aid them by donations of money, left-off wearing apparel, &c. If the benevolence of the public should enable them, the Committee would feel most desirous of administering occasional relief to poor widows, for cases of deep distress come under their notice, but which the low state of their funds have compelled them hitherto to withhold assistance from. Any lady or gentleman wishing to obtain further particulars of the Society's affairs, by applying to the Secretary, Mr. Dinmore, 3 City-road, may have the last year's report with the list of Subscribers transmitted to them.

Donations will be thankfully received by the Rev. R. Horrabin, Chaplain to the Society, by the Reverend Gentlemen of Moorfields and Virginia-street chapels, and the clergy generally, by all Catholic Booksellers and by Mr. Dinmore Secretary, &c., City-road.

The Committee respectfully announce that they will endeavour to increase still further the attraction of their Annual Steam Boat Excursion, which will take place about the usual period, and return their grateful thanks to those ladies and gentlemen whose kind exertions have made their former trips, both pleasing and profitable.

ASSOCIATION POUR LES PAUVRES MALADES.

Chapelle Catholique Francaise de King-street, Portman-square.

Une association pour le soulagement des pauvres Malades, fut formee il y a vingt neuf ans dans cette chapelle pour ceux de arrondissement. Cette association a pour but d'etablir entres les membres une communion de prieres, de visiter les malades, de leur procurer les secours spirituels et corporels, autant qu'il est possible. Pour rendre cet Etablissement plus avantageux aux malades, et moins dispendieux, il fut necessaire de se precurer les meubles souvenables a la situation des malades, tels que, chemises, draps, serviettes, &c. &c.

Un petit sacrifice temporel leur procurera de grands avantages spirituels et d'un ordre bien superieur a tous les biens de ce monde. Ces avantages sont: les merites de l'aumone, la participation aux prieres et aux bonnes œuvres de l'association, les prieres publiques, consistant dans le Salut et la Benediction du St. Sacrement, qu'on donne tous les premiers Dimanches de chaque mois, pour le associes, un service solennel qu'on celebre tous les ans, le lendemain des trepasses pour les associes defunts, une messe qu'on dit pour chaque associe apres sa mort, les prieres particulieres des malheureux qui ont ete soulages dans leur maladies, dont la voix ne peut manquer d'etre entendue et exaucee par celui qui declare fait a lui-meme l'aumone qu'on fait au moindre des siens.

N. 1. Quoique cette association fut originaiement formee en faveur des pauvres Francais Emigres de l'arrondissement de la chapelle; neanmoins plusieurs Anglais et Anglaises y ont eu, et y ont encore part, a raison des alliances qu'ils ont contractees.

2. La soucription annuelle a lieu dans le mois de Janvier; ordinairement on souscrit a la Sacristie de la Chapelle.

3. Les personnes qui desirent souscrire comme bienfaitrices seulement, peuvent se faire inscrire en tous tems, soit a la Chapelle, ou chez MM. Wright et Co. Covent-garden.

"Aided by your willing exertions, your Committee is cheered in the task it has undertaken, and is comforted under the satisfactory assurance that lasting good will, by the divine blessing, result from instructing the young and keeping them from 'evil communications which corrupt good manners' (1 Cor. xv. 35); and by instilling into their susceptible minds the necessity of avoiding those who, evil themselves, would inevitably communicate 'their poison to them.' In the declination of days, taking a retrospective glance of the spring-time of life, they will love the way in which, by you, they have been taught to walk, and, imploring a benediction upon your children's children, they will oft feelingly repeat, 'How excellent it is for a man who has borne the yoke of the Lord from his youth ;' Lamentations, iii. 7.

"The late enlargement of the School has given admittance to Forty additional Boys. The Charity is therefore blessed. At present, the number of Boys in the School is 130, who are rescued from ignorance, and, we trust, instructed in virtue and sound morality. The Girl's School is satisfactory to your Committee ; it contains from 80 to 90. Thus far our remarks apply to the Day Schools. To speak of the Sunday Schools is also pleasing to your Committee. Viewing the gratifying end of such institutions, most assuredly they offer a valuable assistance to those whose avocations forbid daily attention. They have for object the removal of ignorance and vice ; the teaching of the young aspirant after good the full force of the divine precept : ' Remember thou keep holy the Sabbath-day.' "

COBRIDGE.

St. Peter's School.

The number of our scholars has been at one time about 400. Here is a large field for charity and the lovers of education. The smallest donation will be thankfully received by the Rev. L. Gerard, Cobridge.

DUDLEY.

Catholic Day and Sunday Schools.

Patron, the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury.

These schools were opened in July 1836. When it is mentioned that these institutions afford the benefit of a religious education to a numerous class of children, who from their poverty and local circumstances, would perhaps be otherwise buried in ignorance ; enough has been said to recommend them to public attention. As the means for supporting these schools are at present very precarious, the aid of the charitable is respectfully solicited.

Benefactors or subscribers, whether to the mission or schools, are referred to the Right Rev. Dr. Walsh, the Hon. and Rev. Geo. Spencer, and to the Rev. James O'Neill.

NORWICH.

The day and Sunday schools which recently have been attached to St. John's Chapel in this city, stand in great need of charitable support.

Patron, The Rt. Hon. Earl of Shrewsbury; Patroness, The Hon. Lady Mary Talbot.

All men are vain in whom there is not a knowledge of God.
WISDOM, xiii. 1.

Every exertion is used to ground the children solidly in the truths of our holy religion, more especially the practical parts, such as the love and fear of Almighty God—affection and obedience to parents—strict honesty, and punctuality in every duty. Also, the necessity of great cleanliness and neatness in person—exactness in attending at school and the sacred services of the church—the great propriety of abstaining from vanity in dress, which frequently leads to such miserable consequences to persons in the humble ranks of life. After religious and other duties, great care is taken to instruct them thoroughly in needle-work, reading, spelling, writing, (to the elder girls,) and in those things that will tend, it is hoped, to make them good Christians, and useful members of society.

The Sunday school for both boys and girls is well attended, and zealously taught by members of the congregation, who freely and meritoriously give their services. At present there are upwards of 200 Sunday scholars.

It is fervently and humbly hoped, that many who may read this plain statement, will charitably assist the good work in procuring the blessing of that wisdom, “which is able to make us wise unto salvation.” Much is not craved, “only the crumbs that fall from the table.”

Subscriptions and donations are received by the Rt. R. Dr. Walsh, Wolverhampton; Rev. R. W. Willson, Nottingham; and Messrs Wright and Co. Bankers, London.

The necessity of affording to their numerous children such an education as by preserving in them the faith of their fathers, may also render them loyal and peaceable subjects, must be so obvious, as to make it essential only to add, that the present lowness of the funds of this charity, renders this appeal to the benevolent indispensable.

*Catholic Society for the Distribution of Welsh Prayer
Books, &c.*

As the Welsh are in many places totally ignorant of the English language, it may be easily imagined how many difficulties the missionary has to encounter in instructing a people when he has not a single book of instruction to put into their hands. The object therefore of this society, is to publish and distribute among the poor Catholics of the principality, such books as are thought best calculated for persons in their situation. The Catechism and the Garden of the Soul &c. are already published; these will be followed by the Think Well On't, &c. as funds permit.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Baines, Prior Park, Bath; by Messrs. Jones & Co. Bankers, Abergavenny; the Rev. E. Metcalfe, of Newport, Monmouthshire; the Rev. F. Lythgoe, Ho'lywell, Flintshire; and the Rev. E. Carbery, Bangor.

THE ENGLISH CATHOLIC LIBRARY, AT ROME.

The Very Rev. Mgr. Wiseman, D. D., Rector of the English College, Treasurer.—Count Hawks le Grice, Honorary Librarian.

This library is established for the purpose of lending gratuitously, English books treating of religious controversy and of piety, not only to English Catholics, but more especially to their Protestant countrymen visiting Rome.

It has been remarked, that Protestants, on their arrival in this seat of Catholicism, are much struck with the ceremonies of the church, which generally create a desire to be made acquainted with the meaning and origin of these sacred functions. The spirit of enquiry once excited in the mind, will not easily repose till it finds the truth. It is then that well selected books have been oftentimes the means of removing prejudices, and at last have proved instrumental in opening the eyes, and convincing many of the most bigotted. The many proofs lately given of these happy effects of books of instruction in the Catholic faith have induced the proper authorities in Rome to give their assent and approbation towards the establishment of so laudable an institution. The Librarian, in virtue of his office, most respectfully solicits of his Catholic brethren, donations in books or in money, which may be forwarded to the Treasurer.

Subscriptions are received by Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers, and a Book of Subscriptions in either money or books, is opened at Keating and Brown's, who will give to the subscriber their written acknowledgment for the money, or for the books contributed, specifying their titles and number.

ENGLISH CATHOLIC COLLEGES.

ST. EDMUND'S COLLEGE.

Old Hall Green, near Ware, Hertfordshire.

The Rev. RICHARD NEWELL, D. D. President. Agent for the College, the Rev. Francis Tuite, No. 35, Golden-square. The plan of education and terms may be had by applying as above, or to any of the following Rev. gentlemen; the Rev. Dr. Baldaconi, Sardinian Chapel, Lincoln's-inn-fields; the Rev. Thos. Doyle, London-road, St. George's-fields; the Rev. Wm. Hunt, Catholic Chapel, Southampton; the Rev. F. Jarrett, Spanish chapel, Spanish-place; the Rev. G. Last, Ingatstone Hall, Essex; the Rev. Thos. Long, Dean-street, Soho; and the Rev. Wm. Woods, St. Mary's, Moorfields.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

Oscott, near Birmingham.

The Rev. HENRY WEEDALL, D. D. President; Rev. ROBERT RICHMOND, Vice-president; admits students at any age from 8 to 14. The plan of education is formed on a scale of comprehensiveness, as suitable to those who are destined for business, as to those who are born to independence, or who are designed for any of the learned professions.

For particular information apply to the President.

ST. PETER'S COLLEGE,

Prior Park, near Bath.

The Institution at Prior Park consists of two distinct establishments, or colleges, dedicated to the Apostles SS. Peter and Paul, under the general direction of the Right Rev. Dr.

Baines, Bishop of Siga and Vicar Apostolic; and the immediate superintendence of the very Rev. Dr. Brindle, V. G. Regent.

St. Peter's College is appropriated to junior students, or to those engaged in the primary or scholastic branches of education. The course of studies comprises in addition to the Greek and Latin languages, elementary instruction in various branches of science and literature, calculated to give a taste for study, and to serve as a ground work for more extensive subsequent acquirements. Particular attention is given to geography and history, as also to English composition, reading, and elocution.

The students sleep in separate beds, but have not separate rooms.

The pension for those under 14 years of age is 40 guineas per annum, above 14, 50 guineas.

The following items are extra charges.—French, Italian, and other modern foreign languages, one guinea per quarter each; drawing, painting, music and fencing, one guinea per quarter each; drilling, 15s. per quarter; washing and mending, 30s. per quarter. Clothing, books, stationery, medical attendance, pocket money, postage of letters, and carriage of parcels, according to the expenditure of individuals.

Each student provides himself with a silver fork and spoon.

ST. PAUL'S COLLEGE.

is appropriated to students of more advanced age or acquirements.

The studies are academical, comprising the classical, scientific, and literary courses, usually assigned to the University. Individuals whose education has been neglected, or who require particular assistance, are provided with private tutors.

The students have private bed-rooms, and a separate table with the superiors and professors.

The pension for board, lodging, and the public course of instruction is 100 guineas per annum.

The extra charges are furniture for the bed-room, which each student may dispose of on leaving the college, and other items as in St. Peter's college.

The pension for both establishments, as well as extras for washing, mending, and pocket-money, are paid half-yearly in advance.

The annual vacations for both colleges begin in the second week in July, and continue till the end of August.

The annual courses open on the Monday of the first week in September.

Application to be made to the very Rev. Dr. Brindle, Regent, Prior Park; and in London to the Rev. Dr. Baldacconi, Sardinian House, 54. Lincoln's-inn-fields.

USHAW COLLEGE.

near Durham.

The REV. CHARLES NEWSHAM. Ushaw College, about four miles West from the City of Durham, in a fine and salubrious situation, commands a view of the beautiful country around it. The course of studies pursued in this Establishment is equally calculated to qualify Catholic Youth for the Ecclesiastical state and for the various situations of secular life. The plan of education comprises the Grammar and the elegancies of the English, French, Italian, Latin, and Greek languages; writing, arithmetic and book-keeping; history, ancient and modern; geography and the use of the globes; mathematics; poetry; rhetoric; logic, the philosophy of the human mind, metaphysics and ethics; the usual branches of natural philosophy, with astronomy, chemistry, mineralogy and geology. The pension is £50 per annum. This sum includes the expenses of board, lodging, clothing, washing, and every other necessary expense. No extra charge is made for instruction either in the French and Italian languages, or in the usual branches of natural philosophy, &c. Music, drawing, dancing, fencing, and similar accomplishments are taught at option, on reasonable terms, by the ablest masters. These, as well as medical attendance, are extra charges. The summer vacation begins and closes with the month of July. For further particulars, applications may be made to the President of the College.

STONYHURST COLLEGE,

Blackburn, Lancashire.

Rev. J. BROWNBILL, President. The plan of education and the terms may be had by applying to the President, or to the Rev. Randal Lythgoe, 14, York-place, Baker-street, London.

AMPLEFORTH COLLEGE, near York.

Under the direction of the Rev. Samuel Day. Students are received for the ecclesiastical and secular state. For terms and plan of education, apply to the Rev. Samuel Day as above, or the Rev. Ralph Cooper, Bath; the Rev. Henry Brewer, Brown-edge, near Preston; and the Rev. Thomas Cockshoot, Coventry.

Each young gentleman is to bring with him a silver fork and spoon.—There is one vacation of a month at Midsummer, after the public examination.

Letters are to be directed to the Rev. S. Day, Ampleforth College, York; on Parcels is to be added, “to be forwarded by the Hemsley Coach,” which runs within a mile of the College, to York, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and returns on the other three days from the “York Tavern,” at two o’clock.

ST. GREGORY’S COLLEGE,

Downside, near Bath.

Under the direction of REV. DR. BROWN, For terms and other particulars apply to the Rev. Dr. Brown as above; the Rev. Luke Barber, Salford House, Evesham; the Rev. Samuel Phillips, Woolton Priory, Liverpool; and the Rev. Thomas Heptonstall, Acton.

GERMAN COLLEGE,

Broadway, Worcestershire.

Conducted by the Gentlemen formerly of Lamspring in Germany.

This college is particularly recommended to natives of Germany, and of those countries in which the German language prevails, who are desirous of acquiring a speedy and grounded knowledge of the English, and to others, desirous of learning the German language, particular attention being paid to its cultivation. The French language is taught by a native of France.

In addition to a classical education, care is taken to fit the student, destined for public life, for the department in which he is intended to be placed. For this end, and for the acquisition of general knowledge, frequent conferences are held by the students in conjunction with their masters; wherein not only literature, the arts, and the sciences, but the passing occurrences of the day, and the subjects which occupy the public mind, are made matter for discussion, so as to familiarize the young aspirant to the interchanges of opinions, and the exercise of debate; strict regard being paid to elocution, which is regulated by the principles of the late Mr. Thelwall; by which also are resolved the intricacies of the rhythmus of language and the anomalies of modern prosodies.

For particulars apply to Rev. C. Kershaw, Broadway, Worcestershire; or to the Very Rev. Dr. Marsh, Warrington.

Broadway is a Post-office Village, on the road from Oxford to Worcester, and from Cheltenham to Leamington: three London coaches pass through daily.

ST. EDMUND'S COLLEGE, DOWAY,

Dept. du Nord.

The terms are £32. per annum, clothing not included; or £40. without any extra charge whatever, except for music, drawing, and dancing. Church students are taken at £30. per annum, which covers every expense.

Further information may be obtained from the Rev. J. F. Appleton, Superior, Douay, Dept. du Nord, France; the Rev. J. Heptonstall, Acton; Rev. T. M. M'Donnell, Birmingham; and the Rev. R. W. Willson, Nottingham.

CATHOLIC COLLEGE IN SCOTLAND.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE,

Blairs, near Aberdeen.

Rev. JOHN SHARP, PRESIDENT; Rev. Alexander Grant, James Clapperton, and James Glennie, Professors; Rev. Donald Carmichael, Procurator.

This is now the only establishment in Scotland designed to educate youth for the Scottish Mission: young gentlemen not intended for the ecclesiastical state are also received for their education.

Blairs College is situate in a pleasant part of the country, on the right bank of the river Dee, (Kincardineshire,) within six miles of Aberdeen. No pains or expense have been spared for the proper accommodation and domestic comfort of the students, and the playgrounds are delightful.

The plan of education comprises all that is usually taught in Catholic Colleges,—as reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, with the use of the globes; the English, Latin, Greek, and French languages, (the Italian and Spanish, if required), poetry, rhetoric, mathematics, philosophy in all its branches, and divinity. Students are received from eleven to sixteen years of age. The greatest care is taken of their health, and a strict attention is paid to their religious and moral instruction.

The terms for education are £30. per annum, to be paid half yearly in advance. Clothes, postages, &c. are extra charges. The students intended for the church pay board only during the first year; after which, if they are found to be fit subjects for the ecclesiastical state, they are maintained and educated gratis; if not, they must either retire, or continue to pay board. The time for receiving students into the College is fixed for the month of July. No entrance-money is required; but every student must bring along with him two suits of dark coloured clothes,—one of the suits to have a surtout coat.

Further particulars concerning the plan of studies, accommodations, &c. may be learned by applying to any of the R. R. Vicars Apostolic, or to the Superior of the College.

To the College is attached a small congregation, for which Mass is celebrated on Sunday at eleven o'clock, preceded by an exhortation, and followed by Christian doctrine. On Holy-days of obligation, the public service is at ten o'clock.

LEICESTERSHIRE, Catholic Preparatory School, Hinckley.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE, Northampton.

STAFFORDSHIRE,

Sedgley Park, near Wolverhampton.

The Rev. Joseph Bowden, President; the Rev. Henry Smith, Vice-President.

I. The children are to bring with them, two suits of clothes, six shirts, six pair of stockings, six pocket handkerchiefs, three pair of shoes, two hats, two combs, a knife, fork, and spoon. The spoon, if silver, or any article not required by the terms, will be returned, if demanded. Each of these articles, if not new, must be serviceable, otherwise, the deficiency, whether in number or quality, will be charged to account. All the Children's clothes, when they quit the school, as well as their journey, must be at the parents' expense; excepting such articles as may remain of what they brought with them.

II. The pension is twenty-six pounds a year, with one pound entrance (charge to only one of each family). The half-year's pension must always be paid in advance.

III. For this pension the students are furnished with a sound and useful education, board, good in kind and ample in quantity, clothes and linen, washing and mending, school-books (except French ones), pens, ink and paper;—the only extras, except as in Art. VIII. being pocket-money, postage, or medicines. Each boy has a bed to himself, and clean linen twice a week.

IV. The education comprises reading, writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, grammar, history and geography; also Latin and Greek, if desired, and without any extra charge, except ten shillings entrance. The students are also carefully instructed in the principles of the Catholic religion, and every attention is paid to secure proficiency in their studies, to enforce cleanliness of person and propriety of behaviour, as well as to watch over their moral conduct, and to impress on their minds early sentiments of piety and virtue.

V. A small weekly sum, at the option of the parents, is allowed for pocket-money; beyond this, no money can be sent or given to them but through the President.

VI. The annual vacation begins at Midsummer, and continues until the first of August. No charge is made for those who remain at school during the vacation, nor any deduction for absence then or at any other time. The age for admission is from 7 to 14. If they remain beyond their fourteenth year, the pension is increased two pounds each year; so as to be £28. for the fifteenth, £30. for the sixteenth, and so on.

VII. Parents, who wish it, may supply their children with clothes. The pension then is only £22. a year, and £1. a year increase after fourteen. These may either send the clothes down as they are wanted, or the school will furnish them at a moderate expense.

VIII. Drawing, dancing, and French are taught by approved masters. Drawing 15s. per quarter, and 5s. entrance; dancing 15s. per quarter; and French 10s. 6d. per quarter.

Agent for the school, Rev, John Rolfe, Moorfields Chapel.

N.B. Before any child can be sent to the school, due notice must be given, and the first half-year's pension paid in advance.

Young Gentlemen, from six to thirteen years of age, will be admitted on the following pension, to be paid half-yearly, in advance.—Board and Education, 25 guineas; Washing, 2 guineas.—The course of Education will comprise Reading, Writing, Arithmetic in all its branches, Book-keeping and Practical Land-Surveying, the Mathematics, Algebra and the Elements of Astronomy, Geography, and the Use of the Globes, History, sacred and profane, English Grammar, Elocution and the principles of composition, the Greek and Latin Languages.

—The French, German, and Spanish Languages; Dancing, Music, and Drawing, will be extra charges.—Each Young Gentleman will have a separate bed, and must be furnished with two pair of sheets, two pillow cases, four towels, a knife, fork, and silver spoon, to remain at the school, or he may pay in lieu of the above, Two Guineas.—No notice will be required previous to the removal of any Young Gentleman from the Academy, but no part of the pension paid in advance will be returned.—One Vacation only will be allowed, beginning on the twentieth of June, and ending with the last day of July; and should any Young Gentleman remain at the Academy during the Vacation, he will be charged Two Guineas extra.—The Rev. W. Hogarth will superintend the moral and religious departments of this establishment.—Mr. Kirkley trusts that Parents will not solicit leave of absence for their children at Christmas, and that the Young Gentlemen will be punctual in returning for the first of August.

As Mr. Kirkley is particularly anxious to promote the health and moral improvement of his pupils, no less than their advancement in learning, he requests that information be given respecting the following particulars, viz.—date of birth, general health, temper and disposition, also whether the Young Gentlemen have had the Measles, Small Pox, Hooping Cough, or have been Vaccinated.

* * Two days in each week, a Drill-sergeant attends to exercise the Young Gentlemen in Walking, &c.

BELLE-VUE Academy is beautifully situated on a gentle declivity, near the town of Darlington, and commands an extensive view over one of the richest districts of South Durham, and the North Riding of the county of York. The plan of Studies adopted in this establishment, is well calculated to prepare youth for College, or to fit them for mercantile pursuit. The encouragement which Mr. Kirkley has met with, and the flattering testimonials he has received from Parents and from the heads of Colleges, when any of his pupils have been received, enable him to refer to the Right Rev. Bishop of the district, to the President of Ushaw, Stonyhurst, Ampleforth, and Downside Colleges, and to many of the first Catholic families in the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Lancashire, and Yorkshire, whose children have been under his care. No day scholars admitted. Coaches from the North and South pass within a short distance several times in the day, and there is a ready and cheap communication with Lancashire through Barnard Castle every day, except Sunday, and with London, by the Darlington and Stockton Rail road to Middlesborough, and thence by the Emerald Isle steamer to St. Catherine's dock, London.

Presentation Convent, Manchester.

The order of the Presentation has been for many years, diffused throughout a great part of Ireland, and has conferred incalculable benefits on that country, in the education of its female poor. Countless thousands of children owe the blessings of religious instruction to those true disciples of the God of charity, who have forsaken the world, to devote their entire lives to this important task.

The manufacturing towns in England stand in peculiar need of such institutions, and it must be admitted that the establishment of a Convent in a town like Manchester, where the number of the clergy bears no proportion to the dense Catholic population whom they have to instruct, is a great public blessing. Under this impression a Convent of the Presentation order was opened, about two years since, in Manchester; in the immediate vicinity of St. Patrick's church, and in a district containing twenty thousand Catholics. There are three large commodious and well ventilated school-rooms, capable of containing six hundred scholars. At present, only one of the rooms is occupied by two hundred children. Thrice that number might be got to attend, if the religious community were sufficiently large to attend to their instruction. An institution of this kind must appeal most forcibly to every Catholic heart. Here, the neglected children of the poor are taught their duties to God, their neighbour, and themselves; and receive a plain and useful education from the most disinterested and generous of all instructors. Here, the youthful mind is brought into contact with everything that is pure and attractive in religion, and is stamped with those heavenly impressions which no length of time can efface. Here, in fine, the obedient child, the modest virgin, the discreet matron, and the virtuous wife are formed in the nursery of piety, and become useful members, nay, ornaments of society; whilst but for existence of this institution, they might become a prey to the deplorable consequences of ignorance and vice.

The address of the Superioress, is Mrs. Sergeant, Presentation Convent, de Mercede, &c. Manchester.

ST. MARGARET'S CONVENT, EDINBURGH.

I. SISTERS OF CHARITY.

The two-fold object which the Ladies of St. Margaret's have in view, is the education of their own sex, both in the higher classes of society, and among the poor; and the relief of the destitute and of the sick.

A suitable mansion has accordingly been purchased in the immediate vicinity of Edinburgh, where the principal residence of the Community has been established, and where a Seminary for young Ladies has been recently opened; whilst those among the religious who act in the capacity of Sisters of Charity have taken up their abode at Milton House, in the old town of Edinburgh, where extensive accommodation has been provided for ministering to the wants of the Indigent Sick, and for The Female Catholic Charity Schools.

The friends of religion will rejoice to hear that the Convent of St. Margaret, upon which no expense has been spared to render it suited in every respect to its important destination as a place of female education, is already, by the blessing of God, beginning to prosper; but they will learn with equal feelings of regret, that very considerable exertions are still called for, in order to place the Charitable Branch of the institution upon a durable footing.

It is earnestly hoped, however, that the pious females to whose disinterested endeavours and personal sacrifices, the Catholics of Great Britain are indebted for the first establishment in this country of the Sisters of Charity, will not be found to have relied in vain upon the cordial co-operation of a benevolent public.

May it please the God of Charity to awaken in their behalf the generous sympathies of their more opulent fellow-Christians, and to grant unto their zeal the only satisfaction they aspire to in this world—that of being enabled soon to render permanent the work of mercy in which they have so courageously engaged.

Donations will be most thankfully received in behalf of either branch of the above establishments, in London, by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square, and Mrs. Loughnan, 23, Nottingham-place; Keating and Brown, and by Booker and Dolman, London; and in Edinburgh, by the Right Rev. Dr. Carruthers, Catholic Chapel House; and the Right Rev. Dr. Gillis, Green-hill-cottage, near Edinburgh.

Should any pious Catholic throughout England find it impossible to forward, because of the small amount of their contribution, what they might otherwise feel inclined to give, they will add to its value in the sight of Almighty God, by inducing a few friends, who may be similarly disposed, to join together their several donations, till they reach a sum that can be easily transmitted to any of the obliging individuals above mentioned.

2. LADIES' BOARDING SCHOOL at St. Margaret's Convent.

This establishment is situated in the immediate neighbourhood of the town, and is universally acknowledged to occupy one of the most salubrious spots in the environs of Edinburgh. The house itself is conveniently distributed for the purposes of a boarding school; the dormitories are spacious and well aired, and the pleasure grounds extensive. Annexed to the house is a commodious chapel, where the regular attendance of a clergyman affords constant opportunity for the practices of religion. Parents may rest assured that the most particular attention will be given to every circumstance connected with the health and comfort of their children. In case of sickness, the pupils will have the benefit of a cheerful and well aired infirmary, with the convenience of warm bath, &c. Medical attendance at the expense of the parents. Uniform to be furnished by the house, at the parent's expense;—for summer, buff gingham; for winter, brown stuff; white on holy-days. Each young lady must be provided with a knife, a silver fork and spoon, and half a dozen table napkins; two pair of sheets, and half a dozen towels; which will be returned when the pupil leaves the seminary. A quarter's notice is required previous to the removal of a pupil.

Terms: Board, including the following branches of education, viz.—English grammar, writing, arithmetic, geography, the use of the globes, history, outlines of astronomy, and natural history; needle-work, plain and ornamental, thirty guineas per annum; washing three guineas per annum; to be paid in advance, either quarterly or half-yearly. Extras, per quarter, French, including frequent exercises in conversation, one guinea; Drawing, one guinea; Music, £1 : 11 : 6; Italiany £2 : 2; dancing by a master. If desired, music and Italian b, masters.

For further particulars apply to Madame St. Hilaire, St. Margaret's Convent, Edinburgh; to R. R. Dr. Carruthers, Catholic Chapel House, Edinburgh; or to Rev. James Gillis, Green-hill-cottage, Edinburgh. Letters post paid.

••• This diocese is divided into four districts, in each of which there are four theological conferences in the year, conducted by the bishop in person ; and in case any other unavoidable duty compels him to be absent, his lordship's place is filled by the Very Rev. Dr. Slevin, V. G. ; and the Very Rev. Messrs. O'Beirne, Sheridan, and Mc Keon, in their respective districts.

There is one convent, of the Franciscan Order, in Athlone, of which the Very Rev. Joseph O'Donovan is Prior.

There are religious libraries and christian-doctrine confraternities in almost every parish ; and it is hoped that, before long, they will be established in all.

With two exceptions, every parish in the diocese has one or more, newly built and well slated chapels. Public decency, morality, and religion, have been greatly benefited by the publication of excellent diocesan statutes. Night-wakes no longer exhibit the disgusting scenes, which heretofore disgraced the country parts of Ireland : on the contrary, nothing is to be heard in the "house of mourning" from the time the poor Catholic dies until the interment takes place, but prayer, and the office of the dead, solemnly repeated by discreet and proper persons, appointed for that purpose.

Education has been greatly on the advance for the last few years : particularly that religious education which consists in an accurate knowledge of the mysteries and other saving truths of christianity. Although the greater portion of the diocese is poor, and consequently without the assistance which Nunneries and other religious establishments would afford, still, even the poorest children are made acquainted with their duty towards God and man, by having Sunday-schools established in each town-land, where all who cannot attend instructions in the chapel, hear the catechism properly taught for some hours on every Sunday and festival.

The exertions of the clergy to produce peace and tranquillity have been crowned with success. Party-quarrels have entirely ceased; and secret societies, so inimical to charity and religion, are happily banished from the different parishes of this widely-extended diocese.

CHAPELS IN DROMORE.

1 Cathedral, Hill-street, Boat-street Chapel, Shin, Sheeptown. 2 Dromara. 3 Glenn, Barr. 4 Moira, Magherlin. 5 Monteith, Magherel. 6 Loughbrickland, Sisinagade. 7 Dromore, Ballyalley. 8 Rosstrevor, Kil-lowne. 9 Tullylish, Clare, Banbridge. 10 Hilltown, Cabra. 11 Derrymacash, Bluestone. 12 Gargary, Dichament. 13 Warrenpoint, Mayo, Burne. 14 Lurgan. 15 Leitrim. 16 Barnmeen, Rathfriland, Drumgath. 17 Dunmore, Ballynahinch.

Religion, for many years past, has been steadily advancing in the diocese of Dromore. This happy result is, in a great measure, to be ascribed to the zeal of the bishops and pastors in forwarding the sacred cause of the education of the poor, and in establishing the religious confraternities of the church.

At a time when Catholic donations were not safe from the harpies of "Charitable bequests," the Right Rev. Doctor Lennon, the then bishop, in 1801, bequeathed six hundred pounds for the purposes of education, and the Newry chapel poor-school will transmit to grateful posterity, the name of its venerated founder. The Right Rev. Doctor Derry, successor to Dr. Lennon in the same see, has also left for education the sum of five hundred pounds; which, after the demise of two respectable relatives, will be converted to that purpose.

In the town of Newry, in the year 1830, a branch of the sacred Institute of Saint Clare was established under the auspices of the late Primate, the Most Rev. Dr. Kelly, when Bishop of Dromore. His Lordship was indebted to the late Rev. James Gilmer, parish priest of Rosstrevor, for the necessary means to commence the good work. The branch which formed this community is originally from Harold's Cross, Dublin. When they left that city, they were only four in number, and in the short space of seven years, they can reckon nine professed sisters, four novices, and four lay sisters.

The Convent is entirely a new erection, and, notwithstanding the short time that has elapsed since its commencement, it is now second to none in Ireland. The work has so rapidly progressed that nothing but the kind intention of Divine Providence can account for it. Besides their many other important duties, those estimable ladies educate daily about three hundred female children, and support an orphan Institute. The present Rev. Mother Abbess is Mrs. M. M. Tracy.

From the unceasing care of the apostolic Prelate, the entire body, both priests and people seem to have imbibed his zeal, and to be animated by his spirit. Although one of the smallest, and certainly among the poorest dioceses in Ireland, yet within the last few years, not less than sixteen new churches have been built; and some of them among the very best and tasteful erections in the country.

PROVINCE OF LEINSTER.

In this Province, or Archdiocese, there are four Diocesses. viz: DUBLIN (the Archiepiscopal See and its three Suffragans), KILDARE and LEIGHLIN (united)—OSSORY and FERNS.

The Archdiocese of Dublin contains 48 Parishes,—9 in the City, and 39 in the Country.

His Grace the Most Reverend Dr. DANIEL MURRAY, Archbishop, and Primate of Ireland. Consecrated 30th November, 1809. Residence, 9, Mountjoy-Square, Dublin.

RELIGIOUS AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS IN DUBLIN.

In no city, within the same short space, have so many religious and charitable institutions sprung up as in the metropolis of Ireland. The metropolitan church in Marlborough Street, and the new churches of St. Andrew in Westland Row, and St. Paul, Arran Quay, are splendid proofs of the zeal and piety of the Catholic inhabitants of Dublin. That capital and its environs can now boast of about 20 Catholic churches, 1 monastery, 14 convents, 5 institutions of the Sisters of Charity, 3 of the Sisters of Mercy, 6 charitable societies for promoting the spiritual and corporal works of mercy, 5 hospitals, upwards of 39 orphan societies, 4 societies for burying the dead, 2 Catholic book societies, several sunday schools, 10 schools by Brothers of the Christian Schools, 16 Christian doctrine confraternities, besides other minor religious and educational societies. A charity sermon is preached in one or other of the Catholic churches, in the stated diocess, every sunday throughout the year, for the benefit of the different charitable institutions in the which it abounds.

RELIGIOUS AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS IN CASHEL.

In this Archdiocese there are several convents and religious communities. An Augustinian convent in Fethard, Rev. Samuel Furlong, Prior, Rev. Jas. Lonergan, M.

Franciscan convent in Thurles, Rev. John M'Namara, Prior.

Augustinian convent in Tipperary, Rev. John Roche, Prior.

In Cashel is a convent of Presentation Nuns, founded in the year 1830, by the most Rev. Dr. Laffan. The parent house is the Presentation Convent of Thurles, from which some of the Sisters went to Cashel to found there a branch of their admirable institution. The convent of Cashel is a good house, plain, but spacious, well built and comfortable; and educates a number of poor children. This infant establishment, (for it is yet only in its infancy,) is an object of special care and pastoral solicitude to the worthy parish priest of Cashel, Dean Mc Donnel.

Throughout Cashel and Emly several schools have been established in connexion with the Board of National Education. In the two free schools of Cashel, about 600 poor children are educated. In Fethard, Archdeacon Laffan supports an admirable school, in which 200 boys and upwards are educated.

The Archbishop resides in Thurles, than which there is not in Ireland a more Catholic town. The eye is struck with the number as well as the beauty of the edifices sacred to religion and to education. One cannot help wondering how so many houses, upon such a scale, would have arisen from means so scanty, and in times so little auspicious to the growth of Catholicity. In the midst of a large group of buildings, stands the Archbishop's residence, which, without being a costly, is yet a beautiful and a commodious dwelling. It was built by Dr. James Butter, and considerably enlarged by the late most Rev. Dr. Laffan, at his private expense. The cathedral is a simple structure, yet noble in its simplicity, large enough to accommodate from 7000 to 8000 persons, with a magnificent altar, and an organ second to none in the kingdom. At either side of the cathedral stands a convent, one of Ursuline, the other of Presentation Nuns, both very prosperous establishments. The Ursuline convent was founded by the Most Rev. Dr. Bray in the year 1787. Where there was at first but a thatched cottage, you may now see more than one range of large, well built houses, with gardens tastefully laid out, stretching along the banks of the river Suir. The community reckons at present twenty five Sisters, who have devoted themselves in re-igion to the education of young ladies. They have a large boarding school: the number of pupils fluctuates, but is at all times considerable; and the excellence of the establishment is best attested by the large share of public support it receives, and which has enabled the good Sisters to establish, on the opposite bank of the river, a very respectable day school. To the Ursuline convent is also attached a poor school, where, upon an average, from 60 to 70 poor children are educated. The Presentation convent is a very fine house. You do not know which to admire most, its commanding exterior, or the simple elegance of its well-arranged interior. It is, indeed, a specimen of the purest taste blended with the unostentatious simplicity of religion. The convent chapel is Gothic, and very beautiful. This most useful establishment was founded in the year 1817.

Its principal object is the education, moral and religious, of poor children, of whom not less than 500 daily receive that most estimable of blessings from a Sisterhood not more than ten in number. Nor are the male children of the town and neighbourhood neglected. Those good men, "the Religious Brothers of the Christian Schools," erected in the year 1815 a large commodious house, of which the first stone was laid by Dr. Everard, the then Archbishop. "The Christian Brothers" educate daily between 200 and 300 boys. The town and neighbourhood would supply a school of 500, were there room and means for their accommodation. Of the poor children, male and female, a considerable number are clothed annually out of sums bequeathed for the purpose by the pious bishops of the diocese, who have gone to receive their reward. The virtues of these worthy men, in their life-time, shed a lustre even on their high station, and they still endure in the memorials they have left of their goodness.

 In the Diocese of Cloyne, besides a considerable number of National Schools, there are three Convents of the Presentation Order, for the education of poor female children. One at Doneraile, another at Youghal, and a third at Middleton. At Charleville there is a Convent of the Sisters of Mercy, who also instruct poor females, and administer spiritual and corporal aid to the sick and dying poor. A fourth, of the Presentation Order, is built in the town of Fermoy, and will be in a state to receive its intended inmates early in spring.

The R. C. population of Cloyne and Ross, by the last census, amounts nearly to four hundred and two thousand (402,000) and gives an average of nearly 7,500 to each parish.

NEW COLLEGE, THURLES.

The Rev. Dr. O'Connor, President.

By far the most remarkable of the public buildings in Thurles is the new college. This noble building stands upon an eminence at a minute's walk from the town, and has the advantage of a demesne of 25 acres, washed by the river Suir. The front house is 255 feet long, from which two large wings recede. The façade is truly a majestic one, surmounted by a parapet of beautiful cut-stone, and set off still more by the justness of the architectural proportions. Nor is the internal accommodation unworthy the noble exterior. The whole is laid out with admirable economy, so as not to lose an inch of room, yet every thing is upon a large scale; no holes or corners—no nick-nackery. The class and study halls, with the corridors, are spacious, lofty, well lighted, and well ventilated; and the rooms must conduce to the health of the students, being at once neat, comfortable, and cheerful. The principal part of the funds expended upon the erection of the college was derived from a bequest left by the most Rev. Dr. Everard. The late most Rev. Dr. Laffan laid the first stone on the 6th of July, 1829; he contributed handsomely towards the building, and bequeathed to the college an excellent library. But the original bequest of Dr. Everard, together with subsequent contributions, being unequal to the finishing and opening of so large an establishment, it was reserved for the present enlightened and zealous Archbishop, the most Rev. Dr. Slattery, to complete the work which his predecessors began. He appealed to his clergy, and he appealed not in vain. They came forward with equal readiness and generosity: the sums contributed by them added to his Grace's own liberal donation, realized a considerable fund, and under his auspices the college was opened in September last, and at present contains a good number of students, prosecuting their studies under the guidance of clergymen of known and distinguished talents. This fine establishment promises, under the blessing of divine Providence, to do honour to the cause of religion and of literature. The course of education comprises, English, Latin, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, Hebrew, Arithmetic, Writing, CIPHERING, History, Geography, Use of the Globes, Algebra, Geometry, Natural and Experimental Philosophy, Rhetoric, and, in a word, whatever enters into a liberal education, or is necessary for young gentlemen intended for the learned professions. The terms are extremely moderate, Twenty Five Guineas per an., to be paid half yearly in advance, and Five Guineas at entrance, in lieu of table service, bed linen, &c. &c. Washing Two Guineas per an. Music, Dancing, Medical Attendance, extra charges, but very moderate.

This passing sketch would be incomplete without the name of the President. He superintended the building from the beginning: its beauty of design bepeaks his correct taste, and he now presides with credit over the establishment, in the founding of which he had so large a share.

This Society has been instituted for the excellent purpose of assisting the Catholic Clergy of the British Empire in providing the poorer classes of Catholics with moral and religious books gratis ; and, also, for promoting the formation of Parochial Religious Lending Libraries throughout Ireland. It was established on the 13th December, 1835, and has already granted upwards of twenty thousand volumes of moral and religious books to several parishes in Ireland, and to Upper Canada, Newfoundland, Gibraltar, Cape of Good Hope, St. Vincent, England, Scotland, Wales, Isle of Man, New South Wales, Lisbon, Virginia, &c. The receipts of this Society, from its commencement to the 13th December, 1837, amounted to £640.

Secretary—James Frederick Lynam, Esq.

Office of the Society—84, Dame-Street, Dublin.

LIBRARY

Of the Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Catholic Religious Defence Society.

The Rev. James Worswick, Patron,

The Rev. William Riddell, President.

This flourishing Institution contains nearly One Thousand Volumes of the latest and most approved Catholic Publications; embracing works relating to the Sacred Scriptures and Biblical Literature, Liturgies, and Works relative to the Holy Sacrifice, Catholic Doctrine, Works of Religious Instruction, Sermons, Controversy, Works of Devotion, Works in Defence of Christianity, Against Infidelity, Sacred Biography and Lives of Saints, Biography, Travels, Church History, History, Belles Letters, Philosophy, Mathematics, Geography, Natural History, Catholic Magazines and Periodicals, 47 large folio volumes of the Public Records of the Kingdom, &c. &c.

The business of the Society is under the management of a President, Treasurer, Secretary, Librarian and a Committee of Eight Members; who are chosen half-yearly, with power to add to their number.

A General Meeting of the Society is held on the First Sunday in every month, immediately after vespers, for the purpose of electing members; who, on payment of the small sum of Sixpence per month, or Six Shillings per year in advance, are entitled to take Books out of the Library.

The Librarian attends every Sunday after Mass, and in the afternoon after Vespers.

Non-Members, whether Catholic or Protestant, on the recommendation of the Rev. James Worswick, the Rev. William Riddle, or the Committee, are allowed the privilege of taking out books; subject to the same rules as Members, without being obliged to pay the regular subscription,

The name of the Donor is inserted in all Books presented to the Library.

The Committee have upon several occasions, when it was considered necessary, distributed, gratuitously, several thousand Tracts and Pamphlets, explanatory and in vindication of the doctrines of the Catholic Church.

Donations either of Money or Books are respectfully requested, and will be thankfully acknowledged by the Rev. William Riddell; or

Mr. JOHN FENTON, Sec.

Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Nov. 1837.

DR. WISEMAN.

It will be remembered that, in the course of the year 1836, the Very Rev. Dr. Wiseman delivered a course of Lectures, upon the Doctrines and Discipline of the Catholic Church, first at the Sardinian Chapel, and subsequently at St. Mary's, Moorfields.

The success which attended these Discourses induced several gentlemen to open a subscription, to present to Dr. Wiseman, prior to his departure for Rome, some mark of their gratitude—some permanent record of his services. A very considerable sum having been raised by small subscriptions, the Committee authorised Mr. Scipio Clint to engrave a Medal—having on the obverse a Portrait of Dr. Wiseman in his robes—and on the reverse a design emblematic of the several subjects discussed in the Lectures, surrounded by the following inscription :—

“ Nicholao Wiseman, Avita Religione forti Suavique Eloquio Vindicata Catholicici. Londinensis. MDCCCXXXVI.”

This Medal (of which we have given a print) having been struck in gold, was appended to a costly enamelled gold chain, and Dr. Wiseman having been invited to dinner at the London Tavern, it was there presented to him, in the presence of a numerous assemblage of Ladies and Gentlemen, by Mr. Lynch, M.P., on behalf of the Catholics of London.

Copies, in silver gilt, were also prepared for His Holiness the Pope, Cardinal Weld, the Vicar Apostolic of the London District, one for each of the Chapels at which the Lectures were delivered, and one for the Cabinet of the English College at Rome.

By referring to The Morning Chronicle of March 5, 1837, it will be found that His Holiness, in accepting the copy sent to him, took occasion to express his marked approbation of the execution, and of the fidelity of the likeness. Having requested to see the original Medal and chain, the Pope was pleased to place it on the neck of Dr. Wiseman with many expressions of kindness.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF COLOGNE.

We present our Readers this year with a beautiful PORTRAIT of this distinguished Prelate; and from the quarter whence we received the original, we can confidently assure our Readers that the likeness is good.— Our respected Friend, to whom we are indebted for the Portrait, had intended, had time permitted, to have drawn up a Biographical Memoir of Clement Augustus; but the supporters of the Catholic Directory may expect such Memoir in next year's publication, and from the peculiar facilities for information possessed by the Writer, we doubt not that it will be highly interesting.

PLENARY INDULGENCES

GRANTED TO THE FAITHFUL IN THE FOUR DISTRICTS OF ENGLAND.

I. Christmas-day, and the twelve days following, to the day of the Epiphany, inclusively.

II. The first Week of Lent, beginning with the first Sunday, and ending with the second Sunday, inclusively.

III. Easter; that is, from Palm-Sunday, inclusively, to Low Sunday, inclusively.

IV. From Whit-Sunday, inclusively, to the end of the Octave of Corpus Christi.

V. The Feast of SS. Peter and Paul, and during the Octave.

VI. From the Sunday, inclusively, preceding the Festival of the Assumption of the B. V. Mary, to the 22nd day of August, inclusively. But, if the Festival of the Assumption fall on a Sunday, the Indulgence begins on that day.

VII. From the Sunday, inclusively, preceding the Festival of S. Michael, to the Sunday following, inclusively. But, if the Festival of S. Michael fall on a Sunday, the Indulgence begins on that day.

VIII. From the Sunday, inclusively, preceding the Festival of All-Saints, to the 8th day of November, inclusively. But, if the Feast of All-Saints fall on a Sunday, the Indulgence begins on that day.

The Conditions of II. IV. and VIII. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a Priest approved of by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That if their state and condition allow it, they give some alms to the poor, either on the eve or on the day of their communion. 4. That on the day of their communion, they offer up some prayers to God, for the whole state of the Catholic Church throughout the world; for bringing back all straying souls to the fold of Christ; for the general peace of Christendom, and for the blessing of God upon this nation.

The Conditions of I. III. VI. and VII. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance to a Priest approved of by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion, 3. That they visit some Chapel or Oratory, where Mass is celebrated, and pray to God for the peace of his Church. 4. That they be in a readiness of mind to assist the poor with alms in proportion to their abilities; or to frequent catechism and sermons as often as they can do so without great inconvenience; or to afford their assistance to the sick, or to such as are near their end, from the motive of Christian charity.

Note.—It is not required, for gaining these four Indulgences granted by Pope Benedict XIV. that these works of mercy, corporal or spiritual, or the assisting at catechism or sermons, be done on the same day with the communion; but only that persons be then in a disposition or readiness of mind to do these things, or some of them at least, when they may have an opportunity.

The Conditions of V. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a Priest approved of by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That, for some space of time, they pray to God, with a sincere heart, for the conversion of infidels and heretics, and for the free propagation of the Holy Faith.

COLOURS USED IN THE SERVICE OF THE CHURCH.

During the Penitential Season, the Sacerdotal Vestments are of a Violet or Purple colour, and are used on the Sundays and Ferias of Advent, and from Septuagesima Sunday till Easter, as well as on Ember-Days, Vigils, and Rogation-Days, if the Office is of them. The Red is used on the Feasts of the Apostles and Martyrs, at Whitsuntide, and on the Finding and Exaltation of the Cross. White is used on the Feasts of our Lord, of the B. V. M. and of Saints not Martyrs. On all Sundays and Ferias, from Trinity Sunday till Advent, Green is used, as also from the Octave of the Epiphany to Septuagesima. In Paschal time however, White is used. In Masses for the Dead and on Good Friday the colour is Black.

Consecrated 28th October, 1833.

LONDON.

Chapels marked thus † have been licensed under the Marriage Act.

THE CITY.

† ST. MARY's, Moorfields.—On Sundays and holidays Low Masses at 8, 9, and 10; High Mass at 11 o'clock, and Vespers at 6: on all other days Mass at 9 and 10 o'clock. On Sundays, Catechism for children at 5, and a catechetical discourse about 7. During Lent, Complin, with a discourse on Wednesdays, at 6 o'clock. Chaplains, Rev. Messrs. Woods, Harrington, William Hall, and William Harris.

The district attached to this Chapel is by far the most extensive and populous in London, and contains a Catholic population of about 30,000 souls. It includes, with a trifling exception, all the city; also Saffron-hill, Clerkenwell, Shoreditch, Bethnal-green, Mile-end, Whitechapel, and Spitalfields, besides Islington, Holloway, Stoke-Newington, Kingsland, Hackney, and Homerton. It has 4 large Charity Schools, 2 connected with the Associated Charities, and 2 in Spitalfields, entirely supported by private contributions. Its pastors have also to attend the Newgate, Giltspur-street, and New Clerkenwell Prisons for felons—the Fleet and Whitecross-street Prisons for confined debtors—the St. Luke's, Lying-in and Great Bartholomew Hospitals—and, besides numerous receptacles for the insane, no fewer than 24 different Workhouses, many of them containing hundreds of poor, principally Catholics.

Contributions towards this Chapel will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden Square, by the Rev. Chaplains, and by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers.

GERMAN, Great St. Thomas Apostle, Bow-lane, Cheapside.—Mass every day at 9 o'clock, on festivals of obligation and Sundays, at 9 and 10. On Sundays a discourse after the Gospel, and Vespers at 4 o'clock. At 7 o'clock the Rosary with a short instruction, and the usual night prayers. Complin on Thursdays in Lent at half-past 6 o'clock. Chaplain the Rev. — Iauch. This Chapel deserves, in an especial manner, the support of the friends of religion, as the congregation consists of poor foreigners, who are unable to contribute to its support. The charity of the faithful is therefore earnestly entreated on behalf of this establishment.

EASTWARD

† VIRGINIA-STREET, Ratcliff-highway.—Mass every day at 10 o'clock; on festivals of obligation at 8, 10, and 11 o'clock; on Sundays at 8, 9, 10, and 11 o'clock. A discourse after the Gospel at High Mass. Vespers at 3 o'clock on Sundays only, after which catechetical instructions.—Chaplains, Rev. Messrs. Richard Horrabin, James Foley, and James Doyle.

The Chaplains of Virginia-street Chapel, are the spiritual directors of the East London Catholic Charity Schools, and have daily to attend the London Hospital, Mile-end-road, the receptacle of all accidents in the docks, wharfs, and ships from Black-wall to London Bridge, as well as fifteen workhouses; the chief of which are St. George's in the East, Wapping, Ratcliff, Stepney-green, Aldgate, Crutched-friars, Barking, St. Dunstan's, and St. Olave's.

N.B. The Boys' School is now under the superintendence of two Christian Brothers, and contains seats for 180 Boys. The girls' school will accommodate 200 children. The late change and consequent alterations, &c., have involved the managers in a considerable debt, which, with the strictest economy, it will take them a long time to liquidate, unless some kind friends of the charity should come to their assistance, which God grant. Vide notice of these Schools in the sequel.

CENTRAL.

† SARDINIAN, Duke-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields.—On Sundays and holidays Low Mass at 8, 9, and 10, and High Mass at 11 o'clock; Vespers at 3 o'clock; evening prayers and catechetical instruction at 6. Complin with a discourse on Fridays in Lent, at 6 o'clock.—Chaplains, the Rev. Dr. Baldaconi, and the Rev. Messrs. Wm. O'Connor, and John Hearn.

The Chaplains have the spiritual direction of the central division of the Associated Catholic Charity Schools in Gate Street, Lincoln's-inn-fields, and have also to attend Cold-bath-fields prison, several workhouses, and the Charing Cross Hospital.

† ST. PATRICK'S, Sutton Street, Soho.—On Sundays w Mass at 8, with an instruction, and at 10 o'clock.

High Mass, and a Sermon at 11 o'clock; Vespers at 3. Complin and a discourse on the Tuesdays in Lent at 6 o'clock. The festival of St. Patrick is observed in this chapel as a double of the first class, when High Mass is solemnly celebrated with a discourse suitable to the occasion. A collection is then made for the support of the chapel. Subscriptions received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths, or by Messrs. Wright and Co., Henrietta Street, Covent Garden.—Chaplains, the Rev. Messrs. Edward Norris, Thomas Long, R. Chumley, and Charles D'Arcy.

The Chaplains of St. Patrick's Chapel have the spiritual direction of St. Patrick's Charity Schools, and have also to attend the workhouses and hospitals in their district.

WESTWARD.

† BAVARIAN, Warwick-street, Golden-square.—On Sundays and Holidays, and during the indulgences, Low Mass at 9 and 10 o'clock, and High Mass at 11. Mass every other day at 8, 10, and 11 o'clock. Vespers on Sundays and Holidays at half-past 3; Complin with a discourse in Lent on Thursdays at 6 o'clock. Chaplains, the Rev. Messrs. Wm. Wilds, John Lee, George Spain, and H. Lea.—Honorary Chaplain, Rev. J. Jones.

† SPANISH, Spanish-place, Manchester-square.—A discourse at High Mass on Sundays; Vespers at 3 in the afternoon; Complin on Fridays in Lent at 6, with a discourse.—Chaplains, the Rev. Messrs. Julius Picquot, Timothy Reardon, and Francis Jarrett.

The Chaplains of the Spanish Chapel, have the spiritual direction of the Western division of the Associated Catholic Charity Schools in North-street, Manchester-square; and have also to attend the workhouses and hospitals in their district.

† FRENCH, Little George-street, King-street, Portman-square.—On Sundays and Holidays of obligation, High Mass at 11; after the Gospel, an instruction or discourse in French, and Vespers at 3.—The Rev. M. M. De la Porte Chaplain.

This chapel now depends upon subscription for its support. Tickets for seats may be had at the Sacristy of the Chapel; where a book is open for voluntary subscriptions and benefactions, which are also received by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden.

* * The divine service will be celebrated annually, within the Octave of All Souls, for the repose of the souls of the deceased subscribers and benefactors of the chapel. There is a Charitable Association for the spiritual and temporal relief of the Sick and Poor.

† WESTMINSTER, ST. MARY'S, Romney Terrace, Marsham-st. Chaplain, Rev. Anthony Magee, 28, Medway-st.—Mass on Sundays at 9 and 11, and on holidays of obligation, at 10 o'clock. The Rosary and spiritual instruction at 6 o'clock.

The Chaplain has to attend the Millbank Penitentiary, Tothill-fields prison, the workhouses, the infirmary, and other hospitals in this poor and populous district.

Subscriptions and donations to pay off a debt of £350 incurred in the repairs of the chapel and of the free schools, will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; the Rev. Gentlemen of the Bavarian Chapel; Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers; by Booker and Dolman, No. 61, Bond-street; and by Keating and Brown, 38, Duke-street, Grosvenor-square.

WESTERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

† CHELSEA CHAPEL, Cadogan-terrace, Sloane-street. Chaplains, Abbé J. N. Voyaux de Franous, D.D., Rev. T. Sisk, and Rev. Dr. John Maguire. Mass every morning at 8 and 9 o'clock. On Sundays and holidays, three Masses, the 1st at 8, 2d at 9 o'clock, the 3d High Mass at 11, with a discourse. Vespers with benediction, at 3; after which the catechism explained; complin, every Wednesday in Lent, at 6 o'clock. This chapel, erected to afford the comforts of religion to a highly deserving class of men, viz., the aged, disabled, and veteran Catholic soldiers, residing in the hospital and parish of Chelsea, and others in the Barracks at Knightsbridge, seems to have a particular claim on the benevolent assistance of the Nobility, Gentry, &c. Subscriptions will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths; the Chaplains; and Messrs. Wright and Co., Henrietta-street.

N.B.—There is a school, at which about 250 boys and girls are educated and clothed; in support of which the further benevolence of the Public, is also solicited.

† KENSINGTON, Holland-street. Sundays and holidays, morning service 9 and 11, with complin at 3 in winter, and half-past three in summer; the Rosary, with a discourse and the usual night prayers, at half-past 6 in winter, and at 7 in summer.—Rev. Messrs. D. le Houx, and Wm. Bugden.

A charity school is connected with this chapel,

HAMMERSMITH, No. 5, King-street, Rev. Robert Hodgson.—Mass on Sundays and holidays at 10 o'clock; Vespers at 3.

HAMMERSMITH, Brook Green House, Dr. Baldacconi.

ACTON, Rev. Thomas Fryer.

† ISLEWORTH, Shrewsbury-place, Reverend Anthony Wareing.

RICHMOND, Vineyard, Surrey, Rev. James Peters.

NORTHERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

† OUR LADY'S CHURCH, St. John's-wood, Grove-road.—Chaplains, the Rev. James O'Neal, and the Rev. Mark Mc. Neal. On Sundays and holidays, Low Mass at 9, and High Mass at 11 o'clock. Vespers at three o'clock, with the benediction, followed on Sundays by catechetical instruction; complin at 3 o'clock on Wednesdays in Lent.

This splendid edifice bears honourable testimony to the pious zeal of the generous foundresses. Generations yet unborn will invoke the benedictions of heaven upon their departed spirits. But though much has been done by the Misses Gallini, the good work is not yet perfect. The church is finished—it is an ornament to our holy religion; but there is no school erected yet for the poor children.

The Catholic population attached to this church exceeds 3,000 souls, of whom the Irish poor form the great majority. This is the only one of the metropolitan districts deprived of the blessings of gratuitous, moral, and religious instruction. It is truly distressing to behold the poor parents reduced to the painful alternative, either of exposing the faith of their children to the perversion of the dissenting free school, or of abandoning their morality to the destructive contagion of the streets. The new mission cannot flourish whilst the hope of the flock is thus destroyed.

The munificent foundresses are deeply impressed with the importance of applying the only remedy to this evil, and would engross the whole merit of building the school rooms, had not the fabric of the church exhausted their charitable funds, and also considerably reduced their annual income. May their holy example inspire those who are blessed with the means to enable the chaplains to establish schools, where these poor children, already amounting to about 100, may be taught their duty to God, and the importance of their own salvation.

The site is already procured, and £200 realized for the building. Subscriptions received by the Bishop; Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers; and by the chaplains.

† SOMERSTOWN, St. ALOYSIUS', Clarendon-square. Rev. Messrs. J. Nerinckx, James Holdstock, and John Baptist Hearne.—High Mass at 11 o'clock, with a discourse, on Sundays; Vespers at 3, with the benediction. At 6 catechism, followed by the benediction of the B. Sacrament. Benediction of the B. Sacrament, on Wednesdays at 6. In Lent, complin on Wednesdays at 6, with a discourse.

This chapel has been lately repaired and enlarged considerably; but as the greater part of the numerous and daily increasing congregation is of the poorer class, the chaplains with great confidence appeal to the public for assistance to pay off the expenses.

St. Aloysius' Charity Schools are adjacent to this Chapel, and under the spiritual direction of the chaplains, who have also to attend the London Fever Hospital, the Small Pox Hospital, and St. Pancras Workhouse.

† HAMPSTEAD, St. Mary's, Holly-place.—Chaplain, the Rev. J. J. Morel. On Sundays and Holidays, Mass at 11; Vespers at 6, and catechism immediately after on Sundays.

EASTERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

† POPLAR, Wade-street. Chaplain, the Rev. James Hearsnep.—Mass on Sundays at 9 and 11 o'clock, and on holidays, at 10. Rosary and catechism on Sundays at 3 in the afternoon. It having been found necessary to repair and even enlarge the schools as well as the chapel belonging to this congregation, the debt has unavoidably increased to near £600. By the liberality of many charitable individuals, £500 has already been paid off. May the pastor of this poor district hope, by the continued support of his kind friends, and of the friends of education and morality, to effect, in the course of the ensuing year, a total extinction of the debt!

24 CHAPELS IN THE EASTERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

Donations, to any amount, will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V.A.; by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; by the Chaplain, at the Chapel-house; and by Keating and Brown.

N.B.—Monthly Masses are said for the benefactors. Mass is also said every quarter for those who are interred in the burial ground.

CHURCH OF THE MOST HOLY TRINITY.

† BERMONDSEY, Parker's-row, Dock-head. — Revs. Messrs. P. Butler, P. Collingridge, and Cornelius Coles.—On Sundays, Low Mass at 8 and 9 o'clock, and High Mass at 11. Vespers at 3, and at 7 o'clock the Rosary with an instruction, and the usual night prayers. On holidays, both of obligation and devotion, the Rosary at half-past 7; Complin in Lent at half-past 6 on Wednesday evening.

The Catholic population attached to this church is beyond 9000: it consists entirely of labouring people, whose poverty renders them incapable of defraying the necessary expenses of the chapel. In this poor congregation the Chaplains are charged with the duty of attending four extensive workhouses, the distressed objects of which look up to them not only for spiritual assistance, but also for pecuniary aid. To this church are also attached two numerous schools, now almost destitute of the means of keeping them open any longer. Their pastors therefore call earnestly for the aid of a generous public, and of all who have at heart the support and advancement of true religion. Any assistance for the poor, or the schools, will be gratefully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, and by the Rev. Chaplains.

Subscriptions will be gratefully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; Messrs. Wright and Co., 5, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; Keating and Brown, 38, Duke-street, Grosvenor-square; and by the Rev. Chaplains, No. 1, Parker's-row, Bermondsey.

The Catholic public are respectfully informed, that there are under the new church, spacious and airy vaults, ready to receive the mortal remains of their departed friends.

† STRATFORD, Essex, SS. Patrick and Vincent de Paul. Chaplain, Rev. Edmund Norris.—Mass every day at 9; on Sundays Mass at 9 and 11. Immediately after the Gospel at 11, a sermon is preached. On days of obligation, Mass at 9, with a discourse.—Rosary and devotions on Sunday evenings at 4 o'clock.—To this chapel there are two large schools attached, in which the children of the congregation, that is, of 3000 poor Irish, receive education. The pastor states with regret, that the funds of these schools have not, as yet, enabled him to perform towards these children, that corporal work of mercy so much called for, viz., to clothe the naked. The smallest donation or subscription will be thankfully received by the R. R. Dr. Griffiths; the Rev. Chaplain, and Keating and Brown.

† TOTTENHAM, Chapel-place, White-hart-lane, St. Francis de Sales' Chapel. Pastor, the Rev. Thomas H. Ewart. Mass on Sundays at 11 o'clock; and on days of obligation, at 10. Afternoon service at 3 o'clock.—The pastor of this chapel most earnestly solicits the charitable assistance of the faithful for the support of his mission; his flock, which consists of between 300 and 400 persons, being poor and destitute. Any one wishing to give this assistance, is humbly requested to leave it to the care of the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; or the Rev. Randal Lythgoe, 14, York-place, Baker-street; or Keating and Brown.

All benefactors of this chapel and school have one Mass said for them every week, besides being remembered in every other Mass.

SOUTHERN VICINITY OF LONDON.

† BELGIAN, London-road, St. George's Fields.—Chaplains, Revs. Messrs. T. Doyle, J. White, and M. Ryan. On Sundays, Low Mass with an exhortation at 8; Mass also at 9 and 10; High Mass with a sermon at 11 o'clock. Vespers at 6; and after Vespers the catechism explained. On Mondays at 12 o'clock, catechism for the children of the Benevolent Society of St. Patrick; on Tuesdays, the same for the children of the school attached to the chapel. In Lent, on Thursday evening, English prayers with a sermon and benediction at 7 o'clock.

The Southwark Catholic Charity Schools are under the spiritual direction of the Chaplains of this chapel, who have also to attend Guy's and St. Thomas's hospitals, the Queen's Bench, Surrey, Marshalsea, and the Clink prisons, and many large workhouses in their poor and populous district.

† GREENWICH, Clarke's-buildings, East-street, Maize-hill, Rev. Richard North.—Mass on Sundays at 11, on week days at half-past 9. Evening prayers on Sundays at 3.

There is a Charity school connected with this chapel.

† WOOLWICH, St. Mary's, New-road, Rev. William Nightingale. Mass on Sundays at 11, on holidays of obligation at 10. At 3 o'clock on Sundays, Vespers, and catechetical instruction. The Chaplain has to attend the Hulks, and several hospitals in his mission.

A numerous school is connected with this chapel, for the support of which the contributions of the humane and charitable are earnestly solicited.

† Birmingham, St. Peter's, St. Peter's-place, Rev. T. M. M'Donnell. Mass on Sundays at half-past 8, and half-past 10. In the afternoon, catechetical instruction of the children in the Sunday School, and of the congregation generally, commences at 2, and continues till half-past 3 when Vespers are said ; after which, the Litany of intercession for England, followed by an explanation of the Epistle and Gospel for the day. And at half-past 6, after the Litany for Sunday, a doctrinal lecture on some one of the articles of natural and revealed religion, not merely controversy, but general instruction upon matters of both faith and practice. On holidays, Mass at 8 and 10, and Vespers at 3. On the week days, after Mass, the children of the charity day-school, and of two other seminaries, are instructed in catechism. On Wednesday and Friday evenings, throughout the year, instructions are given to converts at half-past 7, for half an hour.

† Birmingham, St. Chad's, Shadwell-street, the Rev. E. Peach and Jos. Abbot. Mass in the summer on Sundays at 8, and at half-past 10. In the winter the first mass half an hour later. On holidays at 8 and 9, except on Christmas day, when the last mass is as on Sundays.

Sutton Coldfield, Birmingham, Rev. John Moore. Mass on Sundays and holidays at half-past 10 ; Vespers at half-past 3 ; Benediction on all the great festivals, and the first Sunday in each month.

The pastor of Sutton Coldfield, who resides at Oscott, and gives his services gratuitously to this mission, has to bear all its expenses, as well as those of a charity day school established in the place. The only assistance which he receives is from the casual contributions of a few friends. He trusts, therefore, that his claim to a little charitable consideration, will not be deemed out of place, when he mentions, that, in addition to other wants, several even of the vestments are borrowed, and if required, as they might be at any moment by the owners, would leave no others to supply their place.

Wappenbury and Kenilworth, near Coventry, Rev. R. Marsh.

Wooton House, Stratford on Avon, Rev. — Deday.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

Broadway, Rev. C. Kershaw. Divine service on Sundays and holidays at 10 o'clock. N. B. There is a Catholic Burying Ground annexed to the chapel.

Dudley and Tipton, Rev. — Elwes. Mass at half-past 10: Vespers at 3.

There has been an eligible site taken for the erection of a chapel, a chapel-house, and school-house, at Dudley; with sufficient space for a cemetery. A considerable sum of money has been granted towards the undertaking, but not sufficient for its completion; and, as the mission is heavily burdened with the debt of the ground purchase, as well as saddled with a large rent for the present chapel, together with other expenses incident to a new mission, the congregation presume they have no ordinary claim to public charity and support, and which they therefore most earnestly and humbly solicit. Contributions will be thankfully received by the incumbent, the Rev. Mr. Elwes.

Grafton, Bromsgrove, Rev. Henry Campbell

Hanley Chapel, Malvern Wells, Divine service on Sundays and holidays at half-past 10 in the morning, and at half-past 3 in the afternoon. Rev. Edward Winter.

Harvington Hall, near Kidderminster, Rev. T. J. Brownlow

Kidderminster, Chapel of the Holy Trinity, Rev. P. Holand, Pastor. Mass on Sundays at half-past 10, holidays at 9, on other days at 8. Evening prayers at 6 o'clock. Subscriptions for the erection of a new chapel, for which here is much need, will be thankfully received by the Rt.

↑ Stourbridge, New Road, Rev. James Mason Divine service at half-past 10 in the morning, with a sermon; at 3 in the afternoon with catechism; and at 6 in the evening with a sermon.

At this chapel there is a week-day and Sunday school;
and as the Pastor's funds are very small, any benefactions from the charitably disposed, either in books, old clothes, or money, will be thankfully received and duly applied to their proper object.

Poole, Rev. Leonard Calderbank

The Catholic congregation at Poole has long suffered much inconvenience from the dilapidated state of their Chapel, which is now much too small to accommodate them. From being at first very ill built, it is found to be incapable of repair; and the site on which it stands is too confined to admit of a building as large as would be required. By the benefactions of the charitable, a piece of freehold land has been purchased for the purpose of building a chapel and a residence for the priest, where the congregation can be conveniently accommodated. The Right Rev. Dr. Baines has sanctioned the purchase and signified his approbation of the plan. With the exception of a few respectable tradesmen, the congregation is chiefly composed of the poorer classes, and of Irish and foreign seamen whose vessels are for a time in the harbour of Poole, and as the congregation are unable, with their utmost efforts, to raise a sum at all equal to the expense of building a chapel, they find themselves under the necessity of appealing to the generosity of the wealthy, from whose liberality they hope to obtain the means of erecting a chapel not unworthy of their holy religion.

The smallest donations are humbly requested. and will be gratefully received by the Rev. L. Calderbank, Poole, and Messrs. Wright & Co. bankers, Henrietta-street.

Spetisbury, Blandford, Revs. Jos. Lee and A. Byrne

Stapehill, Wimborn, Rev. Nicholas Palemon

Upton House, Rev. H. Shattock

Weymouth, Rev. Dr. Butler.—Mass on Sundays and holidays at 11 o'clock; afternoon service at 2 o'clock on Sundays and on holidays at 3. At 6 o'clock on every Sunday evening a doctrinal lecture on some one of the articles of our holy religion. On Wednesday and Friday throughout the year instructions to converts at 6 o'clock. A school is attached, in which the poor children of the congregation receive a moral and religious education gratis. It was opened Sept., 1838. Before this period it was truly distressing to behold the parents of these poor children obliged either to endanger their faith by sending them to anti-catholic schools, or abandon their morality to the destructive contagion of the streets. As however, great struggles are required to support this school, so the charitable are most earnestly requested to contribute towards its support.

Donations, however small, will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Baines, Messrs. Wright & Co., bankers, and by the Pastor of the congregation.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS IN LONDON AND ITS ENVIRONS,

FOR PROMOTING THE PRACTICE OF THE SPIRITUAL AND CORPORAL WORKS OF MERCY.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE RIGHT REV. DR. GRIFFITHS, V. A. L.

“ Alms deliver from all sin, and from death, and will not suffer the soul to go into darkness.”—Tobias iv. 11.

ALMS HOUSE FUND.

“ So we being many, are one body in Christ, and each one members one of another : loving one another with a brotherly love ; communicating to the necessities of the Saints : pursuing hospitality.”—Rom. xii.

THE managers of the Aged Poor Society beg to inform the Catholic public, that the money subscribed some years since, for the purpose of building Alms-houses, and lately transferred to them by the deceased Right Rev. Dr. Bramston, has been invested in the funds ; and the same will, with the interest arising (which interest will be also promptly invested), form an accumulating fund for one of the most desirable purposes Catholic benevolence could contemplate, while to alleviate the severities of the present rigid discipline, in the administration of parochial relief, renders the completion of this holy design more particularly requisite ; and the Committee cherish the most sanguine expectations of this appeal eliciting extensive support.

“ Stretch out thy hand to the poor, that thy expiation and thy blessing may be perfected.”—ECCLES. vii.

Subscriptions received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, Messrs. Wright and Co., and the Secretary, Mr. Summersgill, No. 65, Lamb's Conduit-street.

ST. PATRICK'S CHARITY SCHOOLS,

AND

ASYLUM FOR FEMALE ORPHANS,

TUDOR PLACE, TOTTENHAM COURT ROAD.

President, the Right Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury and Waterford ; Vice-Presidents, Earl of Fingal, the Rev. Dr. Collins, Daniel O'Connell, Esq., M.P., G. B. Kelly, Esq., Andrew Loughnan, Esq., and Alexander Raphael, Esq. ; Treasurer, Henry Barnewall, Esq. ; Bankers, Messrs. Wright and Co. ; Secretary, Mr. W. D. Kenny.

Patroness of the Female Orphan Asylum, the Countess of Shrewsbury.

Since the establishment of St. Patrick's Charity in 1803, it has been extensively beneficial in all its branches.—It has shed its influence over a destitute and unfortunate people, thousands of whom have become useful members of society, who might otherwise have become the victims of ignorance and depravity. The improved aspect of St. Giles's bears testimony to its utility. Order has to an important degree succeeded to riot, industry to idleness, respect for the laws to unbridled licentiousness, and a thirst for knowledge to gross ignorance ; thus exemplifying the words of an address in behalf of St. Patrick's Charity, by a man who will ever rank high among the most gifted sons of Ireland, and to whose zeal, patriotism, and eloquence, it principally owes its origin (the late Father O'Leary), " that it is religion alone that makes a man virtuous in the dark, and honest without a witness." Under one roof, St. Patrick's Charity now possesses three spacious schools, capable of accommodating collectively nearly 500, and separately about 160 children each. Two of them for the boys are approached through an entrance at the opposite part of the building to that which forms the access to the girls' school, and the construction of the schools as well as the approaches, preclude all communication. An angle of the structure forms a small residence, which has been converted into an ASYLUM for DESTITUTE FEMALE ORPHANS, in which these forlorn and interesting objects are wholly provided for, being clothed, maintained, and educated. This branch of the charity is honoured by the distinguished patronage of the Countess of Shrewsbury, and the orphans are maintained exclusively by the annual subscriptions and donations of ladies. To their benevolence is destitute orphanage indebted for the re-establishment of an asylum, which the poverty of St. Patrick's Charity had previously compelled it to abandon.

To afford a shelter for female innocence, and guard its purity unsullied, by deep and solid impressions of virtue, are objects so interesting, that they can scarcely fail to excite the benevolence of all, who, sensible of the blessings extended to them by an all merciful God, are taught by religion to exemplify their gratitude by ministering to the wants of the children of misfortune.

The extensive benefits which have been and are daily conferred on society by St. Patrick's Charity, eminently entitle it to public support.—Its objects are to preserve innocence, inculcate principles of morality, encourage industry, promote order, and by a well organized system of early education, to secure the foundation of public and private happiness, but without a liberal protection and extensive generosity, the existence of the Institution must be compromised. The Governors therefore appeal confidently to that benevolence which has hitherto upheld the Charity, and solicit its continuance and extension as the only means of insuring to the poor the advantages they have hitherto derived.

Subscriptions and donations are received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; by Henry Barnewall, Esq. of Hampstead, and Copthall-court, Throckmorton street; by G. B. Kelly, Esq. Acton; by Messrs. Wright & Co. bankers, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; and by Mr. W. D. Kenny, Secretary.

[St. Patrick's Charity Schools are under the spiritual direction of the Chaplains of St. Patrick's Chapel.]

ASSOCIATED CATHOLIC CHARITIES.

FOR educating, clothing, and apprenticing, the children of poor Catholics, and providing an Asylum for destitute Male Orphans.

Subscriptions and donations are received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths; Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers; the Rev. Gentlemen of the Committee; the Treasurer; by the Honorary Secretaries, Mr. W. T. Leek, 27, Coleman street; Mr. Martin, 255, Oxford-street; and Mr. James Scoles, Cumberland Market.

Besides the Orphan and Apprenticing branches, the Associated Charities have Six great Schools; two near Moor-fields ; two near Lincoln's-inn-fields, and two in Marylebone, in which above 900 children of both sexes are educated.

SPITALFIELDS FREE SCHOOLS,

Spicer-street, Brick-lane, Spitalfields.

Patron, Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths. Situated in one of the most depraved parts of the metropolis, this Institution claims particularly the charitable support of the Catholic public. Its grand object is to instil into the minds of infants the sound principles of a moral and religious education, that they may be preserved from the corrupting influence of the bad example by which they are surrounded. The 200 children who are under its fostering care, are for the most part the children of parents of the poorest order, whom poverty compels to live in those wretched alleys, courts, and corners, which are the usual haunts of the lewd, vicious, and abandoned. The support of these Schools has been greatly curtailed of late by the depression in the silk business, and the want of employment to the labouring classes, who were weekly contributors. Thanks to our good God, liberal support has been bestowed from other sources, for which the managers return their sincerest acknowledgments ; it has enabled them to erect two spacious school-rooms, and left but a small debt remaining : they trust that the bounty of the Catholic public will soon enable them to defray it, as also to clothe the poor naked child.

Left-off wearing apparel will be thankfully received, and by notice given to the Rev. Wm. Woods, Moorfields, or Mr. James Sweeney, of Elder-street, Spitalfields, will be sent for to any part of the town.

Subscriptions are received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V.A. Mr. James Sweeney, Treasurer, 7, Elder-street, Spitalfields ; by the Trustees, the Rev. Wm. Woods, of Moorfields' Chapel, and Mr. W. J. Lescher, Thomas-street, Whitechapel, and at Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers.

SOUTHWARK CHARITY SCHOOLS,

For Poor Boys and Girls, attached to the Catholic Chapel, London-road, St. George's-fields.

The Rev. Thos. Doyle, President ; Revs. John White and Matthew Ryan, Vice-Presidents : Mr. Michael Forrestal, Treasurer and Secretary, No. 7, Charlotte-row, Walworth.

74 CHARITABLE INSTITUT. IN AND NEAR LONDON.

These schools are supported by subscriptions and donations, which will be gratefully received by the President, Vice-Presidents, or Treasurer, or at the chapel-house, London-road, Southwark. There are now educating at these schools upwards of 100 poor children.

EAST LONDON CATHOLIC INSTITUTION.

For educating and clothing poor Catholic Children. Schools for 200 Boys and 150 Girls, 14, Red Lion Street, Wapping.

In this quarter youthful depravity lamentably prevails ; a very great portion of the children are unavoidably left to receive their first impressions from street companions, often wicked themselves, and artful in perverting others. Owing to this, bands of juvenile depredators have alarmingly increased ; and many youthful criminals have pined in a prison, or suffered on a scaffold, who by a good education might have been made pious Christians, and respectable members of society. Deign then, ye patrons of education ; ye advocates of loyalty ; ye zealous promoters of virtue and religion, deign to take under your protection so many hundreds of poor infants so deserving of pity, and so solicitous for your patronage.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. Patron ; Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers ; A. Loughnan, Esq. Coleman-street ; the Treasurers, G. Gibson, Esq. Ratcliffe-highway, and W. Lescher, Esq. Thomas-street, White-chapel ; by the chaplains of Virginia-street chapel, or any of the gentlemen of the committee.

ST. FRANCIS' CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOL,

19, George-street, St. Giles's.

The committee are only discharging a duty, in appealing to the more wealthy of their communion in behalf of this struggling institution—they ask you to rescue these children from the vice of the streets, intreating your contribution, however small. Do this and the lustre of your benevolence will shine forth in the future lives of these little ones. Do this, and your reward will be exceeding great in heaven.

The school is open for inspection every day from 9 till 4 ; the children are under the spiritual instructions of the Rev. gentlemen of St. Patrick's chapel. The Holy Sacrifice will be offered up for the benefactors, on the Feast of St. Francis Xavier, at which the children will attend.

Donations will be received by the Rev. Mr. Norris, Little Russell-street, Bloomsbury ; and by Mr. Corvan, Treasurer, Buckridge-street, Bloomsbury, coal-merchant.

ST. ALOYSIUS'S CHARITY SCHOOLS

At Somers' Town and Tottenham.

The public are already well informed of the nature of these schools, in which about 36 girls are gratuitously supported, the remainder paying from £8 to £12 per annum. There is a separate school for Female day scholars, about 50 of whom are gratuitously fed, and partially clothed. The third division of this establishment comprises more than 130 boys ; 32 of whom are boarded and lodged for the annual sum of £13. each.

The Rev. J. Nerinckx has definitively taken a house at Tottenham, to extend the good accomplished by these schools, in which " there are upwards of 40 children, who are educated on the same plan, and by the same religious Ladies who direct the schools at Somers' Town. They have also opened there a separate school for Female day scholars. The Rev. J. Nerinckx confidently trusts that the friends of religion and humanity will, by their charitable assistance, enable him not only to continue, but to increase his endeavours to promote the glory of God and the salvation of souls."

WHITECHAPEL CATHOLIC SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

To the advocates of education it must be gratifying to learn that, since the commencement of this establishment about two years ago, 120 poor children have been admitted into these schools, and receive the benefits of an education of which many would be deprived, in consequence of their being employed during the week, were it not for the system of Sunday teaching—and the committee have reason to believe that, but for this institution, many of them would have been suffered to wander about the streets exposed to every kind of wickedness.

In consequence of the committee chiefly consisting of working men, they are necessitated to call upon those who are gifted with the means to enable them to continue this spiritual work of mercy, of instructing the ignorant and procuring for their poor children the blessings of that wisdom "which is able to make us wise unto salvation."

The smallest donation will be thankfully received by the Clergymen of St. Mary's, Moorfields; W. J. Lescher, Esq., Thomas-street, Whitechapel-road; by the Treasurer, Mr. J. Connery, Thomas-street; or by the Secretary, Mr. F. Napper, 13, Selby-street, Waterloo-town, Bethnal-green, where a book is open for the reception of the names of such persons who may be disposed to become annual subscribers.

POPLAR, BLACKWALL, AND LIMEHOUSE CHARITY SCHOOLS.

To secure a continuance of the invaluable blessing of education to between 200 and 300 poor children, the charity of the public is most respectfully, but earnestly solicited; the contributions of the congregation being quite inadequate.

The Sectarians in this neighbourhood are exerting themselves to the utmost to draw the children from their religion; and the Catholics of this congregation are too poor to support these schools by themselves. The contributions, therefore, of those benevolent individuals who are looking out for objects of real charity are most humbly but earnestly requested. The Rev. James Hearsnep will thankfully receive the contributions of the faithful.

GREENWICH AND DEPTFORD SCHOOLS.

Established in 1823, for the children of the Catholic pensioners of Greenwich Hospital, and the poor Catholic children of Deptford. The annual public breakfast, which at their commencement was the chief support of these schools, has been discontinued, having proved a source of much anxiety and little profit. They are at present kept in existence by the hard-earned weekly pence of a very poor congregation.

Subscriptions and donations received by the Patron, Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths; Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers; and by the spiritual director of the school, the Rev. Richard North, Greenwich.

HAMMERSMITH.

Two schools having been opened for the instruction of the poor Catholic children of Hammersmith and vicinity, and for clothing them, the assistance of the benevolent is humbly solicited.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, and the Rev. Robt. Hodgson, spiritual director of the schools, Convent, Hammersmith.

TOTTENHAM, EDMONTON, AND PONDER'S END.

These schools were lately opened to give religious education to the poor Catholic children in and about Tottenham, Edmonton, and vicinity. Without them the children would be either decoyed into the numerous sectarian schools in the neighbourhood, or suffered to wander about the streets, exposed to every kind of wickedness: they are, therefore, an asylum for these poor children; but to continue them open, pecuniary assistance is indispensable, for the pastor has no funds at his disposal.

Subscriptions will be most thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square; by the Rev. Randall Lythgoe, 14, York-place, Baker-street; and by the Rev. Thomas Henry Ewart, Chapel-place, White Hart-lane, Tottenham.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY,

For the Relief of the Aged and Infirm Poor, Instituted, 1761.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V. A. L. Patron and President; the Rev. John Rolfe, Henry Barnewall, Esq., Thomas Barnewall, Esq., and Alexander Raphael, Esq. Vice Presidents; Henry Barnewall, Esq., Copthall-court, Treasurer. The great numbers, the advanced age, and the destitute condition of the poor objects depending on this Institution for relief, give them a powerful, and it is hoped an irresistible, claim on the liberal charity of the public. From it, 80 of the most destitute of the aged and infirm Poor are receiving a weekly pittance, barely sufficient to support existence. Except in cases of aggravated distress, none are admitted under the age of 60; but a great proportion of them are between 70 and 90 years old; and several are bearing the burthen of almost 100 years' accumulated infirmities: one who has been a pensioner more

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY,

For the Relief of the Aged and Infirm Poor, Instituted, 1761.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V. A. L. Patron and President; the Rev. John Rolfe, Henry Barnewall, Esq., Thomas Barnewall, Esq., and Alexander Raphael, Esq. Vice Presidents; Henry Barnewall, Esq., Copthall-court, Treasurer. The great numbers, the advanced age, and the destitute condition of the poor objects depending on this Institution for relief, give them a powerful, and it is hoped an irresistible, claim on the liberal charity of the public. From it, 80 of the most destitute of the aged and infirm Poor are receiving a weekly pittance, barely sufficient to support existence. Except in cases of aggravated distress, none are admitted under the age of 60; but a great proportion of them are between 70 and 90 years old; and several are bearing the burthen of almost 100 years' accumulated infirmities: one who has been a pensioner more than 30 years, has attained the almost patriarchal age of 109 ; and another has lately been added to the list who is 111 years old.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. the Patron and President of the Society ; the Rev. Chaplains of Moorfields, St. George's-fields, and Virginia-street Chapels ; the Treasurer, Copthall-court ; Mr. Leek, Coleman-street ; and by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers.

* * For the information of Subscribers, the following Regulations are extracted from the Rules of the Society.—Each Subscriber of one guinea per annum for three years, has the right of recommending one poor object as a weekly pensioner. Four masses in each month are regularly offered for the Benefactors, living and dead.

SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF THE AGED POOR.

Established near 200 years.—Patron and President, the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, V.A.L. Vice-Presidents, Rt. Rev. Wm. Morris, Hon. Mr. Stourton, Hon. Mr. Jerningham, Right Hon. Lord Clifford, Hon. Edward Petre, Rev. Dr. Baldaconi, Rev. T. Doyle, Rev. J. J. Morel, Rev. J. Silveira, Rev. Dr. Voyaux de Franous, and Rev. Randal Lythgoe.

The directors of this valuable Institution respectfully invite the attention of the Catholic Public to its beneficial operations, and at the same time gratefully acknowledge the distinguished support it continues to receive. The allowance granted protects the aged Catholic from a workhouse, which to the benevolent and pious must of itself be a powerful appeal. Between 60 and 70 are in possession of the pension, and nearly as many more are anxiously waiting for admission, most of whom are upwards of 70, and many 80, and one 105, years of age. With this short description, and communicating the practice of distributing at Christmas the usual gifts, the Committee will content themselves.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. the Patron and President ; the Vice-Presidents ; Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers ; Mr. Robinson, Treasurer, 6, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden ; and Mr. Summersgill, Secretary, No. 65, Lamb's Conduit-street.

SOCIETY OF CHARITABLE SISTERS.

(Established January, 1814.)

Among the various charitable Institutions of the metropolis, this old established Association presents strong claims to the notice and support of a generous public. The class of persons to whose relief it has been principally devoted, are poor lying-in women of good character. Besides the temporary relief, in supplying additional clothing, &c., which is at that time so much required, this Society endeavours to confer blessings of a permanent nature, by religious and pious instructions; these exertions are the more called for, from the active and unceasing efforts made by the enemies of our faith, by refusals of relief and by bounties on apostacy, to withdraw distressed families from the pale of our holy religion. The Committee gratefully acknowledge the kind and generous support they have met with, and respectfully and earnestly implore the co-operation of the charitably disposed, and particularly of the gentler sex, to aid them by donations of money, left-off wearing apparel, &c. Any lady or gentleman wishing to obtain further particulars of the Society's affairs, by applying to the Secretary, Mr. Dinmore, 3, City-road, may have the last year's report with the list of Subscribers transmitted to them.

Donations will be thankfully received by the Rev. R. Horabin, Chaplain to the Society, by the Rev. Gentlemen of Moorfields and Virginia-street chapels, and the clergy generally, by all Catholic booksellers, and by Mr. Dinmore, Secretary, &c., City-road.

ASSOCIATION POUR LES PAUVRES MALADES.

Chapelle Catholique Francaise de King-street, Portman-square.

Une association pour le soulagement des pauvres Malades fut formee il y a trente ans dans cette chapelle pour ceux de arrondissement. Cette association a pour but d'etablir entres les membres une communion de prieres, de visiter les malades de leur procurer les secours spirituels et corporels, autant qu'il est possible. Pour rendre cet Etablissement plus avantageux aux malades, et moins dispendieux, il fut necessaire de se precurer les meubles soubvenables a la situation des malades, tels que, chemisses draps, serviettes, &c. &c.

Un petit sacrifice temporel leur procurera de grands avantages spirituels et d'un ordre bien superieur a tous les biens de ce monde. Ces avantages sont : les merites de l'aumone la participation aux prieres et aux bonnes œuvres de l'association, les prieres publiques, consistant dans le Salut et la Benediction du St. Sacrement, qu'on donne tous les premiers Dimanches de chaque mois, pour le associes, un service solennel qu'on celebre tous les ans, le lendemain des trepasses pour les associes defunts, une messe qu'on dit pour chaque associes apres sa mort, les prieres particulieres des malheureux qui ont ete soulages dans leur maladies, dont la voix ne peut manquer d'être entendue et exaucee par celui qui declare fait a lui-meme l'aumone qu'on fait au moindre des siens.

N. 1. Quoique cette association fut originaiement formee en faveur des pauvres Francais Emigres de l'arrondissement de la chapelle ; meanmoins plusieurs Anglais et Anglaises y ont eu, et y ont encore part, a raison des alliances qu'ils ont contractees.

2. La soucription annuele a lieu dans le mois de Janvier ; ordinairement ou souscrit a la Sacristie de la Chapelle.

3. Les personnes qui disirent souscrire comme bienf'itrices seulement peuvent se faire inscrire en tous tems, à la Chapelle, ou chez MM. Wright et Co., Covent gard

WOOLHAMPTON LODGE, NEAR NEWBUR'

In addition to a school established in 1833, at chapel, there has been recently erected a sch. dormitories, with a view of facilitating the education of those who live too far distant to attend the day school. boys and six girls are received by paying from £8 to 2 annuum. Others will be admitted for less, according to means afforded to the Rev. Incumbent, who takes this opportunity of earnestly soliciting the assistance of the charitable and humane in the important task of the Christian education of youth.

The Benevolent Society is in a prosperous state.

The charitable co-operation of the friend of the poor is respectfully solicited, in money, clothing, or food.

Subscriptions are thankfully received by the President, Treasurer, and Auditor.

Day and Sunday Schools attached to the Chapel of St. Chad.

Patron, The Right Hon. Lord Stafford; Patroness, the Right Hon. the Countess of Shrewsbury.

OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE FOR 1838-9.

Rev. E. Peach, President; Rev. J. Abbot, Vice President; Mr. S. P. Nock, Treasurer; Mr. Thos. Lloyd, Secretary; Mr. Tidmarsh, Auditor; Mr. Hardman; Mr. W. Powell, Carr's-lane; Mr. Fowler; Mr. R. P. Stone; Mr. Griffin; Mr. Sheath; Mr. Holcroft; by whom subscriptions are thankfully received.

After stating the rise and progress of these schools, the Report of July 1838, thus proceeds:

"From small beginnings, we have risen up to greatness. This has not been done without great exertions; nor is it to be carried on, unless those exertions are continued. We are indebted for liberal assistance to many friends at a distance, to whom we return our grateful thanks, and for whom our prayer is, that God may reward them a hundred fold. In order to encourage you still to persevere, notwithstanding the difficulties of the times, we exhort you to look round, and calculate, if you can, the good that has been done by this establishment, during the preceding years, among the Catholics of this town. It will not be too much to say that few are to be found amongst the present members of the two congregations, who did not receive a part or the whole of their education at the school of St. Chad's; for there were then few parents who could afford to send their children to private schools.

"Then, again, we exhort you to look at the children who are now in the schools, and calculate what good is still to be done! The same is to be done for these, as has been done for those who preceded them. Our numbers are greatly increased, consequently more means will be required.

"The number of children, boys and girls, now in the schools is 205. The number that have been admitted during the course of the year, is 160. The number that have been refused admittance for want of room this last year, has been at least 100. Mr. and Mrs. Hardman's Orphan Establishment bids fair to be a most useful and permanent institution. Already the number of these destitute but interesting objects amounts to twenty-two. Of these, five are provided for by the St. Patrick's Orphan Society, lately established in this town. The others are dependent upon the beneficence of the Patron and Patroness.

The Society for the Propagation of the Faith has been established at St. Chad's, under the special patronage of the Right Rev. Dr. Walsh, General-President of the Society in this kingdom.

COBRIDGE.

St. Peter's School.

The number of our scholars has been at one time about 400. Here is a large field for charity and the lovers of education. The smallest donation will be thankfully received by the Rev. L. Gerard, Cobridge.

DUDLEY.

Catholic Day and Sunday Schools.

Patron, the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury.

These schools were opened in July 1836. When it is mentioned that these institutions afford the benefit of a religious education to a numerous class of children, who, from their poverty and local circumstances, would perhaps be otherwise buried in ignorance; enough has been said to recommend them to public attention. As the means for supporting these schools are at present very precarious, the aid of the charitable is respectfully solicited.

Benefactors or subscribers, whether to the mission or schools, are referred to the Right Rev. Dr. Walsh, the Hon. and Rev. Geo. Spencer, and to the Rev. Mr. Elwes.

NORWICH.

The Day and Sunday schools which recently have been attached to St. John's Chapel in this city, stand in great need of charitable support.

NOTTINGHAM.

Female Day School, &c.

Patron, The Right Hon. Earl of Shrewsbury; Patroness, The Hon. Lady Mary Talbot.

All men are vain in whom there is not a knowledge of God.
WISDOM, xiii. 1.

Every exertion is used to ground the children solidly in the truths of our holy religion, more especially the practical parts, such as the love and fear of Almighty God—affection and obedience to parents—strict honesty, and punctuality in every duty. Also, the necessity of great cleanliness and neatness in person—exactness in attending at school and the sacred services of the church—the great propriety of abstaining from vanity in dress, which frequently leads to such miserable consequences to persons in the humble ranks of life. After religious and other duties, great care is taken to instruct them thoroughly in needle-work, reading, spelling, writing (to the elder girls,) and in those things that will tend, it is hoped, to make them good Christians, and useful members of society.

The Sunday school for both boys and girls is well attended, and zealously taught by members of the congregation, who freely and meritoriously give their services. At present there are upwards of 200 Sunday scholars.

"It is fervently and humbly hoped, that many who may read this plain statement, will charitably assist the good work in procuring the blessing of that wisdom, "which is able to make us wise unto salvation." Much is not craved, "only the crumbs that fall from the table."

Subscriptions and donations are received by the Right Rev. Dr. Walsh, Wolverhampton; Rev. R. W. Willson, Nottingham; and Messrs. Wright and Co. Bankers, London.

Subscriptions and donations will be most thankfully received by the Revs. James Crook, Randolph Frith, and J. Vincent Eyre, St. Augustine's; Revs. Wm. Turner and Robert Crookell, Rook Street; Revs. J. Billington and James Boardman, St. Mary's; Revs. Daniel Hearne, James Ryland, and John Dowdale, St. Patrick's; and by the Treasurer and Secretary.

CARLISLE.

St. Patrick's Charity School.

Trustees, Henry Howard, Esq., of Corby Castle, Carlisle, and Philip H. Howard, Esq., M.P. The very limited resources of this excellent institution, which has such claims on the Catholic public, from the number of poor Irish resident at Carlisle, renders this appeal to the charitable a subject of painful necessity.

Donations, however small in amount, will be gratefully received by the Trustees, or by the Rev. Joseph Marshall (the Catholic Pastor), Lowther-street, Carlisle.

WALES.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE RIGHT REV. DR. BAINES.

Books, &c.*

As the Welsh are in many places totally ignorant of the English language, it may be easily imagined how many difficulties the missionary has to encounter in instructing a people when he has not a single book of instruction to put into their hands. The object therefore of this society, is to publish and distribute among the poor Catholics of the principality, such books as are thought best calculated for persons in their situation. The Catechism and the Garden of the Soul, &c., are already published; these will be followed by the Think Well On't, &c., as funds permit.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Baines, Prior Park, Bath; by Messrs. Jones and Co, Bankers, Abergavenny; the Rev. E. Metcalf, of Newport, Monmouthshire; the Rev. F. Lythgoe, Holywell, Flintshire; and the Rev. E. Carbery, Bangor.

THE ENGLISH CATHOLIC LIBRARY, AT ROME.

The Very Rev. Mgr. Wiseman, D.D., Rector of the English College, Treasurer. Count Hawks le Grice, Honorary Librarian. This Library is established for the purpose of lending, gratuitously, English books of religious controversy, not only to English Catholics, but more especially to their Protestant Countrymen, visiting Rome.

Subscriptions are received by Messrs. Wright and Co., Bankers, and a Book of Subscriptions in either money or books, is opened at Keating and Brown's.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

Oscott, near Birmingham.

The Very Rev. Henry Weedall, D.D., President; the very Rev. William Wareing, Vice President.

Revds. John Moore, Francis Cheadle, James Browne, John Nickholds, and — Logan, Professors.

This College has been rebuilt at a distance of about two miles from the former, on a much enlarged and most convenient plan. The course of education comprehends every species of instruction which is necessary for those who are destined to independence in or out of Parliament, for any of the learned professions, or for business. Arrangements are in progress by which the students of this College will have the opportunity of obtaining degrees in arts or law, and the other advantages held out by the newly created University of London. For the recreation of the students there are provided a play-ground, which is upward of six acres in extent, a gymnasium, a museum, play-rooms, and libraries; and it is in contemplation to erect a large tennis-court. Students are admitted at any age from eight to fourteen.

For particular information apply to the president or to H. R. Bagshawe, Esq., 2, New Square, Lincoln's Inn, or 4, Lamb's Conduit Place, London.

ORDINATIONS AT ST. MARY'S.

18th February 1837, being Saturday in Ember week, minor orders were conferred by Right Rev. Dr. Walsh, on Messrs. John Dalton, Walter Keen, and James Moore; Messrs. George Bent, and James Moore, received subdeacons' orders; Revds. James Griffin, George Jeffries, and William Vaughan, Deacons' orders; and the Rev. James Brown, John Mitchell, and George Fox, were ordained Priests.

31st March, 1838, being the Saturday before Passion Sunday, the Tonsure was given to Messrs. John Taylor, Thomas Flanigan, and Thomas Lutts; the Tonsure and Minor orders to Messrs. Edward Hodson, Thomas Reville, and Edward Whitehouse; the Subdeaconship to Messrs. John Dalton, and Walter Keen; the Deaconship to the Revs. George Bent, and James Moore; and Priesthood to the Rev. John Nickolds.

PRIOR PARK, NEAR BATH.

This Institution consists of two distinct colleges, dedicated to the Apostles SS. Peter and Paul, under the direction of the Right Rev. Dr. Baines, Bishop of Siga, and Vicar Apostolic; and the immediate superintendence of the Very Rev. Dr. Brindle, V. G., Regent; Rev. Dr. Gentili; Revs. Messrs. Furlong, Reye, Pagani, Bellesi, Kavenagh, Havard, Renolfe, and Illingworth, Professors.

ST. PETER'S COLLEGE.

The course of studies, in addition to Latin, Greek, and their usual accompaniments, comprises the French, Italian, and German languages, of which there are native Professors resident in the establishment.

ST. PAUL'S COLLEGE.

The studies are academical, comprising the classical, scientific, and literary courses usually assigned to the University. The students have separate rooms. For particulars, application to be made to the Very Rev. Dr. Brindle, Regent, Prior Park; and in London, to the Rev. Dr. Baldacconi, Sardinian House, 54, Lincoln's Inn Fields.

USHAW COLLEGE, NEAR DURHAM.

REV. CHARLES NEWSHAM, PRESIDENT.

Revs. Messrs. T. Cookson, J. Kirk, J. C. Fisher, J. Chadwick, R. Platt, and J. Fisher, Senior Professors.

The plan of education is designed to prepare young men for an ecclesiastical, professional, or commercial state of life ; and accordingly embraces three distinct courses of studies.

The commercial course comprises writing, arithmetic, and book-keeping ; the English and French languages ; history, antiquities, geography, and the use of the globes ; elementary algebra and geometry, with the practical branches of mathematics ; English and French composition ; reading and public speaking ; and the grounds of natural and revealed religion.

The course pursued by those who are intended for any of the learned professions, or who are born to independence, includes, besides the above, the Latin and Greek languages and a complete classical education ; poetry, rhetoric, logic, the philosophy of the human mind, metaphysics and ethics ; ecclesiastical history ; astronomy, chemistry, and the other branches of natural science ; natural history in its various departments of mineralogy, geology, &c.

The ecclesiastical course comprises, in addition to the branches enumerated above, the several departments of sacred learning, biblical and theological.

As these three courses enter into the general plan of education, the parent is at liberty to select any of them, or any portion of them, conformably to the views he may have with reference to the future pursuits of his son.

The students, to whatever course they may be attached, have the advantage of attending the public lectures on astronomy, chemistry, mineralogy, geology, botany, and the various other branches of natural science, and natural history ; literature and the fine arts, and the principles and history of architecture.

The religious and moral instruction and conduct of all are attended to with watchful and anxious care. Besides the usual course of catechetical instructions, public lectures are delivered on the liturgies and ceremonies of the church ; our English version of the Sacred Scriptures is explained at stated hours every week, and the whole of the Greek Testament is read in class.

Each student below the class of poetry, is placed under the care of a private tutor, who prepares him for the lessons of his master.

TERMS.

I. The pension is £50 per annum, to be paid half-yearly in advance. This sum includes every necessary expense; no extra charge being made for clothing, washing, or instruction in any of the branches which enter into the general plan of education.

II. The following items are extra charges: the German and Italian languages, music, drawing, painting, dancing, fencing, medical attendance, pocket money, and postage of letters; and each student is charged ten shillings a year for the use of school books.

III. Each one, on entering the college, is expected to be provided with three complete suits of clothes, six shirts, six pairs of stockings, and a silver spoon.

The vacation begins in the fourth week of July, and lasts till the 1st of September.

The following gentlemen were ordained at Ushaw College, viz.—at Christmas, 1837, Revs. Messrs. J. Dent, J. Boardman, and J. Dawber; on April 29, 1838, Rev. Wm. Fisher; on May 24, 1838, Revs. J. Fisher and J. Whitaker.

STONYHURST COLLEGE.

Blackburn, Lancashire.

Rev. J. Brownbill, President. The plan of education and the terms may be had by applying to the President, or to the Rev. Randal Lythgoe, 14, York-place, Baker-street, London.

I.—Regulations concerning the Admission of Students.

1. The age of admission is from seven to fourteen. Children who have been at any other house of education, must have, from the superior of that house, an attestation of their morals and docility.

2. Parents and guardians, before sending children to the College, are requested to give notice to the President. He would be enabled to direct their studies better, were he informed how long they are to remain in the College, and for what profession or employment they are designed.

3. Children who have no parents or responsible guardians resident within the United Kingdom, must be provided with the written engagements of some respectable mercantile house, to pay for their education, and to take charge of them, if indisposition, or any other cause, should render their removal necessary.

4. There is an Establishment at Hodder, a short distance from the College, and connected with it, for the elementary education of the younger children, where they receive that indulgent and constant attention which their tender age may require.

N.B. The establishment at Hodder, which was closed for a short time, is now re-opened for the reception of children of tender age.

II.—Course of Education.

5. The scholars are instructed with great care in the duties of religion and morality. They are always under the immediate inspection of one or more of the superiors.

6. The course of classical education comprises the study of the chief Greek and Latin classic authors, of composition in Greek and Latin prose and verse, regular instruction in Reading and Elocution, Writing, Arithmetic; English, French, Italian; History, sacred and profane; and Geography. The higher classes receive lessons of Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry.

7. The Philosophical course embraces Logic, Metaphysics, Ethics, and Natural Philosophy, with Chemistry and the higher Mathematics.

There is in the College an extensive apparatus for Experimental Philosophy, an Astronomical Observatory, a Chemical Laboratory, a collection of Minerals, &c. There is also a considerable and increasing Library of approved works of History, and of general information, of which the scholars have the use on paying a small monthly subscription. Masters of Music, Drawing, Dancing, and Fencing, give lessons to those whose parents may desire it.

8. All are closely examined four times a year, in what they have learnt during the preceding quarter, and rewarded accordingly. At the Annual Exhibition which precedes the Vacation, a considerable number of prizes, consisting of books and silver medals, is distributed among those who have made the most distinguished progress.

9. The Vacation begins on the Tuesday nearest the seventh of August, and ends on the sixth Monday following, on or before which day all must return. Absence from the College is not allowed at any other time.

III.—Terms.

10. Each scholar must bring with him a full suit and cap of blue cloth, and a black stock, besides a suit for daily wear ; six shirts, six handkerchiefs, six pair of stockings, and three pair of shoes. Any deficiency will be charged to the parents. No distinction in dress is permitted.

11. Instead of ordinary schoolbooks, table service, bed linen, and other articles usually required on entering establishments of this kind, each scholar shall pay two guineas entrance money.

12. Children under twelve years of age pay forty guineas, those above that age fifty, and the Students of Philosophy, one hundred guineas a year. The gentlemen in Philosophy have private apartments, and a separate table, have access to the College Library, and are more immediately prepared for entering society ; they, as well as the students of the class of Rhetoric, must provide their own clothes.

13. The above payments must be made half-yearly in advance, but the money advanced will be returned to those who quit the College, for as many months of the half-year as remain entire.

14. On these terms, the scholars are furnished with board, lodging, fire, and light, clothing (with the above exceptions), linen and washing, ordinary school-books, and stationery.

15. An extra charge is made for great coats and gloves, for medicines, medical attendants, and other expenses occasioned by illness, for postage, pocket-money, and lessons of Music, Dancing, and Fencing.

16. The pocket money allowed to the children of the four lower classes, is sixpence each per week, to those of the higher classes, one shilling a week, with the addition of a few shillings at Christmas and at Shrovetide.

17. No deduction is made for absence during the Vacation, and all additional expense in linen and clothing, for Vacation, or for removal from College, will be charged to the parents, who, on these occasions, are expected to send in advance whatever is necessary for the equipment and travelling of their children.

The College is situated about ten miles from Blackburn, the post town, and fourteen from Preston. The surrounding country is distinguished for the beauty and variety of its scenery, and the air, though sharp, is remarkably healthy. Parents who wish to visit their children, may now perform the journey from London to the College, in the short space of 10 or 12 hours, by means of the London and Liverpool Railway, there being a branch from Warrington to Preston, which is only fourteen miles from the College.

Adjoining to the College there is a commodious Infirmary, where any who may be seriously indisposed, have the convenience of separate rooms. The College is regularly attended by a physician and surgeon of acknowledged merit and of very extensive practice.

For terms, and other particulars, apply to the Rev. Dr. Brown as above, or to the Rev. L. Barber, Stanbrook Hall, Powick near Worcester; the Rev. John Jenkins, Broadway, Worcestershire; Rev. Samuel Phillips, Woolton Priory, Liverpool; and the Rev. Thos. Heptonstall, Acton, near London.

GERMAN COLLEGE,

Broadway, Worcestershire.

Conducted by the Gentlemen formerly of Lamspring in Germany.

This college is particularly recommended to natives of Germany, and of those countries in which the German language prevails, who are desirous of acquiring a speedy and grounded knowledge of the English, and to others, desirous of learning the German language, particular attention being paid to its cultivation. The French language is taught by a native of France.

In addition to a classical education, care is taken to fit the student, destined for public life, for the department in which he is intended to be placed. For this end, and for the acquisition of general knowledge, frequent conferences are held by the students in conjunction with their masters ; wherein not only literature, the arts, and the sciences, but the passing occurrences of the day, and the subjects which occupy the public mind, are made matter for discussion, so as to familiarize the young aspirant to the interchanges of opinions, and the exercise of debate ; strict regard being paid to elocution, which is regulated by the principles of the late Mr. Thelwall ; by which also are resolved the intricacies of the rythmus of language and the anomalies of modern prosodies.

For particulars apply to the Rev. C. Kershaw, Broadway, Worcestershire ; or the very Rev. Dr. Marsh, Warrington.

Broadway is a Post-office village, on the road from Oxford to Worcester, and from Cheltenham to Leamington ; three London coaches pass through daily.

ST. EDMUND'S COLLEGE, DOUAY,

Dept. du Nord.

The terms are 32*l.* per annum, clothing not included ; or 40*l.* without any extra charge whatever, except for music, drawing, and dancing. Church students are taken at 30*l.* per annum, which covers every expense.

Further information may be obtained from the Rev. J. F. Appleton, Superior, Douay, Dept. du Nord, France ; the Rev. J. Heptonstall, Acton ; Rev. T. M'Donnell, Birmingham ; and the Rev. R. W. Wileson, Nottingham.

CATHOLIC COLLEGE IN SCOTLAND.

ST. MARY'S.

Blairs, near Aberdeen.

Rev. JOHN SHARP, President ; Rev. Alexander Grant, James Clapperton, and James Glennie, Professors ; Rev. Donald Carmichael, Procurator.

This is now the only establishment in Scotland designed to educate youth for the Scottish Mission; young gentlemen not intended for the ecclesiastical state are also received for their education.

Blairs College is situate in a pleasant part of the country, on the right bank of the river Dee (Kincardineshire), within six miles of Aberdeen. No pains or expense have been spared for the proper accommodation and domestic comfort of the students, and the play-grounds are delightful.

The plan of education comprises all that is usually taught in Catholic Colleges,—reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, with the use of the globes; the English, Latin, Greek and French languages (the Italian and Spanish, if required), poetry, rhetoric, mathematics, philosophy in all its branches, and divinity. Students are received from eleven to sixteen years of age. The greatest care is taken of their health, and a strict attention is paid to their religious and moral instruction.

The terms may be learned by applying to any of the R. R. Vicars Apostolic, or to the superior of the College.

I. the children are to bring with them, two suits of clothes, six shirts, six pair of stockings, six pocket handkerchiefs, three pair of shoes, two hats, two combs, a knife, fork, and spoon. The spoon, if silver, or any article not required by the terms, will be returned, if demanded. Each of these articles, if not new, must be serviceable, otherwise, the deficiency, whether in number or quality, will be charged to account. All the children's clothes, when they quit the school, as well as their journey, must be at their parents' expense; excepting such articles as may remain of what they brought with them.

II. The pension is twenty-six pounds a year, with one pound entrance (charge to only one of each family). The half-year's pension must always be paid in advance.

III. For this pension the students are furnished with a sound and useful education, board, good in kind and ample in quantity, clothes and linen, washing and mending, school-books (except French ones), pens, ink and paper;—the only extras, except as in Art. VIII. being pocket-money, postage, or medicines. Each boy has a bed to himself, and clean linen twice a week.

IV. The education comprises reading, writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, grammar, history and geography; also Latin and Greek, if desired, and without any extra charge, except ten shillings entrance. The students are also carefully instructed in the principles of the Catholic religion, and every attention is paid to secure proficiency in their studies, to enforce cleanliness of person and propriety of behaviour, as well as to watch over their moral conduct, and to impress on their minds early sentiments of piety and virtue.

V. A small weekly sum, at the option of the parents, is allowed for pocket-money; beyond this, no money can be sent or given to them but through the President.

VI. The annual vacation begins at Midsummer, and continues until the first of August. No charge is made for those who remain at school during the vacation, nor any deduction for absence then or at any other time. The age for admission is from 7 to 14. If they remain beyond their fourteenth year, the pension is increased two pounds each year; so as to be £28 for the fifteenth, £30 for the sixteenth, and so on.

VII. Parents, who wish, may supply their children with clothes. The pension then is only £22 a year, and £1 a year increase after fourteen. These may either send the clothes down as they are wanted, or the school will furnish them at a moderate expense.

VIII. Drawing, dancing, and French are taught by approved masters. Drawing 15s. per quarter, and 5s. entrance; dancing 15s. per quarter; and French 10s. 6d. per quarter.

Agent for the school, Rev. Dr. Baldacconi, Sardinian House, 54, Lincoln's Inn-fields.

N.B.—Before any child can be sent to the school, due notice must be given, and the first half-year's pension paid in advance.

SCHOOLS FOR YOUNG GENTLEMEN.

LONDON AND ITS VICINITY.

BOARDING AND DAY ESTABLISHMENT FOR EDUCATION,

No. 7, Douro Cottages, Circus Road, St. John's Wood,

CONDUCTED BY MR. W. D. KENNY,

Author of the "Grammatical Spelling Assistant," &c.

Mr. W. D. Kenny respectfully announces to the Catholic public, that he has recently opened an establishment for young Gentlemen, in the delightful and healthy neighbourhood of St. John's Wood. The immediate vicinity of Hampstead and the Regent's Park, and the Catholic chapel, are recommendations that will insure the satisfaction of every parent and guardian.

The terms, for Boarders, including every extra, except medical attendance, are—35 guineas per annum, for young Gentlemen under 12; and 45 guineas from 12 to 15. One guinea entrance is required, in lieu of sheets, towels, plate, &c., usually demanded at other establishments.

The above-named terms, include tuition in the Latin and Greek Classics and Literature, the English and French Languages, Geography, History, Writing, Arithmetic, &c. Books, Washing, and Seat at Chapel.

The following languages and accomplishments are taught by eminent Professors, on the following terms:—French, Italian, Mathematics, Drawing, Dancing, Drilling, and Fencing, each four guineas per annum.

Weekly and Day Boarders upon equally moderate terms. The terms for Daily Pupils, vary from one guinea and a half to three guineas per annum, according to age or instruction required.

The limits of an advertisement prevent a full elucidation of the plan followed at Mr. K.'s establishment ; but a personal application will, it is presumed, prove satisfactory to the enquirer.

No corporal punishment is used ; but the desire of improvement is excited by emulation, caused by merits and demerits. for every exercise or lesson according as it is performed. A record is kept of the daily attendance and assiduity of every student ; and a monthly report is sent to the parents or guardians of each as to the regularity of attendance, general deportment, and attention to his scholastic duties.

The Rev. Chaplains of the Church of our Blessed Lady, have kindly offered to attend to the religious instruction of those young gentlemen placed under Mr. Kenny's care. The domestic arrangements are under the superintendence of Mrs. W. Kenny, who intends to take a limited number of younger pupils at 25 guineas per annum.

References can be had from the Revs. E. Norris, T. Long, T. Reardon, J. O'Neal, M. M'Neal, Wm. Hall, and the Parents of those who are at the academy.

MANOR HOUSE, CHEYNE WALK, CHELSEA.

CONDUCTED BY MR. MYLIUS,

Author of the "Abridged History of England for the Use of Catholic Schools," "The Spelling Dictionary," and other scholastic publications.

The terms, which include tuition in the English, French, Latin, and Greek languages—the Mathematics, Geography, and Book-keeping, are :—for young Gentlemen under nine years of age, 30 guineas per annum ; under twelve years, 35 guineas ; under fourteen years, 40 guineas, to be paid half yearly or quarterly in advance. A few young gentlemen above fourteen years are received as Parlour Boarders. Each pupil must pay two guineas entrance, or be provided with two pairs of linen sheets, six towels, a knife, a fork, and a silver spoon, which must be left at the school. A quarter's notice previously to the removal of any pupil will be required. A prospectus of the plan of education, &c., may be had of Messrs. Keating and Brown, 38, Duke-street, Grosvenor-square, and 32, St. Martin's-le-Grand ; of Messrs. Booker and Dolman, 61, New Bond-street ; of Mr. Jones, 63, Pater-noster-row ; and of Mr. Reed, 15, Motcomb-street, Belgrave-square.

KENT HOUSE, HAMMERSMITH.

MR. HUNT, ASSISTED BY ABLE MASTERS,

Educates young Gentlemen in the Latin, Greek, and French languages, Mathematics, Astronomy, the use of the Globes, Writing and Arithmetic, and History, both ancient and modern, on moderate terms. The Rev. N. Jacquin superintends the religious part of their education. Every attention is paid to the morals and improvement of the pupils. The house is airy and spacious; it is in every respect well adapted for the accommodation of young gentlemen.—A quarter's notice is required previous to the removal of a young gentleman from the school.

HAMMERSMITH,

No. 1, Brunswick Place, Grove Road.

MISS CLARKE'S Preparatory School for a limited number of young Gentlemen, from three years of age. For terms, apply as above.

BERKSHIRE.CLASSICAL AND COMMERCIAL ACADEMY, THATCHAM, NEAR NEWBURY.

Conducted by Mr. Titcomb, with the assistance of an able Professor competent to teach the French, Latin, and Greek languages.

It will be Mr. T.'s object to give his pupils a good English education, comprising reading, writing, book-keeping, grammar, and geography, with the use of the globes, so as to fit them for the various avocations in after life.

Mr. T. can assure parents that his first endeavour shall be, by constant watchfulness, to strengthen in the minds of his pupils the religious instructions they will receive from the Rev. S. Dambrine, who has the charge of their spiritual affairs; and to lead them to the practical fulfilment of those duties which may attend their situation in life, and of which religion alone can offer a sure guarantee.

The situation is healthy and pleasant, midway between London and Bath, and three miles from Newbury.

TERMS.

For young gentlemen under ten years of age £22 per annum; under fourteen years, £25; if above fourteen, £30; parlour boarders under fourteen of age, 40 guineas; above fourteen, £50. French, Latin, and Greek, 15s. per quarter. Music, drawing, and dancing, at the usual charges. Payments to be made quarterly in advance, and a quarter's notice or a quarter's pension required previous to removal. Each young gentleman to bring six towels, a knife, fork, and table-spoon.

The vacations are a fortnight at Christmas, and a month at Midsummer, an extra charge of one guinea will be made for any pupil remaining during the latter term. The other extra charges will be for a seat in the Chapel, books, stationery, and medical attendance.

DURHAM, COUNTY.Catholic Academy, Belle-vue Terrace, Darlington.

Young Gentlemen, from six to thirteen years of age, will be admitted on the following pension, to be paid half yearly, in advance.—Board and Education, 25 guineas; Washing, two guineas.—The course of education will comprise Reading, Writing, Arithmetic in all its branches, Book-keeping and Practical Land-Surveying, the Mathematics, Algebra, and the Elements of Astronomy, Geography, and the Use of the Globes, History, sacred and profane, English Grammar, Elocution, and the principles of Composition, the Greek and Latin languages.—The French, German, and Spanish languages: Dancing, Music, and Drawing, are extra charges.—Each young Gentleman will have a separate bed, and must be furnished with two pair of sheets, two pillow cases, four towels, a knife, fork, and silver spoon, to remain at the school, or he may pay in lieu of the above, two guineas.—No notice will be required previous to the removal of any young Gentleman from the academy, but no part of the pension paid in advance will be returned.—One Vacation only will be allowed, beginning on the 20th of June, and ending with the July; and should any young Gentleman remain at the Academy during the Vacation, he will be charged two guineas extra.—The Rev. Wm. Hogarth will superintend the moral and religious departments of this establishment.—Mr. Kirkley trusts that parents will not solicit leave of absence for their children at Christmas, and that the young Gentlemen will be punctual in returning for the first of August.

As Mr. Kirkley is particularly anxious to promote the health and moral improvement of his pupils, no less than their advancement in learning, he requests that information be given respecting the following particulars, viz.—date of birth, general health, temper and disposition, also whether the young Gentlemen have had the Measles, Small Pox, Hooping Cough, or have been Vaccinated.

* * Two days in each week, a drill-sergeant attends to exercise the young Gentlemen in walking, &c.

BELLE-VUE Academy is beautifully situated on a gentle declivity, near the town of Darlington, and commands an extensive view over one of the richest districts of South Durham, and the North Riding of the county of York. The plan of Studies adopted in this establishment, is well calculated to prepare youth for College, or fit them for mercantile pursuits. The encouragement which Mr. Kirkley has met with, and the flattering testimonials he has received from parents and from the heads of Colleges, when any of his pupils have been received, enable him to refer to the Right Rev. Bishop of the district, to the Presidents of Ushaw, Stonyhurst, Ampleforth, and Downside Colleges, and to many of the first Catholic families in the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Lancashire, and Yorkshire, whose children have been under his care. No day scholars admitted. Coaches from the North and South pass within a short distance several times in the day, and there is a ready and cheap communication with Lancashire through Barnard Castle every day, except Sunday, and with London, by the Darlington and Stockton Railroad to Middlesborough, and thence by the Emerald Isle steamer to St. Katherine's Dock, London.

SUFFOLK.

BURY SAINT EDMUND'S.

D. CHAPMAN

Returns thanks for the increased support he has received since entering upon his present premises, and takes this method of submitting the liberal terms of his Academy to the Catholic public.

Pupils under the age of twelve, £21 per annum; ditto above that age, £25 per annum. These terms will include every study properly connected with a liberal, commercial, and useful education.

The study of the French and Latin languages, preceded for young pupils by a course of English grammar, so taught, with reference to parsing and the rules of Syntax, as to be a preparation for those languages, forms part of the daily scholastic pursuits, while the chief aim of the system of studies is to fit youths for the commercial world.

The extras are :—Seat at chapel, 5s. per annum. Drilling, which all are expected to learn during their stay at the Academy, 6s. per annum.

Cash, stationery, music, dancing, and drawing. Some allowance is made to families sending two or more youths.

Washing is not an extra, and no entrance-money is required; but £5 is requested to be paid in advance of the first half-year's account, to meet expenses in providing for new pupils, who can enter at any period, and are charged from the time of entrance.

All accounts are sent in at the vacations, which always begin on the second Wednesday in December and on the second Wednesday in June, and last 28 days each time.

For remaining at the establishment during either vacation £1 extra is charged; and several regularly stay during the Christmas vacation, it being advantageous both to pupils and their parents.

Each young gentleman is expected to bring a pair of sheets, six towels, a knife, a fork, dessert spoon, combs, hair, tooth, and clothes brushes, three suits of clothes, viz.—a best suit, second best suit for wet Sundays, week-day Mass, and walks, and a strong suit for the school-room and playground, with hats or caps and shoes to match; together with an inventory pasted inside his clothes-box on the lid. The pupils are personally attended by Mr. C. at prayers, study, meals, and exercise, and each one has a separate sleeping apartment, properly furnished.

Domestic affairs are kindly and carefully superintended by Mrs. Chapman.

The Rev. Catholic Incumbents of Bury patronize the Establishment and superintend the religious education of the pupils.

Apply (post paid) to No. 6, Risby Gate Street; and for reference in London, to the publishers of the "Orthodox Journal," 3, Duke Street, Little Britain.

No day pupils received.

Presentation Convent, Manchester.

The order of the Presentation has been for many years, diffused throughout a great part of Ireland, and has conferred incalculable benefits on that country, in the education of its female poor. Countless thousands of children owe the blessings of religious instruction to those true disciples of the God of charity, who have forsaken the world, to devote their entire lives to this important task.

A Convent of the Presentation order was opened, about three years since, in Manchester; in the immediate vicinity of St. Patrick's church, and in a district containing twenty thousand Catholics. There are three large commodious and well ventilated school-rooms, capable of containing six hundred scholars. At present, only one of the rooms is occupied by two hundred children. Thrice that number might be got to attend, if the religious community were sufficiently large to attend to their instruction. An institution of this kind must appeal most forcibly to every Catholic heart. Here, the neglected children of the poor are taught their duties to God, their neighbour, and themselves; and receive a plain and useful education from the most disinterested and generous of all instructors. Here, the youthful mind is brought into contact with everything that is pure and attractive in religion, and is stamped with those heavenly impressions which no length of time can efface. Here, in fine, the obedient child, the modest virgin, the discreet matron, and the virtuous wife are formed in the nursery of piety, and become useful members, nay, ornaments of society; whilst but for the existence of this institution, they might become a prey to the deplorable consequences of ignorance and vice.

ST. MARGARET'S CONVENT, EDINBURGH.

I. SISTERS OF CHARITY.

The two-fold object which the Ladies of St. Margaret's have in view, is the education of their own sex, both in the higher classes of society, and among the poor ; and the relief of the destitute and of the sick.

The friends of religion will rejoice to hear that the Convent of St. Margaret, upon which no expense has been spared to render it suited in every respect to its important destination as a place of female education, is already, by the blessing of God, beginning to prosper ; but they will learn with equal feelings of regret, that very considerable exertions are still called for, in order to place the Charitable Branch of the institution upon a durable footing.

It is earnestly hoped, however, that the pious females to whose disinterested endeavours and personal sacrifices, the Catholics of Great Britain are indebted for the first establishment in this country of the Sisters of Charity, will not be found to have relied in vain upon the cordial co-operation of a benevolent public.

Donations will be most thankfully received in behalf of either branch of the above establishments, in London, by the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, 35, Golden-square, and Mrs. Loughnan, 23, Nottingham-place ; Keating and Brown, and by Booker and Dolman, London ; and in Edinburgh, by the Right Rev. Dr. Carruthers, Catholic Chapel House ; and the Right Rev. Dr. Gillis, Green-hill-cottage, near Edinburgh.

2. LADIES' BOARDING SCHOOL at St. Margaret's Convent.

This establishment is situated in the immediate neighbourhood of the town, and is universally acknowledged to occupy one of the most salubrious spots in the environs of Edinburgh. The house itself is conveniently distributed for the purposes of a boarding school ; the dormitories are spacious and well aired, and the pleasure grounds extensive. Annexed to the house is a commodious chapel, where the regular attendance of a clergyman affords constant opportunity for the practices of religion. Parents may rest assured that the most particular attention will be given to every circumstance connected with the health and comfort of their children. In case of sickness, the pupils will have the benefit of a cheerful and well aired infirmary, with the convenience of warm bath, &c.—Medical attendance at the expense of the parents. Uniform to be furnished by the house, at the parent's expense;—for summer, buff gingham; for winter, brown stuff; white on holy-days. Each young lady must be provided with a knife, a silver fork and spoon, and half a dozen table napkins; two pair of sheets, and half a dozen towels; which will be returned when the pupil leaves the seminary. A quarter's notice is required previous to the removal of a pupil.

Terms: Board, including the following branches of education, viz.—English grammar, writing, arithmetic, geography, the use of the globes, history, outlines of astronomy, and natural history; needle-work, plain and ornamental, thirty guineas per annum; washing three guineas per annum; to be paid in advance, either quarterly or half-yearly. Extras, per quarter, French, including frequent exercises in conversation, one guinea; Drawing, one guinea; Music, £1 11s. 6d.; Italian, £2 2s.; dancing by a master. If desired, music and Italian by masters.

For further particulars apply to the R. R. Dr. Carruthers, Catholic Chapel House, Edinburgh; or to the R. R. James Gillis, Green-hill-cottage, Edinburgh. Letters post paid.

CONVENT OF SISTERS OF MERCY,

AT BERMONDSEY.

Encouraged by the uniform success attending appeals to the enlightened piety and sympathising charity of the Nobility and Gentry of England, the Pastors of Bermondsey and Rotherhithe congregation confidently supplicate assistance towards the establishment of a Convent of Sisters of Mercy.

Little need be said in recommendation of such a convent in London. We have only to look to those places in which, under various denominations, they are already, and their advantages are everywhere evident to our view. In France and in Ireland, their happy effects are truly wonderful, and are admired and greatly praised by every denomination of Christians. The establishments in France of Sisters of Charity, amount to more than four hundred : the number of their members is more than three thousand, and there are at this day thirty-four convents of that order in the city of Paris alone. In Dublin and other parts of Ireland, Convents of Mercy and Charity have been founded some years since, to which are attached hospitals, infirmaries, and schools for the poor ; but England still remains unaided by these pious Sisterhoods.

That their establishment in London would produce the most desirable consequences, must be manifest to every one who reflects on the duties of these pious ladies, and their faithful discharge of them. They acknowledge as a first principle, that Almighty God has assembled them to honour our Blessed Saviour as the source of all charity, and to render unto him in the persons of the aged and infirm poor, of children, of prisoners, and all in distress, every service, whether corporal or spiritual, of which they are capable. They, from the most pure and holy motives, engage to teach female poor schools, to instruct the ignorant, to serve the poor in person, to perform the most revolting offices to the sick, to watch by them during whole nights, without regarding the tainted and infected air of the hospital, the miserable garret, the damp cellar, or the awful presence of the dying and the dead. The abandoned orphan, the desolate widow, the wounded soldier, the timid poor, and the wretched of every class, are objects of their pious solicitude and their holy love. O ! surely this is religion, pure and undefiled before God and man, and the practice of it must be of infinite advantage to society in general, and to religion in particular.

Under the impression of this truth, the necessity of such a community in London, was long deeply felt by the Right Rev. Dr. Poynter, and the Right Rev. Dr. Bramston, and it is now with the marked approbation and encouragement of his Lordship, our Bishop, the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, your applicants appeal to your charity for assistance in the establishment of the Sisters of Mercy in Bermondsey. The difference between the Sister Orders of Mercy and Charity is principally in government : the former being under the Bishop, and not subject to removal from his diocese.

Certainly no place in London could be better selected for these Sisters to commence in. They will have within the range of their charity, two hospitals, two prisons, and four very extensive work-houses, with a congregation of nearly ten thousand of the poorest of the poor.

For the last two years, ladies have been engaged at Bermondsey in the holy exercises of Mercy and Charity with great edification both to Protestants and Catholics. They have shewn by their universal charity, their zeal to do good to all persons, that the same spirit which animated the Sisters of Charity in France, and the Sisters of Mercy and Charity in Ireland, is not less vigorous in the English Ladies when called on to serve God in works of mercy and holy love. This being a fact beyond contradiction, the Bishop has sent ladies to Ireland, who are now going through their noviciate, and will return to Bermondsey, in twelve months, when others, now at Bermondsey, will be professed, and the community formed. We have not yet, however, a convent for their reception; but encouraged by contributions already received, and especially sanctioned by the marked patronage of the Bishop, the Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, the Pastors of Bermondsey respectfully and earnestly petition the aid of the friends of religion and charity in furtherance of this holy work.

STATISTICS OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN THE AUSTRIAN DOMINIONS.

PART I.

I. ARCHDUCHY OF AUSTRIA.

This Archduchy possesses 2,810,000 inhabitants. It contains the Archiepiscopal See of Vienna with its two suffragan bishoprics of St. Polten and of Linz.

1. Archbishopric of Vienna.—The residence of the Archbishop is in the Imperial City of Vienna on the Danube. This city contains upwards of 320,000 inhabitants, 50 churches, whereof 32 are parish churches, and a great number of chapels. There are in Vienna three convents, and twelve communities of men; among the latter is the order of the Mechitarists, Armenian Catholic Monks, from whose excellent printing establishment has issued a multitude of pious and useful publications. There are also a university, an establishment of higher studies for secular priests, an Archiepiscopal Seminary, an hospital attended by the Brothers of Mercy, the hospital of the Elizabethians, a society of noble ladies for the promotion of good and useful works, which numbers twenty-three Princesses, and one hundred and fifteen Countesses among its members, and has sixty-seven affiliated establishments in other cities, and lastly the Leopoldine Institution, an association which extends through the whole Austrian Empire; and has for its object the promotion of Catholic Missions, especially those of Brazil and North America.

2. Bishopric of St. Polten.—The residence of the Bishop is in the city of the same name by the Trazen River, where there is an Episcopal College, and a Convent of English dames with a girls' school. In the same district there is the splendid Benedictine Abbey of Melk on the Danube: it possesses a Theological Seminary, a Gymnasium, a Convictorium or Ecclesiastical Seminary, where Theological students are not only educated but boarded and lodged gratuitously, a Botanical Garden, a Cabinet of Coins and Natural History, and a library of 20,000 volumes with rare documents and manuscripts.

3. Bishopric of Linz.—The residence of the Bishop is in the city of the same name on the Danube, which is the capital of Upper Austria, contains 24,000 inhabitants. It has an Episcopal Seminary. At Freystadt there is a College of Piarists. In this Diocese are several Cistercian and Benedictine Abbeys, possessing Theological Seminaries, Gymnasias or Lyceums for the education of Lay Students, extensive libraries, valuable historical monuments, and rich collections of Art and Natural History.

II. DUCHY OF SALZBURG.

Archbishopric of Salzburg.—This Duchy contains 138,611 inhabitants. The residence of the Archbishop is in the city of the same name on the Salzach, in which there are 13,300 inhabitants. In this city there are 17 churches, among these the splendid Cathedral, and the Church of St. Peter which contains Haydn's monument. We find also a Lyceum with a Theological section, an Archiepiscopal Seminary, and the foundation of St. Peter with a library of 36,000 volumes.

III. THE MARGRAVIATE OF MORAVIA WITH SILESIA.

The two millions, sixty-five thousand inhabitants of this province are with the exception of 54,000 Lutherans, 14,000 Calvinists, and 27,358 Jews, entirely Catholic. In Moravia is the Archiepiscopal See of Olmutz. The Archbishop is mostly in Kremsier, where there is a Collegiate Church, and a College of Piarists. Olmutz on the Marg has 19,000 inhabitants, 13 churches and a university. In Moravian Trübau there is a college of Piarists.

The Bishopric of Brunn.—This Bishopric is under the Metropolitan jurisdiction of the Archiepiscopal See of Prague in the Kingdom of Bohemia. The residence of the Bishop is in the city of the same name by the confluence of the Schwarza and Zwittawa, which contains 35,000 inhabitants, and where we find a Theological Seminary, Monasteries, and Hospitals of the Brothers of Mercy, and an association of the Elizabethians and & other pious charitable foundations. In all Moravia and Austrian Silesia there are 561 Parochial Churches, 351 Chaplaincies, 13 Collegiate Churches, and three Female Convents. There are also many Colleges of Piarists, Ecclesiastical Seminaries, Gymnasias for Lay Students, and Hospitals attended by the Brothers of Mercy and the Elizabethians.

IV. THE COUNTSHIP OF TYROL WITH THE LORDSHIPS OF VORARLBERG.

The inhabitants of this Alpine Country amount to 704,772 souls. They are with few exceptions, members of the Catholic Church. The two Tyrolese Sees are Brixen and Trent, which are both under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan See of Salzburg.

Bishopric of Brixen.—The residence of the Bishop is in the City of the same name : In Brixen there is a Theological Seminary, and an establishment of English dames with a girls' school. In Vorarlberg there is a Vicar General of the Bishop of Brixen, who has his residence at Bregenz. In this Diocese there are several Ursuline Convents and Dominican Convents with girls' schools, Benedictine Abbeys, Communities of Brothers of Mercy and Sisters of Charity. At Innspruck there is a university.

Bishopric of Trent.—The residence of the Bishop is in the city of the same name on the Adige. At St. Roveredo on the Adige there is an establishment of English dames with a girls' school. The same at Lizzano, near Riva. At Arco on the Sarca a convent of female Servites, devoted to the instruction of young ladies, and in Welschmichael a community of Canons regular according to the rule of St. Augustin.

V. KINGDOM OF BOHEMIA.

This kingdom contains 3,888,828 inhabitants, of whom the great majority are Catholics. The decided preponderance of the Catholic over the non-catholic population is evident from the following estimate. In the year 1830, out of 157,749 persons born, 153,450 belonged to the Catholic Church, 2860 were Protestant, and 1436 were Jews. The Catholic Bohemians have one Archbishop, and three Bishopricks.

1. Archbishopric of Prague contains 24 vicariates, including the Countship of Glatz, and 945,029 Catholics subject to its jurisdiction. The occupant of this See is ever Primate of Bohemia. The residence of the Prince-Archbishop and Primate is in the capital of Bohemia, Prague, which contains 120,000 inhabitants. The great Archiepiscopal Seminary contains from 300 to 400 pupils and young secular ecclesiastics. There is also another high school founded by the Emperor Ferdinand I., which he intended to serve as a barrier against Protestantism ; it is provided with a library of 130,000 volumes. There are also at Prague a community of Benedictines, one of Premonstratensians, a College of Piarists, four Monasteries of Augustinians, Dominicans, Franciscans, and Minorites ; an Hospital of the Brothers of Mercy, wherein 42 Monks take care of 2000 sick ; a Convent of Carmelite nuns, two of Ursuline nuns and English dames, devoted to the education and instruction of the female sex, and a Convent of the Elizabethians, possessing 60 nuns, charged with the care of the sick, not to speak of many other pious foundations and institutions of benevolence. In other districts of this Archbishopal See we find 23 monasteries, viz., eight of Franciscans, four of Capuchins, one of Augustinians, one of Dominicans, one of Benedictines, and six colleges of Piarists.

2. The Bishopric of Budweis.—This See, which is a suffragan of the Archbishopric of Prague, has under its jurisdiction 800,515 Catholics. The residence of the Bishop is in the city of the same name, in which are a Theological Seminary, and a College of Piarists. In this diocese we find the following religious communities:—Capuchins, in Bischofseinitz, Schultenhof; Servites, in Gratz; Minorites, in Kruman; Augustinians, in Tauss and Schäffeburg; Franciscans, in Bechin and Neuhaus; and a Cistercian Community, in Hohenfurt.

3. Bishopric of König-gratz.—This diocese contains 1,069,489 Catholics. The residence of the Bishop is in the city of the same name, by the mouth of the Adler, on the Elbe, where there is a seminary. In various parts of this diocese there are religious Communities of Benedictines, Brothers of Mercy, Capuchins, Franciscans, Augustinians, Premonstratensians, Servites, and Convents of Ursulines, with girls' schools attached.

4. Bishopric of Leitmeritz.—This See has 852,340 souls subject to its jurisdiction. The Episcopal residence is in the city of the same name. In this diocese also we find a variety of religious communities scattered through different districts, such as Dominicans, Capuchins, Cistercians, Minorites, Augustinians, Franciscans, Piarists, and Elizabethians, charged with the care of the sick.

We have thus given an account of the dioceses included in the Archduchy of Austria, the Countship of Tyrol, the Margraviate of Moravia, and the Kingdom of Bohemia. On a future occasion we shall describe the ecclesiastical state of the remaining Provinces of the Austrian Empire, viz., Galicia and Lodomeria, Hungary, Sclavonia, Croatia, Illyria, Dalmatia, the Lombardo-Venetian Kingdom, the Duchies of Styria, Carinthia and Crain, and the Grand Duchy of Transylvania. In the Austrian States the Catholic religion is professed by the great majority of the Germans, Goths, and Vandals, all the Italians, a part of the Magiars, the greater part of the Sclavonians, and their branches the Ezechs, the Winder, and the Scythians, a part of the Poles, Croatians, and Morlachians. Including the 170,000 Catholic Armenians, and the 130,000 united Greeks, there are in the whole Austrian Empire 27,290,000 Catholics. In the remaining portion of the population we find 3,040,000 schismatic Greeks, 1,660,000 Zuinglians and Calvinists, 1,190,000 Lutherans, 50,000 Socinians and Unitarians, 3,500 Mennonites, 8,800 Protestants of other sects, 60,000 Jews, and 500 Mahometans. The Catholic Church in the Austrian States is divided into 13 Archbishoprics, and 70 Bishoprics.

THE COMMITTEE of the CATHOLIC INSTITUTE consider it to be their first duty to make known to their Fellow Catholics, throughout Great Britain, the design and objects of that Institution, and to solicit their earnest and zealous co-operation. To this end, therefore, they propose to circulate, as widely as possible, the fundamental articles upon which it has been founded. From these may be collected as well the objects of the Institute, as the system on which it is intended to give them practical effect. They are essentially the vindication of our holy religion from the calumnious defamation of modern adversaries, and the protection of its poorer and more defenceless adherents from oppression for conscience sake.

In the discussions preliminary to the Establishment of the Institute it was suggested, that as it could not be doubted that such an association would receive the general concurrence and support of the entire body of British Catholics, it might be placed on a more enlarged basis and embrace other objects of great utility. After much consideration, however, it was determined to confine it strictly to its present purposes. The motive to this resolution was a desire to secure that unanimity and concentration in the Catholic body which seemed indispensable to the success of the undertaking, by the selection of such objects only of undoubted importance as appeared to be beyond the possibility of objection.

As a large step towards the general approbation of their Catholic countrymen, the Committee are happy to announce that the Institute has already received the high sanction of every Vicar Apostolic in England and Scotland, and that numerous accessions, from the general body of the Clergy, including some of the most eminent amongst them, for piety and learning, afford good ground to hope for the general co-operation of that venerable class in our Community.

British Catholics have been frequently taunted by their adversaries and sometimes reproached even by their friends, for want of concert in the pursuit of their common interests. Indeed, the alleged experience of the past has suggested in some quarters the apprehension that this institution may, by the same cause, be limited in its exertions, if not in its very existence. The Committee however, without discussing the question whether the charge as respects the past be groundless, or well founded, feel confident that on the present occasion, there is no cause for apprehension. Between this and all former associations, a wide and obvious difference exists. Those were formed under the influence of severe and actual oppression, and whilst the body at large was stamped by the law with the marks of inferiority and degradation. Moreover the object of such associations was of partial, and in some degree exclusive, interest, being the recovery of secular privileges which from their very nature must be unequal in their distribution.

Happily, here the circumstances and objects are wholly different. Catholics have been for many years restored to political equality : we have freely mixed with our fellow countrymen, in the transaction of public affairs, and may now assume the tone, and exercise the rights of freemen without challenge or exception, and it is not conceivable that the objects contemplated can contain any elements of disunion. They regard not matters of temporal or secular interest. They aim at higher ends ; at ends in which every member of our community, however high or low may be his rank or station, has a common and equal concern, namely, the glory of God and the good of our neighbour.

It is notorious that the most vigorous efforts are daily made, to check the progress of our holy religion. Argument, conducted fairly and candidly, Catholics would rather court than discountenance, knowing that ultimately it must assist rather than retard the advancement of truth. But many have recourse to other weapons. They pervert our tenets, misrepresent our religious observances, and calumniate without scruple the characters of some of the purest amongst the professors of our creed, without regard to sex or station. Silence and supineness under such circumstances would be unjust to our fellow christians of other denominations. They might reasonably believe, that charges thus boldly made, were passed over only because they could not be contradicted: and we should consequently become indirect but efficient agents in the delusion.

If the objects of the Institute are in themselves laudable, or free from reasonable objection, the mode in which it is proposed to effect them, will be not less so. For it is intended ever to keep carefully in remembrance, that the maintenance of Truth is the sole basis of this incorporation. Thus, while its members will feel themselves called upon to promote through the proper channel, the prompt and vigorous refutation and exposure of the misrepresentations and calumnies complained of, so that the antidote may closely follow and neutralize the poison, they will carefully avoid the course which they condemn in others, as being completely inconsistent with that sacred purpose.—Virulence, harshness, and irritation are the usual accompaniments, and indeed indications of error. The calm dignity of truth disclaims their support. Its appropriate and powerful arms are moderation and charity, which are nevertheless perfectly compatible with energy and active utility.

It is then to an undertaking, formed for carrying out objects which must be dear to every Catholic, in a temperate and Christian-like spirit, that the Committee of the Institute earnestly invite the attention and support of their Catholic countrymen, and they confidently hope that the appeal will not be in vain.

CHARLES LANGDALE,

July, 1838.

Chairman of the Committee.

RESOLUTIONS passed at Meetings held for the purpose of organizing the INSTITUTE, and referred to in the foregoing address.

1. That a CATHOLIC INSTITUTE be formed, for the under-mentioned purposes, which have been sanctioned by the Vicars Apostolic.
2. That all the Catholic Prelates of Great Britain, and the Colonies shall be members of the Institute, without any contribution save what they may voluntarily choose to give.

3. That all the Catholic Priests in Great Britain, and the Colonies having faculties or approved of, be also members of the Institute upon the same terms.

4. That every individual of the Catholic Laity, who shall contribute not less than six shillings by the year, or sixpence by the month, shall be a member, and shall continue to be a member so long as such contribution shall be paid.

5. That the objects of the Institute shall be confined to the exposure of the falsehood of the calumnious charges made against the Catholic religion, to the defence of the real tenets of Catholicity, to the circulation of all useful knowledge upon the above-mentioned subjects; and to the protection of the poorer classes of Catholics in the enjoyment of their religious principles and practices.

6. That the affairs of the Institute shall be under the management of a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Secretary, to be elected as hereinafter mentioned, and of a Committee to be constituted as hereinafter mentioned.

7. That the Right Honourable the Earl of Shrewsbury be President of the Institute.

8. That all Catholic Peers, and Members of Parliament, contributors to the Institute, be ex officio Vice-Presidents, if, upon application to them, they will accept such office; and that there be twelve Vice-Presidents, to be elected by the Committee.

9. That the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretary, shall be ex officio members of the Committee; and that in addition to them, the Committee shall consist of all the Catholic Bishops and Clergy of Great Britain, and the Colonies, members of the Institute, of such Peers and Members of Parliament as may contribute to the funds of the Institute, and of Twenty-one Laymen (to be elected as hereinafter mentioned,) with power to increase that number to any extent not exceeding fifty.

10. That an Annual Meeting of the members shall be held in London on the second Wednesday in the month of May, at which the Secretary and twenty-one Lay-Members of the Committee shall be elected; and that at such meeting an account of the funds and of the proceedings of the Institute, its condition and prospects, shall be laid before the members, and that the discussion at such meeting shall be limited to the foregoing objects.

11. That the funds of the Institute shall be applied by the Committee in providing a suitable place of meeting, and in recompensing the Secretary, and such officers as they may consider to be necessary for the purpose of conducting the affairs and keeping the accounts of the Institute; and that a farther portion of the funds shall be applied in printing and circulating such publications as, having the previous sanction of a clergyman duly authorised by the Vicar Apostolic of the London district, may be deemed most useful to obviate calumny, to explain Catholic tenets, and defend the purity and truth of Catholic doctrines, and circulate useful information on these subjects.

12. That the Committee shall also undertake the examination of all cases of religious oppression or deprivation of rights of conscience of the poorer and less protected classes of Catholics, under any circumstances.

13. That the Committee shall be authorised to appoint sub-committees, of not less than five members, out of their own body, for any purposes of the Institute; and also to organize local committees, and to solicit and avail themselves of the cooperation of individuals in different parts of Great Britain and of the colonies.

14. That all questions, whether in Committee or at meetings, shall be decided by a majority of votes, the Chairman having a casting vote in cases of equality; and that five members shall constitute a quorum of the Committee.

15. That Mr. Henry Robinson be appointed Treasurer to the Institute.

16. That Mr. James Smith be appointed Secretary to the Institute.

17. That every Member of the Committee be authorised to receive subscriptions, and to sign receipts for the same, which are to be countersigned by the Secretary.

Instructions for the Organization and Management of Local Auxiliary Societies.

At a meeting of the General Committee held on the 20th of August, 1838, it was determined that each Member of the said Committee should have the power of convening meetings for the purpose of forming Local Societies in aid of the general purposes of the Institute.

By another resolution of the said Committee, it was also determined that all other persons wishing to form Local Societies should apply to the said Committee for powers to act.

At a Meeting of the General Committee, held on the 1st October, inst., a Finance Committee was appointed with full powers to organize all such Local Societies.

Accordingly the Finance Committee issue the following Instructions.

1. Printed forms for convening meetings are to be obtained gratuitously (carriage free) on application to the Secretary, James Smith, Esq., 3, Crosby Row, Walworth Road, London.

N.B. This form has one blank for the insertion of the name of the gentleman who will preside at the meeting, and another blank for the name of the place, and time at which such meeting will be held. The committee consider it desirable that one of the resident clergy of the district should be solicited to take the chair.

In London and within any convenient distance thereof deputations from the General Committee, will, if requested attend all such meetings in order to explain the objects of the Institute and reply to such questions as may arise.

Copies of the proceedings of similar Local Meetings which have already taken place may be obtained (if required), on application to the Secretary.

2. All mere political discussion is strictly forbidden: the speakers must confine themselves to the explanation of the objects of the Catholic Institute, and its practical application to the wants of the locality in particular or of the Catholic body in general, as set forth in the printed resolutions of 26th July, 1838.
3. The name of every Local Society must be "The (here insert the name of the place) Auxiliary Catholic Institute."
4. A President, Committee, Secretary and Treasurer are to be appointed.
5. The Secretary shall forward a copy of the proceedings had at the inaugural meeting, with the names of the subscribers, a list of the officers and the amount of subscriptions.
6. The Treasurer shall forward when requested so to do, an account of the state of the subscription list, distinguishing monthly from annual subscribers with their names and addresses for the purpose of enrolment: when the sum in his hands shall amount to £5, he shall remit the same through the Local Bank or other agency, to the "account of the Catholic Institute of Great Britain" at the bank of Messrs Wright and Co., 6, Henrietta-street, Covent Garden.
7. All receipts for subscriptions must be furnished by the Secretary in London, and may be had upon application.
8. Every Member admitted by a Local Society shall be entitled to participate in all the privileges and benefits arising from the Institute.
9. All applications for the Publications of the Institute must be made to the "Publications Committee of the Catholic Institute of Great Britain," and addressed to the Secretary as above.
10. All cases of religious oppression, calumny, or deprivation of rights of conscience of the poorer and less protected classes of Catholics under any circumstances having been first carefully investigated by the Local Committee must be forwarded to the General Committee, who, whether by the exertion of the influence, which they possess, or the appropriation of the necessary funds will take the requisite steps to obtain redress.

N.B. As the complete redress of every well-founded complaint, and the removal of every impediment, to the religious education of the Catholics of Great Britain, are the primary objects of the Institute, the General committee do not propose to regulate the amount of their assistance, either in publications or otherwise, by the sums which may have been contributed from any particular Locality.

By Order of the Committee,

(signed) JAMES SMITH,

October 24. 1838.

Secretary.

CUMBERLAND—PENRITH.

The circumstance of Penrith being, as it were, the headquarters of those who resort to the Lakes, (being only five miles from the romantic Lake of Ullswater), gives to this mission a plea of peculiar usefulness. Unfortunately, however, the congregation is so extremely poor, that unless a generous Catholic public assist with their charitable contributions, the establishment of the mission on a suitable footing, will be impossible; at present there is almost a total want of requisites for the use of the altar. The building used as a chapel is too small for the congregation—extremely damp, and every way most inconvenient. The entrance to it is through the churchyard; and the poor Catholics are taunted as they go to mass, with the poverty of their place of worship. By the generosity of H. Howard, Esq., of Corby Castle, an eligible plot of ground has been purchased for the erection of a new chapel; and it is most confidently hoped that all true lovers of their religion will prove, by their contributions to this mission, that the Catholics of this day are animated by the same truly religious spirit which caused their ancestors to erect those magnificent structures to religion, which, though now no longer of use to their descendants, continue to attest their faith and piety. There is no school attached to the mission—a subject of the greatest distress to the pastor, who sees the children of his flock exposed to the contagion of all kinds of vice and bad example without having any sufficient means for their rescue.

Donations will be thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Briggs, Fulford House, near York; the Very Rev. R. Thomson, Weldbank, Chorley; P. H. Howard, Esq., M.P., Corby Castle, near Carlisle; and by the Rev. J. Fielding Whitaker, Pastor of the Congregation.

PREFACE.

The Editor of this Missal has principally endeavoured to furnish his Catholic brethren with an edition, correct in its contents, and convenient in its arrangement. This volume will be found strictly conformable to the Roman Missal, as used by authority in this country ; with the proper Masses of the English Saints, in their respective places, and the Common of Saints restored to its appropriate place, after the Proper Masses. Much care has been taken to give the proper Masses as free as possible from references. More Latin has been given, and one uniform plan observed in its insertion. Wherever Commemorations are to be made of Simple Feasts, they are carefully noted ; and proper directions are given to find the Masses within the Octaves, of all festivals so celebrated. The Votive Masses of the B. Virgin are printed separately, and in their proper places, according to the Roman Missal. The Hymns, and Sequences or Proses, have been newly translated with great care, and most of them in verse.

These are some leading features, which it is hoped will secure for this Second Edition a continuance of the approval and patronage bestowed on the first ; especially as the work has been graciously approved, and its publication and use permitted, by the venerable authority of all our R. R. Vicars Apostolic.

N. B.—The Missal may be had either with or without Plates, at the option of the Purchaser. Some copies will be kept bound in the Ancient Monastic Style of the Middle Ages, from designs by A. WELBY PUGIN, Esq. ; and adorned with Metal Gilt Corners and Clasps in the same style.

A NEW VERSION OF THE FOUR GOSPELS; WITH NOTES, CRITICAL AND EXPLANATORY: BY A CATHOLIC,

Amongst the principal reasons which have led to this New Version, are:—first, to show, in opposition to the Protestant principle, that the Scriptures are the sole rule of faith,—"The impracticability of drawing from the narratives of the FOUR EVANGELISTS, without the aid of oral testimony or tradition, all their knowledge of Christian faith, or Christian practice."—Vide Preface.

2dly. To present a new translation from the Original Greek, with explanatory and interesting notes; which in removing the defects that exist in the present versions, and offering a more elegant translation of these divinely inspired books, should render them more intelligible and attractive, and thus create a more general attention to their perusal.

It is also meant, hereby, to refute the false and unfounded assertions, "that Catholics are deficient in BIBLICAL CRITICISM, and dare not attempt it;" and, that they forbid, or impede the reading the Holy Scriptures;—accusations which they reject with indignation.

AN AMICABLE DISCUSSION on the CHURCH of ENGLAND, and on the Reformation in general; translated from the French of the "DISCUSSION AMICALE," by the Right Rev. Dr. Treverne, Bishop of Strasbourg, by the Rev. W. RICH-MOND, in 2 vols. 8vo. price £1. 1s. in boards.

HIERURGIA; or the HOLY SACRIFICE of the MASS: with Notes and Dissertations, elucidating its Doctrines and Ceremonies. By DANIEL ROCK, D.D.

In the Second Part are treated at length—TRANSUBSTANTIATION, RELICS, INVOCATION of SAINTS and ANGELS, PURGATORY, the Use of HOLY WATER, LIGHTS, and INCENSE, the DYPYCHS, &c., with Appendixes containing "Extracts from the Ancient Liturgies," &c. N. B. A few copies taken off with the plates on India Paper, price £1. 14s. cloth lettered.

In the review of the above work in the "Edinburgh Catholic Magazine," the Editor observes:—"Of the 'Notes on the Rubrics' which first claim our attention, we may say, that they will be found very interesting to the general reader, Catholic as well as Protestant, not merely on account of the lucid explanation which they afford of the different parts of the liturgy and its ceremonies, but also on account of the numerous scriptural and other references with which the notes are enriched.

"But, interesting as the 'Notes' are, they are merely preliminary to dissertations on the doctrine and ritual of the Holy Eucharistic Sacrifice, and the other doctrines and practices which we have enumerated, all of which display an intimate knowledge of the different subjects treated, and a critical acumen with reference to the proofs in support of Catholic doctrines, derived from the antique monuments and inscriptions to which the learned author alludes (and of which he has given many excellent specimens) which place him in the rank of the first theologians and ecclesiastical antiquaries of the age."

Just published, in 8vo. price 1s. 6d.

An ESSAY on the PRINCIPLES and PRACTICES of the CATHOLIC CHURCH. Designed chiefly to shew the exact correspondence of the Doctrines of the Catholic Church, with the essential duties of Natural and Revealed Religion.

ECCLESIASTICAL ORNAMENTS

Designed from ancient authorities and examples by

A. W. PUGIN,

*Architect and Professor of Ecclesiastical Antiquities at St.
Mary's College, Oscott,*

Executed in a very superior style, and with a scrupulous regard to Canonical laws, by

J. HARDMAN, Jun., of Birmingham.

Consisting of crucifixes of various dimensions, altar and processional candlesticks, processional crosses, portable vats for holy water, with sprinklers, sacring bells, morses for copes, sanctuary lamps, altar bread boxes, stoups for holy-water in chambers or churches, bindings for large altar missals, thuribles, chalices, ciboriums, monstrances, cruets, tabernacles, antependiums, branches for lights, and every other description of church furniture.

In order that a more correct idea may be formed of the description of ornaments made, the annexed plate has been engraved with correct delineations of the various articles. The chalices, ciboriums, and all immediately connected with the Blessed Eucharist, will be made in silver, either plain or gilt, but the other ornaments will vary considerably, both as regards costliness of material and workmanship.

Letters may be addressed to Mr. Pugin, 109, Wardour-street, Oxford-street, London; or Mr. J. Hardman, Jun., 12, Paradise-street, Birmingham.

The great difficulty of procuring ecclesiastical ornaments suitable to the wants and dignity of the ancient religion, has long been felt in this country. The utter ignorance of both artists and artisans in these manners, and the enormous expense always attendant on any attempt at the production of even the most inferior articles of this description, have forced the English Catholics to the alternative of either allowing their churches to remain bare of the necessary ornaments, or to procure them from that mass of vitiated taste, the modern French school. It is with the view of remedying these urgent wants, and enabling the Catholics of England to celebrate the holy rites of their religion in their ancient dignity, that Mr. Pugin, having procured the zealous co-operation of his respected friend, Mr. J. Hardman of Birmingham, has with considerable pains and research, prepared correct imitations of many most beautiful and appropriate ecclesiastical ornaments, used in the ancient Catholic structures of this country previous to their plunder and desecration.

The great progress which the ancient faith is now making in this land, and the numerous churches which are every where arising for the celebration of its worship, seem to demand this undertaking, and great as has been the outlay consequent on commencing so important a work, and unremitting as is the attention required to perfect it, should the object of restoring the externals of religion to their former splendour be accomplished, it will be an ample and pleasing remuneration for all the difficulties experienced in its execution.

PORTUGUESE WINES.

TWO PORTUGUESE GENTLEMEN, both Wine-growers, one residing in London,* the other in Portugal,† on his wine estates of Tedo and Folgoza (Upper Douro, in the Sima do Corgo or best part of the Port Wine District,) have taken measures for supplying in England the best Portuguese Wines in their natural and unadulterated state. Till further arrangements are made, they have appointed Messrs. Devoy and Co., licensed Shipping and Custom-House Agents, 66, Lower Thames-street, London, to show samples, and to receive orders for the said Wines, which will be supplied direct from Portugal in about six weeks after such orders have been given.

Pure Wine for Sacramental purposes may be received direct from Portugal, under the seal and certificate of the Priest (Parocho), of the district where the Wine is grown.

* Mr. A. R. Saraiva.

† Mr. F. M. Borges Pinto, who was for many years Director (Deputado) and Representative (Procurador) at Lisbon, of the Oporto Wine Company.

C EMPAGNE WINES.

THOMAS AINÉ, of Pierry (Marne) encouraged by the patronage afforded by the British Public to other Proprietors, intends to extend the sale of his Champagne Wines to England; and in doing so begs to assure those who may honour him with their patronage, that he will send pure and unadulterated Wines at a reasonable price.

Orders to be addressed to Thomas Ainé, Propr. de Champagne, Pierry, (Marne), France; or, in England, to Messrs. Devoy & Co., Licensed Custom-House Agents, 66, Lower Thames-street, London, with whom he has made arrangements to conduct his business in London.

The usual allowance and credit to the Trade.

TO PERSONS WISHING TO HAVE PURE WINES at GROWER'S PRICES.

Messrs. PRALON and CO., OF BEAUNE (Cole D'or), having determined to extend to England the Sale of their Wines (which hitherto has been confined to their Estates), are now in London, and will be happy to receive orders. It being the object of Messrs. Pralon and Co. to secure a respectable and permanent connexion in England, they beg to observe, that they receive back, free of all expense to purchasers, any wines in which the least change may take place for twelve months.

Apply to Messrs. Pralon and Co., or in England all orders may be addressed to Messrs. Devoy and Co., Licensed Custom House and Shipping Agents, 66, Lower Thames-street, London, who are their Agents, but not Wine Merchants.

A list of prices forwarded in answer to letters post-paid.

As usual, every intelligence is given, by Messrs. Devoy and Co., free of expense, relative to passages to all parts of the World. Goods and parcels forwarded, and all other business connected with the Custom House and Docks transacted, on the most reasonable terms.

SOLICITOR.—William Witham, Esq., 8, Gray's Inn-square.

This Company proposes to avail itself of the valuable experience of the American Trust Companies, and to combine the administration of Trusts on the Guarantee of the Company's Capital, with the business of Life Assurance in all its branches.

The Company will undertake the execution of every species of Trust; and the inducements which it holds out are, amongst others, First. The impossibility of Loss, since the whole Property must be made good out of the Capital of the Company and its Members. Secondly. The diligent and faithful performance of the Trust, which will be insured by the responsibility incurred, but still more by the commercial character and credit of the Company with the public., Thirdly. The avoiding of all delay and expense incident to the appointment of new Trustees under the existing system.

In every respect a Company is preferable to an individual for managing onerous bequests, because no individual, however competent or trustworthy, can pretend to the same perpetuity of existence, nor can the same entire confidence be placed in any individual that would be reposed in a public body, in whom by vesting a trust every testator must know, that his legatees will avoid those hazards and inconveniences, those contingencies and annoyances, against which no solitary executor, however honourable,—no isolated trustee; however wealthy, can offer an effectual guarantee.

Thus a parent by his will, or on his daughter's marriage, appointing this Company Trustees for his children and descendants, may be morally certain that the principal of their fortunes will be forthcoming years after he may be dead, and that all income will be duly applied or invested; there being the guarantee, not of two or three Trustees or Executors, or possibly of one only, but of the Capital and Property of the Company and its Members.

The Company will undertake at the option of the Settler, the due investment of funds according to any prescribed mode, or will guarantee a specific income and adopt its own mode of investment.

The Assurance Department holds out every advantage which experience and liberality have imported into the modern offices, together with the additional benefit of allowing the Assured a participation on equal terms with the Shareholders of the profits of the Trust Business.

The Scales of Premiums for Life Insurances and deferred Annuities have been calculated on the most moderate terms compatible with safety.

And in order to give every facility to the Assured of visiting foreign countries, the extra premiums in such cases will not be arbitrarily imposed, but Tables will from time to time be prepared, graduating as far as practicable the risks according to the length of voyage, climate of the country to be visited, and other circumstances.

In case of accidental forfeiture of non-payment of premium, if satisfactory explanation be given within three calendar months, the Company will renew the policy on payment of a moderate fine, without regard to the present health of the Assured.

The Company are enabled to hold out peculiarly great advantages to its Stockholder and the Assured by reason of the comparatively high rate of interest which they are satisfied can be obtained by the investment of funds, as well in Great Britain as in her Colonies, on those unexceptionable securities of which many of the established Companies are now precluded from availing themselves.

For Prospectuses, forms of application for shares, and information, apply by letter addressed to the Secretary at the office of the Company, No. 444, West Strand.

In addition to the Works specified, J. ALFRED NOVELLO can supply any portion of the musical Service of the Catholic Church. A great variety of Organ Music, which organists would find useful as Voluntaries, will be found in his complete general catalogue, to be had gratis by application to J. A. N's. agents. This catalogue contains a large number of Hymns, and other sacred pieces, with English words, either for the service of the church, or private domestic performance. It will be found also to contain all New and Popular Music for the Piano Forte, Harp, Guitar, Flute, Violin, Violoncello, Theoretical Treatises, Songs, Duets, Glees, Italian and French Music, &c. &c.

Orders from individuals in Ireland, from the Continent, or in America, sent direct to J. ALFRED NOVELLO, should be accompanied by a remittance to cover the amount, or by a reference for payment in London.

On the 1st of January 1839, will be published, price 1s. 6d.

No. 1

The Catholic Congregational Tune Book,

Containing from 8 to 12 of the most favourite Hymns, &c. in general use in the Catholic Church, with an accompaniment for the Piano-forte. Price of each Number of 12 pages, will be only 1s. 6d.

The 1st Number will have all Latin words; No. 2, which will appear on the 1st of February, will have all English: and it is proposed to publish a Number on the 1st of each month, with Latin and English words alternately.

69, Dean-street, Soho, London, Nov. 1838.

ORGANS.

Parties who are interested in the erection of organs in churches, chapels, or music rooms, will derive material advantage by confiding their orders to J. A. NOVELLO. The advantage he proposes will consist in the instruments being constructed by the most experienced builders, from the plan and under the superintendence of his father, Mr. VINCENT NOVELLO, and without any extra charge above the manufacturer's price.

PIANOFORTES, HARPS, and ALL OTHER INSTRUMENTS, are also selected for J. A. NOVELLO by the most eminent Professors: he therefore ventures to ensure the entire satisfaction of those parties who may favour him with their orders, and which will be executed promptly, and without extra charge.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.—A peculiar feature in J. A. NOVELLO's catalogue, is, the extensive publications, in separate vocal and orchestral parts for choral societies; who may be supplied at 69, Dean Street, with every requisite, where this catalogue may be had gratis.

Works engraved and published for authors at the lowest possible price, consistent with good workmanship.

THE

Church History of England

FROM THE YEAR 1500 TO 1688,

CHIEFLY WITH REGARD TO CATHOLICS,

By CHARLES DODD.

A New Edition,

WITH NOTES, AND A CONTINUATION TO THE BEGINNING OF THE PRESENT CENTURY,

By THE REV. M. A. TIERNEY, F.S.A.

THE Work of HUGH TOOTLE, better known under the assumed name of CHARLES DODD, stands alone among the compilations of Catholic History. Commencing with the period of her first misfortunes in this country, the writer accompanies the ancient Church in all the vicissitudes of her course, during the next two centuries. He marks the origin of the Reformation in the wayward passions of Henry: mourns, with religion, over the ruined altars and desecrated shrines of Edward's reign: watches their alternate rise and fall under the sister sovereigns, Mary and Elizabeth; and, tracing the varied calamities of his Catholic countrymen under the dynasty of the Stuarts, closes his work with the closing fortunes of that unhappy family. But it is not in the extensive range of the history, nor in the interest, thrilling, as it must be, to every Catholic feeling, that the whole merit of Dodd's performance consists. To talents of an eminent order, he added an industry peculiar to himself, a patience of research seldom equalled, and a liberality of mind and expression as admirable as, unfortunately, it is uncommon. "In the compilation of this work," says Mr. Berington, "he spent almost thirty years. It contains much curious matter, collected with great assiduity, and many original records. His style, when the subject admits expression, is pure and unencumbered,—his narrative easy,—his reflections just and liberal. I have seldom known a writer, and that writer a Churchman, so free from prejudice, and the degrading impressions of party zeal."* "The attention," says Mr. Butler, speaking of himself, "which the writer has given to Dodd's History, has increased his opinion of the value, the importance, and the impartiality of the work."† "Having had repeated occasions to consult it," says the Protestant Mr. Chalmers,

"we are ready to acknowledge our obligations to this History. . . . It remained for many years unknown, and we can remember when it was sold almost at the price of waste paper. Its worth is now better ascertained: and the last copy offered for sale, belonging to the Marquis Townshend's library, was sold for ten guineas."*

The performance of Dodd is the history of the downfall of the Catholic religion in this country. On the one hand, we see the efforts of its enemies to overthrow, on the other, the struggles of its adherents to support and defend it. The former are more generally known: the latter, which abound with recollections of the most interesting kind, are, with few exceptions, to be found only in the pages of Dodd. Among these, are the foundation and history of the English colleges abroad,—the attempts to restore the hierarchy,—the institution of an arch-priest,—the appointment of the two bishops of Chalcedon,—the establishment and jurisdiction of the chapter,—the introduction of vicars-apostolic,—and the mission of Gregorio Panzani. Nor must we omit the biographical notices, so copiously scattered through the work. In this portion of his task, indeed, the talents and industry of the writer are eminently conspicuous. From sources inaccessible to others, from the diaries of colleges, and the unpublished correspondence of individuals, he has drawn a body of information at once original and important. He has sketched the lives of the most distinguished members of the Catholic community; has described the works, and traced the literary career, of its numerous writers; and, carrying us back to the period of its severest trials, has left the sufferings and the constancy of its martyrs to edify and improve the world. Such are a portion only of the interesting subjects contained in the Church History of England.

It is not, however, pretended that this great and important work is entirely free from imperfection. Dodd was not only a Catholic, but also a clergyman. Living, therefore, in a state of proscription, surrounded by alarms, and shut out from the intercourse of the learned, he was compelled to prosecute his studies in secret, and to send forth their result to the world without that final correction which they might, perhaps, otherwise have received. The sources, moreover, of his information were, in many instances, distant and far apart. A manuscript overlooked, or accidentally laid aside, would not be likely to reclaim attention: a transcript, made in haste, and imperfectly collated, could not afterwards be amended; and an error, though only in the name or date of an instrument, would, not unfrequently, lead to the most inaccurate representations of events. Hence, with all his excellencies, Dodd is sometimes defective, and frequently incorrect. With him, dates and names are too often mistaken, or confounded; transactions of stirring interest, or of lasting importance, are occasionally dispatched with the indifference of a passing allusion; and occurrences, that scarcely merit a casual notice, are swollen into consequence, with the fulness of a circumstantial detail. But the principle fault of the writer lies in the defective arrangement of his materials. This was long since complained of by Mr. Berington: it has been felt and noticed by all who have had occasion to consult the pages of the History ; and, united with the want of a proper index, has, no doubt, contributed, in a great degree, to diminish the general usefulness of the work.

From the mention of these defects, the public will readily anticipate the design of the present edition. Where an error shall appear, it will be corrected ; where an omission of consequence shall be discovered, it will be supplied. If the mistake extend only to a date, or affect only an immaterial portion of the narrative, it will be rectified, without notice, in the text. In other instances, whether of inaccuracy or of omission, a note will be inserted ; and whatever the researches of later historians may have discovered, will invariably be added. It may be farther stated, that, of the MSS. referred to by Dodd, many have been brought to England, and are now, with numerous others, confided to the custody of the Editor. These will all be applied to the purposes of the present edition. The papers already printed will be collated ; and many important documents, not hitherto published, will be inserted.

The arrangement of the different parts of the work is a more delicate task. To remodel is more difficult than to construct : alteration is, in general, but a bad apology for weakening an original design. In the present case, however, it has been thought, that, without injury to the author, his plan might, at least, be partially simplified and improved. The readers of Dodd are aware that his history is divided into eight parts, corresponding with the eight reigns over which it extends. Of these parts, each is again divided into the three other parts of History, Biography, and Records ; and these are still farther subdivided into an indefinite number of articles, according to the variety of the subjects to be treated, or to the rank of the several persons whose lives are to be recorded. It is needless to point out the inconvenience of this complex and disjointed arrangement. To remedy the defect, it is proposed, in the present edition, to place the work under the two grand divisions of History and Biography ; to print the History in the earlier, the Biography in the later, volumes ; to subjoin to each volume an Appendix, containing its own records properly arranged ; and to insert a reference in the notes to each article of that Appendix, according as its subject arises in the course of the narrative. It is only requisite to add, that the lives, in the biographical part, will be chronologically disposed ; that the authorities, both of Dodd and of the Editor, will be carefully stated in the notes ; and that a General Index to the contents of the whole work will be given at the end of the Continuation.

Of that Continuation it now becomes necessary to speak. The Revolution of 1688 has been denominated "the triumph of the Protestant over the Catholic Establishment." Yet the Catholics still existed as a body. They had contrived to organize a system of ecclesiastical government : they had preserved their foreign seminaries, for the supply of their missions, and for the education of their youth ; and it required only the influence of a milder spirit on their rulers, to secure them in the possession of calmer and more prosperous years. That spirit was already awakened in Europe : it had begun to operate even in this country ; and, accordingly, it is from that very event, which might have been expected to extinguish them as a body, that the reviving importance of the English Catholics may, in reality, be dated. It is through this happier period of their history that the continuator of Dodd will have to conduct his readers. It is not, indeed, to be expected, that the voice of intolerance will be instantly silenced, or that the uplifted arm of persecution will be suddenly arrested in its descent. New laws will still be enacted, and fresh attempts to extirpate the ancient religion of the country will still be made. But through the darkness of the time a growing light will be seen to spread: the better feelings of the country will gradually find a voice: the Catholics will continue to increase and consolidate their means of advancement; and the great day of religious toleration will at length burst upon the land. Such will be the general scope, such the happy and interesting conclusion of the proposed work.

Of the materials to be employed in the execution of this task, and of the sources whence those materials are to be derived, a short account may, perhaps, be expected. Following the example of his predecessor, the author has resolved to found his narrative, as far as possible, on original documents, to seek whatever information he can obtain from unpublished records; and, where the importance of a paper seems to require its insertion, to print it entire in the Appendix. Of such documents it fortunately happens that several large collections have been preserved. Some were rescued from the foreign colleges, at the period of the first French Revolution: others were gradually formed, in this country, by the persons to whose successors they now belong. They consist of private and official correspondence, between various members of the clergy themselves, or between the clergy and their agents, in Rome,—of bulls and public despatches,—of diaries and visitations of colleges,—and of various other papers, whose character it is unnecessary to describe more particularly in this place. With a liberality which cannot be too warmly or too gratefully acknowledged, these have all been unreservedly placed in the hands of the author. There are some others, also, to which he still hopes to obtain access; and with them, and with such other documents as he expects will be transcribed for him abroad, he trusts that he shall have collected sufficient for the completion of his present undertaking.

To be published in successive 8vo. volumes, price 12s. each.
